AUTO ACCIDENT

Saturday morning, at the corner of Cabot and Harvard streets, Newtonville, a Ford truck, driven by Albert Brewer of Idewild street, Allston, in attempting to avoid a collision with a Chevrolet wagon, driven by George Hicks of Washington Terrace, ran into the house at 273 Cabot street. Julius Kovitz, 12, of Allston, who was hit with Brewer, was slightly injured. He was taken to the Newton Hospital for treatment.

Monday afternoon, cars driven by Mrs. Francis Mason of 288 Newtonville Avenue, and Vito Francione of 9 Morgan place, collided at the corner of Adams and Middle streets. Both machines were considerably damaged and Mrs. Mason, Martha Sandella and Rose Teccia received slight injuries. They were treated by Dr. Petrillo.

An auto driven by Philip Early of 93 Washington street, Wellesley Lower Falls, ran into a car owned by Frederick Ryan of Bow street, Lower Falls, Tuesday afternoon on Washington street, near the corner of Auburn street, West Newton. The Ryan car was being driven by Miss Anna Ryan, who had left her machine standing on the road as she went into a nearby filling station for gasoline.

DIES IN AUTO

Memorial Day afternoon, Eugene Cilley, 59, of 9 Cliff street, Roxbury, was taken suddenly ill with an attack of heart failure while riding with members of his family through Newton Centre. Officer McLaughlin, after vainly trying to find a couple of nearby physicians at home, started to rush the stricken man to the Newton Hospital, but Mr. Cilley died as the car was passing the Newton Cemetery on Beacon street.

RAILROAD NIGHT

Tuesday evening Newton Council, K. of C., held its second Railroad Night. Elks Hall, Newton, was filled with several hundreds of members and their friends to enjoy a program that lasted for over three hours. With the exception of some local juvenile performers, all the talent consisted of railroad men. The program was arranged by Lecturer John J. Fitzpatrick of Newton Council, who is a conductor on the B. & A. He supervised the entertainment with the assistance of Grand Knight John Dunton, another B. & A. man. Among the guests were J. T. Trudden, General Superintendent of the Boston & Albany Railroad, and John B. Hammill, Superintendent of the Boston division.

The principal feature of the evening was the Pullman Porters' Band, a clever aggregation of colored entertainers recruited from the ranks of the smiling "Georges," who preside over some of the parlor and sleeping cars using the South Station as a terminal. This troupe was under the leadership of the portly and courtly J. H. Lee and included a real jazz orchestra, nimble Charleston dancers and Katherine Sullivan in a song and dance sketch.

The goal of a million dollars for the Newton Hospital building and equipment fund by June 1 was exceeded by more than seventeen thousand dollars, when the workers in the campaign assembled on Thursday night at the hospital grounds to count their totals and to celebrate the completion of the first major task. The business of raising the balance of approximately a half million dollars will be undertaken this coming week, it was announced, when the special gifts committee, which has already raised $657,000, will resume its task of obtaining a million dollars in larger gifts, and a clean-up, house-to-house canvass of Newton will be undertaken.

When the last reports were received last night it was found that the amount pledged to date stood at $1,017,123. Of this, $351,445 was raised by the efforts of the teams, whose goal was $350,000 by June 1. Of the team workers, the women's teams turned in a grand total of $56,697, despite the fact that their goal was only $30,000; the nurses, who had a minimum goal of $15,000, reported $20,052; the doctors, who set out to raise $15,000 for the furnishing of the new operating suite, had raised $10,880.

Newton Hospital Fund Carries Its First Objective. The Women, Nurses, Doctors and Teams Exceed Their Several Quotas. Clean Up Campaign Inaugurated

Thursday night, which was the final report meeting of the teams, as such, showed that three wards had exceeded the quotas set for them, namely Ward 3, quota $86,000, raised $75,185; Ward 4, quota $25,000, raised $30,187, and Ward 6, quota $70,000, raised $70,219. The other wards and the quotas and amount raised, follow: Wards 1 and 7, quota $70,000, raised $54,981; Ward 2, quota $55,000, raised $49,980; Ward 5, quota $70,000, raised $55,507.

While Thursday night's rally at the hospital was in the main a jollification over the success thus far of the campaign, it served as a final report meeting of the teams, $8,615 being reported. Several unique contributions to the fund were announced on Thursday night by Chairman Leon B. Rogers. The 28 members of the graduating class at the Newton Hospital Training School jointly donated $500 to the building fund, and the undergraduate

JUNIOR HIGH DISCUSSED

There was a good attendance of parents at the meeting held Tuesday evening in the Underwood School hall on the matter of having a Junior High School in the Bigelow district. Mr. Frank W. Chase, principal of the school, presided and the speakers included Superintendent of Schools Wheeler, Dr. Foster of the school committee, and Mr. Francis L. Bacon, of the Newton High School. Messrs. Church, Tracy and Lockett of the school committee were also present.

Supt. Wheeler explained the object of the Junior High School. Dr. Foster spoke of the new opportunities at the present senior high school and urged work on athletic lines for all members of the High School instead of work for the various teams.

Mr. Bacon spoke of the standing of pupils of the Newton High School at college and believed that public school pupils did better work at college than graduates of private schools.

There was an animated discussion on the floor in regard to the teaching

The usual Memorial Day exercises of Charles Ward Post, G. A. R., were carried out on Monday according to the program outlined in the Graphic of last week.

The graves were decorated in the morning, and the simple service at St. Mary's Church Lower Falls, followed by casting flowers in the Charles river, were most impressive.

The parade formed in Newton Centre square, following a luncheon given the veterans in the Newton Centre Woman's club house.

Major Childs was chief marshal and he was assisted by Frank L. Wilcox as adjutant general and Wilfred A. Wetherbee as chief of staff. One familiar face, that of John Flood, was missing.

BROOKLINE WINS 2-1

Brookline High School baseball team defeated Newton High 2 to 1 last Friday afternoon on Claffin Field. The defeat kept Newton from entering in to a first place tie with Everett. Newton had many chances to score, but could not bring the man across except in the third when Shaw singled. Proctor advanced him to third on his single and on the next pitch stole second. Monahan and Shaw attempted a squeeze play twice but it failed each time and Mickey finally struck out. Holbrook drew a pass filling the bases. Spain beat out a hit scoring Shaw and McGrath. Brookline shortstop saved a second run by going over back of third and nailing Potter's throw to catch Proctor at the hot corner. Warren fled out to second. Pickard was in hot water in nearly every inning but Brookline could not score until the sixth when McGrath singled. Potter followed with a single to left which McCullough fumbled and both runners moved up another base. Nyhan scored the Brookline track star with a single and Conway sacrificed Potter across the plate with the second run.

McGrath led the Brookline attack with four singles out of five times at bat. Shaw and Proctor each got three out of five. Pickard was touched for thirteen hits, he fanned six and passed none. Sondheim, the Wealthy Town team pitcher, fanned seven, getting McCullough and Monahan each three times. He passed Holbrook in the third for the only free ticket he issued.

Doc Mooney umpired and several times he seemed to be way off in his decisions. In the seventh Sondheim hit to Holbrook who threw wide to first. Whitmore got the ball but lost his balance and fell on the baseline. It looked as though Whitmore touched the bag with the ball before Sondheim did but Mooney couldn't see it that way. Holbrook nailed the Brookline pitcher at second on Hall's grounder on the next play, however, so no damage resulted.

Spain got a hit in the second and Warren sacrificed him to second but he was left there. In the sixth Warren got a hit with two down and went to second when the centrefielder let his hit get by him. Whitmore hit an easy grounder to second and the side was out. Proctor got a life on Nyhan's error and stole second in the seventh but McCullough struck out for the third out. In the eighth Spain was safe on McGrath's error but Warren struck out retiring the side. In the ninth things opened auspiciously for Newton when Whitmore led off with a hit. Pickard sacrificed him to second. Shaw beat out an infield rap but Proctor forced Whitmore at third. McCullough hit an easy grounder to the pitcher and was thrown out at first cutting off Newton's vain attempt to tie the count.

Dick Vaughan connected for two singles in four times at bat for Yale. Saturday night the Needham Town Team let Upper Falls down with but three hits in a close 3 to 2 game on the Upper Falls Playground.

Newton Upper Falls was on the short end of a 10 to 3 game with the Wellesley Town Team on the holiday. Manning allowed the Upper Falls team but four hits while Sezak and Crowley were touched up for eleven. Saturday Al Cross, pitching for the Needham Town Team let Upper Falls down with but three hits in a close 3 to 2 game on the Upper Falls Playground.

Lawrence Rice and his partner, Henry Guild, lost to Abbott and Weld in the final round of the state doubles tournament at the Newton Centre Tennis Club last Saturday. The winners played a net game throughout despite the attempts of Rice and his partner to lob the ball.

Dates have been announced for the boys' tennis tournament at the Newton Centre Tennis Club. On June 25-26, there will be a tournament for boys who were under fifteen last January 1.

Nehemiah Boynton, Jr., chairman of the club's executive committee, has offered a trophy. M. Mark Noble, Jr., will conduct the tournament.

STATE CHAMPIONS

The Newton High School golf team of 1926 with ten wins in twelve starts has established an undisputed claim to the State high school golf championship. Lowell High and Exeter Academy are the only two teams to gain victories over the orange and black. The defeat by Lowell last month came in a return match, Newton having shut out the Lowell golfers in an earlier meeting. In a deciding match two weeks ago Newton once again shut out the mill city team. The championship has been held by Quincy High for the past three years, and in the last ten days Newton has defeated the Granite City golfers 5 to 0, and in a return match at Wollaston on Tuesday gained a 4 to 1 verdict. Newton's victory in the first match with Quincy stopped that team's winning streak of six straight, and the win on Wednesday increased Newton's successive victories to the same number.

Jerry Gianferante, captain of the team and holder of the high school and Woodland caddy championships, is playing his sixth year at the game and it is his last for the high school, as he graduates this month. In the twelve matches in which he has participated he has been beaten but twice and each of his defeats came at the hands of C. D. Grasse, Jr., of Lowell. His low score of the season was a 74 which he made at the Charles River C. C. and also, earlier in the season at Braeburn.

Pat and Nick Gianferante, brothers of the Newton captain, have also been playing golf for six years and give promise of filling their brother's shoes in a creditable manner. Pat has one more year and Nick two more in which to represent Newton High on the greens. Pat has won all but three of his twelve matches. Jim Stevenson, who graduated with his captain, and Tom Manning, freshman, have both been undefeated in their five matches. Stevenson's low score was a 78, while Manning turned a 76. Parker Devlin, the manager of the team, who has been playing but three years, has done remarkably well in winning eight of his twelve starts. He has one more year in school, as has W. L. Bender, who has a record of five wins out of six matches for the season.

Newton's record for the season follows:

Newton 5; Fessenden 0; Newton 5; Lowell 0; Newton 5½; St. Maty's 1½; Newton 2; Exeter 3; Newton 4; Brookline 0; Newton 2; Lowell 5; Newton 4; Dummer Academy 1; Newton 4; Reading 1; Newton 5; Lowell 0; Newton 5; Quincy 0; Newton 3; Reading 2; Newton 4; Quincy 1.

Prospects of winning the state championship another year are excellent, as only two members of the team, Captain Gianferante and Jim Stevenson, will be lost by graduation.

gan was not quite right and a sudden twist to his side might easily have done serious injury and ruined his future athletic career. Victory in any sport is not worth possible life-injury to any one boy and the assistant Newton coaches did right in refusing to allow Gilligan to take part in the game.

Coach Allie Dickinson's team was without the services of its capable coach in the Brookline game. He was confined to the house with an infected face. The assistant coaches, aided by Tommy Gilligan, who knows baseball as well as any schoolboy in the ranks, did their best to bring victory to the orange and black, but they couldn't make basethis when hits counted.

The Suburban League baseball schedule comes to an end tomorrow. Newton High has had an up and down season. It has played good ball in the majority of its games. The pitchers, Pickard, Wilson, McCleary, and Hanescom have performed creditably. Proctor, Shaw, Gilligan and Spain have led the team at bat. Captain McCullough started off the season like a house afire against Swampscott but since that game has fallen down woefully in the pinch. Newton has had many runs left on bases because of failure to come through when hits mean runs. The fielders have handed Newton's opponents many runs on a silver platter but several times the opponents have been extremely polite and handed the game back in later innings.

A successful season is not measured by league championships or victories but is measured by the amount of baseball knowledge a team absorbs in the season. Newton High is fortunate indeed to have such a coach as Allie Dickinson. The Newton mentor knows baseball as well if not better than any scholastic coach in the East and deeds of his teams are known all over the country. Many of Newton's athletes will go to college, there to be developed into even more able athletes than at present. Whenever they go, whoever takes them in charge, it will be found that the majority of them have a well-founded knowledge of the game. And that, in the end, is the measure of a successful season.

Lobs

Henry L. Johnson of Waban, interscholastic tennis champion last year while at Newton High and now a student at Loomis Institute of Connecticut, was forced to relinquish his crown Monday to Julius Seligson of Columbia Grammar School of New York city in a three-set match. The Waban boy won the second set 6-3 but was defeated in the first 6-0 and in the third 6-1.

QUINCY RUNNERS TAKE NEWTON

Quincy High defeated Newton High last Friday in a dual track meet by the score of 48½ to 23½. The orange and black annexed six points which was equalled by Malden High. Turner advanced the furthest for Newton, winning his second and third round matches but going down to a 6-3, 6-2 defeat in the fourth round at the hands of Cox of St. George's School, who was defeated in the semi-final round by Turner's former teammate, Johnson. Scott of Newton won his second round match but was put out in the third round. Arthur Noble got into the third round by default and was defeated by Johnson in that round. Louis Volpe was put out in the second round. Charlie Parker won his first round match but went down to defeat in his second.

NEWTON POST No. 48, A. L.

Newton Post No. 48, American Legion, was well represented in this year's Memorial Day Parade which was held on Monday, May 31, 1926. The local Post had several hundred men in line, under command of Colonel Stopford. The Knights of the Holy Cross Pipe and Drum Corps, of St. Bernard's Church, West Newton, furnished the music for the Legion, and made a splendid appearance, being continually applauded all along the line of march.

Amos Oldfield and William Tolan were in charge of the boys.

The Legion Flagway was much in evidence along the route of the parade, and this patriotic display of our country's flag was an inspiring sight. It is hoped that by July 4th, all the sections of the City will have the flags installed.

On Sunday, May 30, 1926, on the lawn of the Newton Catholic Club at West Newton a detail from Newton Post No. 48 presented the Knights of the Holy Cross Pipe and Drum Corps with a banner in appreciation for the services which the boys rendered to the Legion at various times during the past year. Julius Ramm, Finance Officer of the Post, made the presentation and Rev. Fr. O'Brien accepted the banner for the boys.

On Sunday, June 6, 1926, Newton Post is to participate in the parade in the city of Woburn, and all members of Newton Post will report at 1:00 o'clock to Adjutant Barry at Dennis Hall, Newtonville, where special buses will be available for the members.

MOTHERS' MEETING

The mother who enters her child in the kindergarten of a modern school is apt to find the experiences of those opening days of school as strange and as novel as does the child—so greatly have schools changed since she was first taken to kindergarten by her own mother a score of years ago.

Because so many mothers are not sure what they should do before bringing their children to kindergarten or what the kindergarten does for him after he gets there, the kindergartens of Newtonville have arranged to explain these matters of school age, vaccination, health, and school work at a Mothers' Meeting which will be held at the Clafin school at 3 o'clock Monday, June 7th. The meeting is open to any mother interested, and will be addressed by Miss Bragg of the School Department, by Miss Ross of the District Nursing Association, and by Mr. Brainerd, principal of the Horace Mann district.

In order that there may be accommodations planned for every child entitled to enter kindergarten or the first grade next fall, parents are urged to register with the school this spring their names and addresses together with the name and date of birth of the child who is entering for the first time next September. This may be done at this meeting or the information may be mailed to the proper kindergarten—either at the Adams or at the Clafin school.

LIBRARY VACATION LOAN

Perhaps the summer brings the only leisure when you can read at will on some of the many subjects that especially interest you outside of your regular work. Or perhaps you simply want some books for the rainy days during your vacation, or the hour or two now and then when you have no other special plans. Why not have some books on hand?

The Newton Free Library is ready to loan books to borrowers who are leaving the city for vacations, as in previous years. Leave your name and full summer address at your nearest library, with a small deposit to cover postage in case you wish the books mailed to you, together with list of books you wish. Or you may, of course, take the books with you.

Under this plan you may borrow any EXCEPT SEVEN-DAY BOOKS, NON-FICTION PURCHASED WITHIN A YEAR, AND BOOKS IN GREAT DEMAND BY OTHER BORROWERS. Additional books will be sent you from time to time, upon request. This applies equally to juvenile books, except that we do not send more than three fiction and three non-fiction at a time to one juvenile borrower.

If Summer Vacation Books are not returned by October 1, a charge is made. Books may be retained until the borrower returns to the city, unless there is other demand for them, in which case a notice asking prompt return of a particular book by mail will be sent. The library is, of course, glad to have books returned by mail, when the borrower is thru using them, so that they may be at the disposal of others.

Any or all these services are at your disposal. Call us up by telephone, give us your address, and our man will call.

POLICE NEWS

Because of the number of cases to be heard, two sessions were held in the district court at West Newton on Tuesday morning. Judge Brown of East Boston presided over one, and Judge Connolly of Waltham over the other. Included in the lengthy docket were 16 charges of drunkenness against 16 persons who had imbibed too freely of hooch over the weekend.

Driving autos while under the influence of liquor, does not appear to be growing less frequent. Four operators of autos were in court Tuesday charged with this offence, one of them a woman, Saturday night at 11:50. Motorcycle Officer Turner stopped a car on Commonwealth avenue. As he was taking the license and registration numbers from the driver, another auto driven by Mrs. Laura York of 45 Westland avenue, Boston, ran into Officer Turner's motorcycle, demolishing the machine and tearing the sole off one of the policeman's shoes. Fortunately Turner escaped injury. Mrs. York was arrested charged with drunkenness and with driving "wutiol". Her case was continued until June 7.

David B. Alter Jr., a student from Cambridge, was arrested at 1:10 Monday morning for driving "wutiol" and without a license. He will be tried June 16. Arthur G. Brooks of 14 Pelham street, Newton Centre, was arrested early Tuesday morning by Sergt. Bannon and Officer Coulon, charged with driving "wutiol" and operating an auto after his license had been suspended. His case was continued until June 8th. Nicolo Zaal of 174 Chapel street, Newton, was arrested Sunday evening for driving "wutiol". He will be tried June 7.

The correctional school for boys at Shirley did not succeed in reforming James Powers of Waltham, 15, and Howard Muise of Wakefield, 16. These two boys escaped from Shirley and for ten days toured the state in stolen autos. Not having funds to buy gas, they adopted the alternative of appropriating different machines. They stole cars in Waltham, Wakefield, Manchester and West Newton. They were caught at Leominster on Saturday after they had abandoned a stolen car on the outskirts of that town when it ran out of gas. Leominster police searching for the occupants of the deserted car, came upon the two adventurers asleep in a hotel in that town. They will be tried in the juvenile session on Friday.

Ruth Lundquist of 46 Myrtle street, Waltham, was arrested by Sergt. Vecuccio charged with larceny. It is alleged she took some articles from the house where she had been employed. She will be tried June 7.

HORSE SHOW

Despite the weather, at least 1500 persons turned out for the Chestnut Hill horse show last Monday. There was color, there were thrills, there was class enough to satisfy everyone. Nine hunt teams made the most colorful showing that class has enjoyed outdoors this season. The hunters and jumpers furnished plenty of thrills, as well as two spills, on the slippery turf.

Of course, no other show probably draws such a large number of younger riders. They were in their element, as plenty of opportunities were given them to display their horsemanship, as well as their horses. They responded in plenteous numbers and justified the committee's decision to add a junior jumpers class by giving a performance quite worthy of their years.

Miss Lydia M. Lund and Leverett Saiton stall were the victims of the day's two spills. Though shaken up considerably, neither suffered any injury, both gaining a good hand when they remounted and carried on.

As on Saturday, at the Metropolitan show, Miss Wolfe again proved the most successful exhibitor. Her total was four blues, two reds, a yellow and a white. In addition to the two victories already recorded, her Sir Knight led the regular saddle class for horses 15.2 and over, while her Sunrise proved the best of the sporting combinations. Sunrise took a red among the lightweight hunters and paired with Panther for a yellow in the pair hunters class, in which her Hoty Toty and County Cork also placed third. Her hunt team was awarded fourth. Her hunt team was awarded the red.

Miss Miriam Winslow's collection of ribbons included two blues, three reds and two yellows, all registered with her Tip Top, a bay pony, and her Mimi, a bay saddler. Tip Top was first among the combination ponies and among the harness ponies, and second in the saddle pony and pony jumping classes. Mimi gathered reds in the class for saddle horses, riders under 18 years, and paired with Arthur Black's Red Roberts. Mimi also was third in the 15.2 and over class.

Miss Alice Stuart had a chance to gain permanent possession of the Nora Saltonstall memorial cup for qualified hunters, as she had won it last year with Widow's Hope and in 1924 with Swoon. But her two entries, Blue Fern and Widow's Hope, failed to come through with perfect performances, thereby losing all chance to be judged with the four ribbon winners, which was continued until June 7.

SERIOUS FIRE AT NEWTON

Sunday afternoon at 4:07, smoke was seen issuing from the windows of the house at 52 Newtonton Ave., owned and occupied by Lewis Walters. Box 16 was pulled and Chief Randlett ordered a second alarm at 4:23. When the firemen arrived, they found that the blaze, which had started on the cellar stairs, had spread up to the hall on the first floor. Because of the extent of the flames, the firemen were obliged to use considerable water, causing damage to the furnishings of the house. Good work prevented the fire from spreading to the upper floors of the building. The loss is estimated at about $4000. The occupants of the house were away over the week-end. The cause of the fire is unknown.

Delightful days, but often bringing fresh problems to the Mother of the family. The heat in itself is an extra burden. The family needs so many more clothes. Guests seem to arrive from far and near. ## ONE THING AND ANOTHER

Written by LEVERETT D. G. BENTLEY

Many of us firmly believe in vacations. Nearly everybody agrees that rest is beneficial. This naturally applies to individuals as no one ever thinks of vacations except as the playtime for young and old. If it were possible for the idea to be applied to municipalities we think that Newton is entitled to a "lay off" and that it should be permitted to forget one or two, or maybe more of its vexatious and fictitious problems.

Things that are not of immediate concern may easily and properly be laid aside. It provides opportunity for fresh ideas or no ideas at all. It makes the whole world seem less sordid and brightens the general outlook. Now then we assume that as many of Newton's citizens as find themselves able are to take vacations this summer. Why not let them go away with minds free from care. Let them and let our city forget for a few months all this talk of a new City Hall.

Some years ago when the Legislature enacted a law permitting Sunday sports we wondered just how it would work out. We thought that the measure as drafted put it up to the communities themselves inasmuch as it allowed each municipality to vote whether it should allow baseball games, tennis and golf between certain hours of the afternoon of the Lord's Day. Newton was one of those places which accepted the provisions of the law and this made the playing of these games permissible in our city.

If conditions have arisen which demand a change, or at least a modification of the law, then there is something for people to think about. Personally we have never indulged in any of these games on Sunday, for the reason that other matters occupied our time. Only on a few occasions have we looked on at a Sunday baseball game and then for a few minutes and usually at the suggestion of a friend who was enthusiastic over the game.

There is, in our opinion, such a thing as overdoing that which of itself is not harmful. We believe that the purpose of those who voted for the "Sunday sports" bill at the polls was not all in hopes that it might eventually mean professional games. No doubt there were those who did. But recreation under wise and wholesome restriction was aimed at, we firmly believe.

If those who have watched with unprejudiced mind the operation of the Sunday sports law now believe it has proved detrimental, then it is desirable that this information be made public in some form or other. If it is the danger of the spread of professional sports on Sunday that is feared, this is something that can be corrected by the licensing authorities. There should be no delay in reminding these officials of their obligation to citizens who are entitled to enforcement of the laws whether they deal with crime or Sunday diversions.

Having resolved that perhaps it would be as well to take advantage of the comparatively reasonable price of gasoline and see a little of our native State of Massachusetts before the cost of said "gas" became prohibitive, we have of late been doing a little "running round" via automobile. The experience has been "educational," indeed, for several important things have lodged themselves in our mind.

We were perhaps most impressed with real estate development. Tracts of land which only a short time ago were almost wild in their uncared-for state are now growing "communities of beautiful homes." The standard of beauty, it is true, is more or less conventional, if beauty may be considered a thing of convention. The "dear old Colonial idea" seems to predominate. Just how perfect these modern Colonial dwellings are when compared with the houses of the early days of Massachusetts, is hard to say. We think that the architect of today has a touch of daintiness, which, after all, must be desirable.

However, it is not of the character of these dwellings that we would

DEATH OF MR. CLOSSON

William B. Closson of Newton and Magnolia, prominent as an artist, is dead at the home of his sister, Mrs. Kathryn F. Gallaudet, in Hartford, Conn. His wood engravings were exhibited at the Columbian Exposition and he had received medals at the Paris salon in 1882, the Exposition Universelle, Paris, 1889, the Columbian Exposition, Pan American Exposition and St. Louis Exposition. He was also a painter of note and had canvases in the National Gallery in Washington, the National Arts Club in New York and in many private collections.

He was a member of the Boston Art Club, the Copley Society, the American Federation of Arts, the Society of Washington Artists, the National Arts Club, Allied Artists of America, Arts Club of Washington, Connecticut Academy, and the North Shore Art Association at Gloucester.

When photo-engraving came into vogue, about 1890, wood engraving became almost immediately a lost art, and Mr. Closson was one of the few left of the old, great engravers. He took up painting at that time and rapidly gained a high standing among the painters of the country. He exhibited in all of the great exhibitions of the country and his pictures are in many of the great private and public collections.

William B. Closson was born at Thetford, Vt., Oct. 13, 1848, son of David Wood and Abigail (Palmer) Closson. His father had been a member of the Vermont Legislature and his mother was related to Benjamin West, the famous Quaker painter of revolutionary times. William attended Thetford Academy and after a brief period in a railroad office his love of art brought him to Boston, where he studied in the Lowell Institute. In 1880 he began engraving on wood.

The past Winter Mr. and Mrs. Closson spent at Southern Pines, N. C., which he painted a number of landscapes that aroused a great deal of interest in the South. On their way home Mr. and Mrs. Closson called on her sister. He was taken with an attack of heart disease. He leaves a widow, a daughter of the late Dr. Edward M. Gallaudet of Hartford.

DOG SHOW

Elaborate plans are being made for the Ladies' Kennel Association Dog Show, to be held at Normanhurst Park, Auburndale, June 17. The proceeds from the show will be turned over to the Holy Ghost Hospital, Cambridge.

Many of the finest dogs in the country of all breeds are entered for the competition. John McInnis, the owner of "Miracle Kid," the $1500 prize ribbon winner, will put his dog against New York, Philadelphia, New Jersey and Baltimore entries.

All passengers except American citizens are required to show they have complied with the United States Income Tax Law. Get that, "except American citizens." Who wouldn't be a patriot!

If there is one thing that puzzles us more than another it is the constant need of prodding that some people require to keep them alert to the common standards of good behavior in public places. Here we are as a State, blessed with a wealth of glorious trees, shouting at each other the need of preventing forest fires. Who is it that starts these destructive fires? Can it be, as the State Forester has said, that the young and old are careless with lighted cigarettes? Have we become a community of "butt snappers?"

It appears to us that somehow or other this situation can be corrected. Hundreds and thousands of dollars are wasted for the simple reason that there are people who are indifferent to the comfort, safety and rights of others. We wonder how this is to be checked. The Legislature was asked to pass a law imposing a severe penalty. It may be that the request came too late, but anyway it was refused, largely on the ground that the session was approaching a close.

We are not sure that the Legislature acted wisely. There is a tendency to avoid enactment of laws placing restriction on personal liberty. At least that is the argument offered. We fail to see this and believe that personal liberty can be overdone. If people do not appreciate the marvelous woodlands of our commonwealth and do not care whether they are destroyed by fire or not, then let them be penalized or else open the woods and have a State-wide bonfire in celebration of the advent of individual freedom in Massachusetts.

THE NEWTON ARCHERS

The Newton Archers are holding pleasant archery practise on the Range at Newton Centre.

Since there is now a merit badge in archery for Girl Scouts, some are going to take it up. Miss Virginia Gray, a recent addition to the Newton Archers and a prominent Scout, is taking up archery more in earnest. Girl Scouts should be very careful that they take instruction from properly qualified instructors, as archery not done in the regulation way would prove their undoing.

Memorial Day afternoon proved too rainy for shooting, but some archers met under shelter for a basket lunch and one enthusiast even shot the whole afternoon in the drizzle.

DEATH OF OLD RESIDENT

Dr. John J. Coxeter, a resident of this city for nearly forty years, died last Friday at his home on Cabot street after an illness of about two weeks.

Dr. Coxeter was 77 years old, a native of Plainfield, N. H., now a part of Grantham. He studied at the Kimball Academy and continued his professional studies at the Philadelphia Dental College. He first practised at Athol, moving to Newtonville in 1888.

Chief among Dr. Coxeter's interests was Masonry. He was a 32d degree member, and had been affiliated with this fraternal organization for more than 50 years. He had been master of the Blue Lodge at Athol and had been marshal of Dalhousie Lodge of Newton-ville. He is survived by his widow, who was Agnes B. Coxeter of England, a son, Dr. J. Sibley Coxeter, and a daughter, Miss Mary C. Coxeter, both of Newtonville.

Funeral services were held at his late home on Sunday, Rev. Dr. Arthur M. Ellis officiating and the interment was in the Newton Cemetery.

EDITORIAL

We are justly proud of the excellent showing made by the residents of this city in the Newton Hospital Campaign, although it is only what we should expect from a community with the public spirit and the wealth of Newton. Besides raising a most substantial sum for a most worthy object, we have received a lesson in co-operation between the various villages which will be invaluable in the future and will furnish a precedent for the accomplishment of any worthy object whenever it will be necessary. No one could witness the gathering of the workers night after night at the State Armory and not be thrilled with the enthusiasm there manifested and proud to be associated with such an outstanding group of men and women. It augurs well for the future of our beautiful city.

On account of the space given the Newton Hospital story, a large amount of news matter has been crowded over to next week.

MEMORIAL DAY

and the roll call of the Post showed that its membership has dwindled to about 40.

The parade marched thru Beacon street to Walnut street to the Newton Cemetery where the usual exercises took place around the Soldiers' Monument, the orders of the day being read by Edwin H. Stoddard and the Gettysburg address by Colon S. Ober.

The line then reformed and marched thru Walnut street with a short detour to pass the John A. Andrew Home on Washington park, thence thru Washington street to the state armory where the usual banquet was served. Comrade Wetherbee acting as toastmaster.

Major Childs referred to the day as one of remembrance and resolution and called for a resolve for friendliness, understanding and good will starting at home and spreading to all peoples.

The Mayor also made a plea to the veterans of three wars to assist in the prevention of further wars by wiping out the causes of war, substituting love for hate, good will for ill will, and service for selfishness.

Col. F. W. Stodford, commander of Newton Post, A. L., told of the educational work the legion is attempting in Newton in teaching young and old respect and love for the flag. The local post has started a city wide flagway and it is the hope of the legion that by 1930, when Newton celebrates its 300th anniversary, there will be a flag in front of every business establishment and every home in the city.

It is also planned to have the Boy Scouts in every neighborhood care for the flags on their streets, flying them at the proper time, lowering the colors at sunset so that on future holiday evenings taps will be sounded all over the city at sunset.

Capt. Thomas F. Hickey of Company C, 101st Infantry, M. N. G., announced at the dinner that his company was the first National Guard unit in the country to appear fully equipped in the new style uniforms.

Capt. Hickey also extended an invitation to all patriotic organizations in the city to assist Newton Lodge of Elks in the celebration of Flag Day on June 13. There will be a parade from Newton Corner to Clafin Field, where James M. Curley, Ex-Mayor of Boston, will be the orator.

Other speakers were William M. Mick, commander of Charles Ward Post, G. A. R.; Frank L. Wilcox, Adjutant General of the parade; Commander William Hughes of Thomas Burnett Camp, U. S. W. V.; Edward Cauldwell, head of J. Wiley Edmonds Camp, S. of V.; Miss Francis M. Cahill, president of Mrs. A. E. Cunningham Tent, D. of V.; State Representative Arthur W. Hollis; Capt. Frank L. Nagle of Newton, commander of the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company.

NEWTON LEAGUE OF WOMEN VOTERS

The Newton League of Women Voters held a meeting at the Newton Welfare Bureau, Wednesday evening, and elected officers for the ensuing year. Dr. Mary A. Willcox of Oakwood road, Newtonville, was elected president; Miss Rhoda Ziegler, 530 Walnut street, Newtonville, vice-president; Mrs. E. R. Caverly, 40 Winchester road, Newton secretary; Miss Sara E. Teeling, 11 Parsons street, West Newton, treasurer. Miss Katherine Wakefield was chosen chairman of the Finance Committee; Miss Lizzie Henderson, chairman of the Legislative Committee; Mrs. Wallace D. Boyden, chairman of the Public Welfare Committee; Miss Helen F. Ross, chairman of the Membership Committee.

Miss Lizzie Henderson gave an account of the convention held at Swampscoot by the Massachusetts League of Women Voters. Dr. Mary A. Willcox discussed the two leading political parties, what they stand for, how they work, some of their disadvantages, and some remedies.

nurses, who are now being housed in open wards, had raised among themselves $200. Five little girls of West Newton, Barbara Wooley, Virginia Kretschmar, Nancy Waddell, Evelyn Waddell, Lucy Ogden and Elaine Wainwright, have given a play, and raised $7.50 for the fund.

George S. Smith presided at the Thursday night meeting, and told of the beginning of the movement to initiate the campaign back in January. Chairman Rogers, when called on praised the work of all who had made the campaign a success, paying special attention to the work of his associate chairman, Rupert C. Thompson, to the publicity committee, which was headed by Herbert M. Cole, and to the work of the local bank clerks, who nightly volunteered their services in order that the accounts of the campaign might be balanced each night. In turn cheers were given by Mr. Rogers, Mr. Thompson, Chairman E. J. Frost of the special gifts committee, the hospital nurses, and Superintendent Allen.

Community singing enlivened the evening, at the close of which refreshments were served, buffet style. The presence of a large number of the student nurses gave a color to the evening's entertainment.

The report dinners which were held nearly every evening last week and on Tuesday evening of this week in the State Armory have been most interesting. About 600 persons have been present each night, the various teams being grouped about their captains and division leaders. Across the stage a huge blackboard was erected, bearing the names of the division leaders and captains of the different teams and the amount of the pledges expected from the various sections of the city.

At the conclusion of the dinner, reports from each team were read and when the figures were above $1000 there was hearty applause. The figures for each day were written in white and the totals in red. These figures as they were read were put on the board by Mr. R. B. Wilson. There was one team in each section captained by a woman and its reports were always of interest.

The Mayor also made a plea to the veterans of three wars to assist in the prevention of further wars by wiping out the causes of war, substituting love for hate, good will for ill will, and service for selfishness.

SCHOOL NOTES

Edited by DOROTHY E. BUSHNELL

Since it is the motive and not the act that is generally conceded to be the most important, it would seem a trifling matter to notice whether in our display of patriotism we disregarded (or remained ignorant of) the correct use of our country's flag, or not. The principal thing would seem to be whether or not we used it at all.

In the schools there is much time and thought devoted to the celebration of the memorable days in our Country's history. There is deep reverence for the beautiful flag and the children are taught the respect for it which they will always feel, but there seems to be a lack of knowledge somewhere concerning the details of the treatment it shall receive. On this last Memorial Day it was not an unusual sight to see large American flags draped over the radiators of automobiles, hanging from the backs of cars with little care as to whether they dragged at the corners, wrapped around piles of houses or hanging over dirty railings for anyone to learn on who might be so careless. Last summer the writer witnessed the use of one, in still another, more unbelievable way. A man who was, by title, a judge in New York, appeared at a masquerade party with the American flag tied around his head as a turban and several others sewed together to make his robe. He won a prize for the cleverest costume and the prize was given by an American ship's captain. In the first few cases mentioned, ignorance was probably the cause, for surely the motive was of the best, but in the latter, rank carelessness of the proper respect could have been the only reason for such a display.

It is customary to treat an ordinary tea napkin with its due respect. Why should we mind being a trifle more particular about our FLAG?

Angier School

Memorial Day was observed in the school. Friday morning, May 28. Those who participated in the program were: Louise McKinley, Elizabeth Adam, Mr. George Fiske of Auburndale introduced by Marion Willard, Sam Davis, Barbara Hall, Edith Chandler, John Argersinger, Donald Fife.

Mr. Simmons has always been with us in past years, but due to his age was unable to be present this year. Mr. George Fiske, who is a Civil War veteran, was presented, at the close of his talk, with a bouquet of flowers.

The stage was beautifully arranged with lilacs, tulips, irises and other seasonal flowers as a tribute to the soludiers.

The month of May had the lowest rate of reds ever recorded in the school's weights. It was 3 per cent.

Wednesday afternoon, June 2, Miss Clair, a representative from the National Dairy Council, gave an illustrated talk to the 5th to 8th grades, inclusive, entitled "Health and Citizenship." She also gave an illustrated talk to the 1st to 4th grades inclusive, entitled "A Journey to Health Land."

Mason School

In memory of our soldiers, appropriate exercises were held in the school hall on Friday, May 28.

The operetta, "Columbia's Appeal to the Flowers" put on at the first assembly by the fifth grade carried the spirit of the day and won the approval of the audience.

At the upper-grade assembly, the seventh-grade tableaux recalled scenes from the Civil and World wars, while the eighth grade play taught the origin and manner of observing Memorial Day.

The school was especially fortunate in having present Mr. Henrikus of the World War, Mr. Mick of the Civil War and Rev. Mr. Davis, pastor of the Newton Centre M. E. Church.

Rev. Mr. Mick, who has been present on many former occasions of the kind, addressed both groups with words of encouragement, cheer and hope. Rev. Mr. Davis, who spoke at length, to the older pupils stressed the fact that the spirit of respect and gratitude toward both the living and the dead, must carry into the lives of all in order that we keep safe the spirit of liberty and democracy.

Newton Centre is honored to have the champion marble player of the city this year. In the final city championships held at the Newton Centre playgrounds last Tuesday, William Dunn fought his way thru a group of ten other playground champions. Next Saturday, he will go to Boston to attempt to win the Greater Boston matches. The games are sponsored by the Boston Traveler.

Dunn is a Chinese boy, and has been in the United States only two years. He is a student at the Mason School. He played "ringing marbles," as it is called, in China before he came to this country.

The children in Miss Nixon's and Miss Chase's third grade classes had another of their pleasant trips to the Agassiz Museum in Cambridge, on May 27. There was much of interest, but the glass flowers, the birds, and fishes were especially liked.

All Newton Music School

The closing exercises of the Music School, which were held last Thursday evening, May 27th, at the Technical High School Hall, were enjoyed by a large number, among whom were many parents and friends of the children in the School. There was a very interesting musical program, after which Miss Fyffe awarded prizes for the best year's work, gave the diplomas and read the Honor Roll and promotions. Miss Gandal's classes gave an excellent demonstration of the work done in this important branch of the school work.

Presentation of a gift and memory book was made to Mrs. Alice W. Hay, who is leaving the Claffin School Branch this year, and who will be greatly missed.

The program included chorales by the classes, a suite de ballet by the seniors, a demonstration by the junior and intermediate classes, solos by taking a fall out of both of these nines but the Brookline nine is apt to do the unlooked for. Cambridge put Somerville out of the race by knocking them off Wednesday but the Dickerman outfit will put up a stiff fight. Everett had the league all sewed up until the holiday when Somerville upset things by nosing out a victory in the rain.

Whitmore's catch of Harlow's foul fly in the ninth inning of the Rindge game took all the pep out of the league cellarites' attack. The Newton first baseman dashed over within a foot of the first seats in the grandstand and took the ball while going at full speed. The catch undoubtedly saved a possible score, as the Rindge shortstop had previously crashed out two doubles.

The Philadelphia colored Giants shut out the Saxony Mills nine in a twilight game Wednesday at Victory field. The game was called at the end of the sixth. Crispin held the local-nine to one hit while McLaughlin was touched up for eleven. The colored team bunched their hits in the first, second and sixth frames for all their runs.

Perhaps the outstanding feature of the Commencement Week is the Pageant held on Friday evening to commemorate the seventy-fifth anniversary of the founding of Lasell. It is entitled "A Beacon Light," written by Miss Constance Blackstock, Lasell '09 and directed by Miss Elinor Stearns, head of the Expression Department.

The Pageant represents the history of the school from the time of its founding to the present day, covering the principal features of the school life with special emphasis on the introducing of the Domestic Science Department in 1877, since Lasell was the pioneer school in that development.

The "Lamp" in the shape of an old Roman candle is depicted on the seal which has served as a symbol of all Lasell activities, is to be used in the Pageant throughout.

A large number of former students and graduates will be present and remain for the rest of the commencement festivities, which will close with the exercises on Tuesday, June 8, held at the Congregational Church at 10:45, followed by the Commencement Luncheon and Alumnae Meeting at Bragdon Hall.

KIWANIS CLUB

The weekly meetings of the Kiwanis Club of Newton was held at its usual place, The Auburndale Club, on Tuesday, June 1st, at 12:15, and 45 members were present.

Two guests were present from the Boston Club and Phil Byfield of Coral Gables, Florida, Club was also present. Frank Harrell gave a few musical selections and Earl Harper led the singing. Bob Robinson won the attendance prize which was donated by Les Woodman. Several matters of business were discussed by the members.

NEWTON DOWNS RINDGE 4-2

Coach Dickinson shook up the Newton high school line-up for the Wednesday afternoon matinee with Rindge Tech, and as a result the orange and black ballplayers crashed out a total of eleven hits against Anderson, the Rindge pitcher, and added a 4 to 2 victory to their list. All that is needed to insure Newton a first place tie with Everett for the Suburban league title is a win over Somerville this afternoon at Somerville.

Aian Shaw, who has been hitting all kinds of pitching this season and who has played first base, second, and right field, and the catcher's mask and glove, went behind the bat. He did a very creditable job on the receiving end of McCleary's slants and in addition crashed out three hits in four times at bat. Frank Spain followed Shaw and connected for two out of three but did not have a chance in right field. Johnny Proctor, who continues to lead the Suburban league batters, slashed a long triple to the left field canvas in the first inning, scoring Spain for Newton's first run. In the seventh he beat out an infield rap by making his average for the day .500. Tommy Gilligan, who has been on the bench in the last few games, returned to the lineup in centrefield. He and Proctor pulled a pretty squeeze play in the first inning for Newton's second tally. McCullough followed Holbrook, who batted and the Newton captain found his batting eye for two hits in three trips to the plate. His triple to the centre field canvas in the seventh started things on the right road for Dickinson's outfit. Anderson made a balk and McCullough strolled across the plate with the run that broke the count in the first of the seventh. Harlow doubled. Whitmore dropped Proctor's throw on Mazmanian's grounder, Harlow going to third. Siders sacrificed and Harlow counted. Proctor threw wide to first on Trodden's grounder and Mazmanian scored.

McCleary pitched a nice game for

Newton, retiring ten Rindge batters by the strikeout route. Rindge gave him a scare in the ninth when with two down McCleary passed three men in a row to fill the bases. Gilligan took the next batter's fly and the game was over.

What a mix-up the Suburban league has become. Newton, Everett and Cambridge Latin are tied at the top each with six victories and three defeats and one more contest to play.

Newton has a slight chance to end up on top provided it defeats Somerville

this afternoon and Everett and Cambridge Latin lose to Brookline. There is little possibility of Coach Hines' team taking a fall out of both of these nines

but the Brookline nine is apt to do the unlooked for. Cambridge put Somerville out of the race by knocking them off Wednesday but the Dickerman outfit will put up a stiff fight. Everett had the league all sewed up until the holiday when Somerville upset things by nosing out a victory in the rain.

MISS LUCY MORGAN RETIRING

On Thursday afternoon, June 3rd, Miss Lucy Morgan was given a surprise tea at the Peabody Tea Room at Oak Hill by the teachers of the Mason District, which includes the Mason, Rice and Bowen Schools of Newton Centre.

Miss Morgan found at her place thirty dollars in gold concealed in a beautiful corsage bouquet, not only as a tribute to 22 years of service, but as a tribute to her love and unselfishness that have been unsparingly showered on all that she came in contact with.

Miss Morgan was guest of honor at a tea last week given by the N. C. School Association and the Educational Committee of the N. C. Woman's Club, where she was presented with flowers, a bead bag and about $250 in gold.

Miss Morgan is a real loss to the teaching service. Untiring in her efforts for the children, efficient to the last degree, and possessed of an unusual love for childhood, she can seemingly never be replaced. It is with real regret that the people of Newton Centre see her retire this June.

NEWTON ROTARY CLUB

On account of the holiday, the regular meeting of the Newton Rotary Club was postponed from Monday to Tuesday and held at Watertown as the guest of the Rotary Club of that town. There was a good attendance and it was a most enjoyable occasion. Mr. Macdonald, the physical instructor at the Watertown High School, was the speaker.

Dowling forced in the first of the colored team's runs when he passed Gray with the bases full, while their other run came as the result of an error.

The Highland A. A. played two tie games this week. Tuesday at Victory Field darkness set in with the Highlands and Earnshaw tied up at 5 each. Wednesday night on the Highlands playground the game with Auburndale was called with the teams deadlocked at 4 all.

The Cardinals of Newton Centre won their first league victory last Friday night in upsetting Bernie's Upper Falls All-Stars 10-6.

The Newton Pals nosed out the Centre Cardinals last night at Victory Field 6 to 5. The Pals came from behind in the fifth with two runs only to see the Cards go into the lead in the next frame with one tally. In the seventh the Pals tallied two more and won out.

WOMEN'S CLUBS

Edited by EMMA D. COOLIDGE

News from the Biennial

Fifteen thousand women—and many men—thronging the great Steel Pier at Atlantic City on opening night, Tuesday, the 25th of May, until every seat was taken and even the aisles at the rear were filled. The great empty platform, bordered with brilliant pink hydrangea and blue iris, with many, many lovely green cedar trees. Tiny lights sparkling overhead, the roar of the ocean without, and the great hall hung with rose and gold Chinese lanterns, and festooned with evergreen. Impressive and lovely surely, but wait the opening moment for a real heart's stir. Four trumpeters—the Gloria Trumpeters from New York—gowned in long, flowing white satin robes of Grecian charm, their hair bound with gold fillets, stepping upon the empty platform, and through the hush of catching breaths for the sheer beauty of the entrance, sending forth through their raised trumpets the clarion call to attention. Signal for the approach of the procession of Federation officials, a long train of notables, directors, chairmen, officers, led by the president, Mrs. John Dickinson Sherman, and preceded by a tiny girl carrying a basket of flowers. Amidst the tumultuous applause, the rising emotion we wonder how many thrilled beneath the significance of this tiny girl leading this representative group of national leaders in all that vitally concerns feminine ideals.

As "America the Beautiful" pealed forth we wonder, too, how many realized that actually in that vast concourse there were women who had indeed "from sea to shining sea." And to every listener in that vast audience came the messages of speakers as clearly as if they were in the cozy nearness of their own living-rooms, through the efficient use of microphone and amplifiers.

Charles A. Eaton, Congressman from New Jersey, brought the opening message of the convention, in an appeal for woman's influence against the lawlessness that he truly described as "cursing mankind." He urged the Federation to make the influence of women more strongly felt in public affairs. An alarming tendency to lawlessness particularly needs the attention of women, he said.

"In my judgment the chief contribution of womanhood to the world is a spiritual interpretation of its problems," said Mr. Eaton. "Women are setting their faces against war, class hatred, and personal antagonisms based on selfishness, which menace the welfare of mankind. The influence of the world's womanhood must be directed toward an awakening of a new moral sens in the individual."

Wednesday morning held for the audience the forceful, powerful address of the president. Giving an account of her stewardship during two years, she declared that the remarkable growth in the power and effectiveness of the organization was but an indication of the ever broadening field for public service by the organized clubwomen of America, opening up a "wonderful vision of possibilities ahead."

A tense moment in her reading of her report was when she was reminded, just as the convention was about to recess, that she had omitted a section that had already aroused much controversy, especially from the Louisville, Kentucky, delegates, who had come prepared to combat the stand taken at the West Baden convention. Mrs. Sherman then reiterated her stand for unity of action in the Federation as expressed by her previously given parliamentary opinion, as follows:

"When a resolution has been adopted by a meeting of the General Federation either unanimously, or by a majority, it should be considered the action of the organization."

"State Federations or individual clubs opposed to the action taken should not conduct a campaign in opposition."

In this respect, it might be stated, that this insurgency, called the Louisville Rebellion, because the Louisville Woman's Club sponsored it, was officially "put down" on Friday when the Executive Board of the General Federation decided that their resolution asking that this policy of majority rule be rescinded was not an emergency measure and therefore could not be considered at this convention. Emergency methods certainly were used, however, to meet an emergency revolt that might have stamped the convention.

Mrs. Sherman's attitude upon the moving picture situation, which the Clubs have been trying for a long time to remedy, is worth recording. She told of the withdrawal of a Federation representative from the public relations committee of the Motion Picture Producers of America because of lack of cooperation.

"When the industry sees fit to withdraw a number of most objectionable films now being shown it will go a long way towards establishment of a greater degree of confidence in that oft-repeated statement that the industry is doing everything possible to raise the standard of motion pictures," she said.

This commentary, and action of the Federation, is significant, when we recall how slyly producers declare they aim to please their patrons in the type of pictures produced, and how they await with pathetic eagerness suggestions for improvement!

Other noteworthy business of Wednesday was a resolution offered, and problems concerning our relations toward the "wards of the Government," our reservation Indians.

Deportation of all aliens illegally in the United States, installment of practical courses in citizenship-training through the public school system, and immediate steps to obtain additional funds for home extension work under the terms of the Smith-Lever bill were urged in resolutions placed before the convention by Mrs. John Sippel or Baltimore, chairman of the resolutions committee.

And a new program for Indian welfare work is expected to result from proposals put forward by the division of Indian welfare, headed by Mrs. H. A. Atwood of Riverside, Calif., which would direct activities in the interests of American Indians toward the guaranteeing of their full citizenship rights.

Along these same lines, Mrs. Eugene B. Lawson, of Oklahoma, vice-chairman of the Indian welfare division, who is representing Mrs. Atwood at the convention, said in an interview:

"The law giving citizenship to the American Indian has not guaranteed to him his just rights and privileges as an American citizen. This guarantee must be supplied in the form of supplemental legislation giving him every right guaranteed to American citizens under the Constitution."

That women are willing, nay eager, to accept the responsibilities of remaking all situations, and of showing gratitude for all agencies that have given to our country its place in the world, is proven by this attitude toward the early owners of this continent in bringing justice to these, their remaining descendants, and in attention likewise to our war veterans, whose method of livelihood is given exhibit in the great steel pier. Mrs. Paul A. Peters, with members of her staff of the disabled veterans' department, including our own Newton Club woman, Mrs. Corabelle G. Francis, and Mrs. Charles Wellman, preside over an exhibit of handiwork of the veterans. Two uniformed world war veterans, one a legless victim from Washington, assist in selling and explaining the goods. This is the first time that work done by the disabled men has been sold at a biennial, and not only is the enterprise proving of appeal and interest to the women, but it should prove a most worthwhile method of aiding the boys, and of presenting the real facts of their cause.

A word about the exhibit of this room. Almost if it is a County Fair with its tables of craftsmanship for each mighty department, with its gaily attired throngs of interested, chattering women, with their enthusiasms in projects aroused to white heat, as they stroll about between sessions, gaining knowledge of every point of interest in this their wonderful organization.

Doubtless the proudest moment for each State was that when her own President arose on Wednesday evening to respond to the toast "That Which Is Closest to My Heart as a Club Leader." Delegates arose with their President, and waved a noiseless greeting. The thrill of the tribute, and of pride in their leader, was quite the most interesting event of the evening. Massachusetts, in a section close to the platform, was the largest delegation, other than the hostess State, and to see them rise in tribute to Mrs. Potter, must have been a pleasing sight. Mrs. Potter, gowned in gold lace combined with soft purple, and wearing a corsage of orchids, by her excellent judgment, her skill in presiding, her tact, her courtesy, and her kind heart. One evidence of this quite won her audience, and saved a most awkward and pathetic situation. The president of a far southern state, who was suffering from slight illness, became overpowered with the sight of the multitude confronting her and the metallic amplified sound of her voice, faltered in the midst of her speech, and broke down completely. Immediately Mrs. Sherman, who had not been presiding for a few moments, having turned a part of the session over to a vice-president, stepped forward, and took command. In ringing, enthusiastic tones, she said: "I want to tell you that the president of this state has a better knowledge of birds and game and outdoor life than any woman I know of in the entire General Federation." Rounds of applause broke forth spontaneously on every hand, and what had looked like defeat for the distressed president turned out to be a resounding triumph.

Mrs. Virginia White Speel, president of the District of Columbia Clubs, a woman of regal bearing, and with a wonderful snow-white hair, quickly gained the name of "Queen," as she stepped forward in her purple velvet gown, and her wise words were much applauded that "women should stop espousing all sorts of wild causes and come down to common sense."

Thursday was Resolution Day, and noteworthy discussion and voting came to pass on that day. One of the furtherance of a law-abiding attitude finest measure endorsed for the in this country, and one which it is ardently hoped, the Government will heed at once, and put into strict enforcement is at all law-breaking immigrants be deported. This one thing would do more to stop disrespect for our law and our land than any other one move on the part of law regulation departments. Resolutions favoring enrollment of aliens, and extension of citizenship teaching in schools were also adopted as a means to combatting the deplorable spirit of "license" that animates the new comers to our shores.

An amendment to the Charter, signed by President McKeithley, "as his last official act," to make its declared purpose conform more closely to its present program was adopted, practically unanimously. Specified as "culture" originally as its purpose, the amendment states that "the object shall be to promote projects for the betterment of humanity and to take concerted action to that end." The Federation officers believe that this wording better includes the work for world peace, education and public welfare that now are the aims of the organization.

Mr. William Green, President of the American Federation of Labor, made a stirring appeal for continued efforts for ratification of the Child Labor Amendment. Our work is absolutely guaranteed. Our prices are the lowest. The service we render always gives satisfaction.

We will gladly estimate the cost of your work.

looked very lovely, an effect heightened by her impressive speech. Her friendly greeting in which she waved her bouquet of roses was typical of her cordial courtesy. Her desire was that everyone might take time for well ordered thought and leisurely reflection in order to secure wise leadership; in short, "to chart our goal and the technique of achieving it without making life a fitful fever."

It is gratifying that on "Thursday the next day"—after a spirited debate, the General Federation adopted by a vote of 678 to 263 a resolution favoring a federal minimum protection law "to guard against the industrial exploitation of children." A substitute resolution favoring state control of child labor through laws adapted to local conditions, was decisively defeated.

Thirteen women spoke in favor of the substitute resolution after 10 had urged adoption of the original resolution, offered by Mrs. Gilbert F. Davis, chairman of the legislation committee.

The resolution adopted read:

"Whereas, a federal minimum protective law is necessary to guard against the industrial exploitation of children, and whereas, the General Federation of Women's Clubs for years has supported such protective legislation, therefore, it is resolved, that this Federation reaffirms its faith in the child labor amendment, the intent of which is to make constitutional a federal minimum law, and further that the Federation continue its educational campaign interpretive of said amendment."

The opposition was led by a group which has come to be known as the "Louisville rebels" from Louisville, Ky.

Mrs. W. F. Blackman, state president for Florida, offered a substitute resolution, which had the support of the delegations from West Virginia, Alabama, Georgia, Virginia, Missouri, South Carolina, Rhode Island, South Dakota, Michigan and parts of the Pennsylvania delegation.

Mrs. Sherman first asked those favoring the original resolution to stand. Those who stood were widely distributed. When they did so it was impossible to tell which resolution had the strongest support; so she put the question to a vote which resulted in a victory for those supporting the original resolution.

The convention also passed a resolution favoring the establishment of a federal department of education.

Four past presidents sat upon the platform Wednesday afternoon, and an aged honorary vice-president. Realization that the Federation must sooner or later face the question of its stand on the League of Nations was forced upon delegates in greetings from two of these past presidents, Mrs. Percy V. Penhypacker and Mrs. Thomas G. Winter, which plainly indicated their desire for the Federation to support the League as an instrument for world peace.

Having achieved the main objective of its international relations program of the last two years, when the Senate passed the World Court resolution, will a similar campaign by the Federation for entrance of the United States into the League of Nations be the next step?

Can Federation members divorce their stand on the League from partisan politics, considering it solely on its merits as an instrument of peace? These are the questions being asked by leaders in the Federation's peace program.

The answer will probably not be made until a future convention, but the issue has been squarely raised, in the first business sessions of the biennial.

Literature on the League of Nations is prominently displayed in the exhibit of the International Relations Department, with Mrs. Winter in charge of the booth, and hundreds of League bulletins and articles are being distributed among the delegates.

The General Federation of Women's Clubs is increasing its contacts in foreign countries, according to reports brought by foreign delegates from China, Australia, and European countries.

These foreign and territorial clubs vary from a group of 15 members in Athens to 10,000 members in the Sydney, Australia, Club, which has sent two delegates to the convention.

Mrs. Edward Franklin White, chairman of the division of law observance, made a clear cut issue of the Federation's stand on law enforcement and modification of the Volstead Act. Her appeal for the convention to again go on record as opposing modification was dramatic. Its enthusiastic reception by the delegates left little doubt that the Federation is ready to repeat the unanimous declaration of the Los Angeles biennial of 1924 against liberalizing the law in increase the legal content of alcohol in beverages.

"Have we not, as a matter of history, adopted all these resolutions without a dissenting vote and therefore held ourselves out to the world as unquestionably in favor of strict prohibition? Should we say we have done all that could reasonably be expected of us? Or is there something more we should do?"

"Yes. The whole question of law observance is on trial now, with a disregard for the prohibition law endangering a disregard for other laws.

"Do not understand me to say that the prohibition law is responsible for its violation nor for the violation of other laws. I would not insult your intelligence by assuming that you would believe such an anomalous proposition."

"But since the time of Adam we have been prone to seek some alibi for our transgressions and lay upon the law itself the responsibility for our transgressing."

Declaring that the highly organized opposition to the Eighteenth Amendment and the enforcement laws makes it necessary for the Federation of women's clubs to give concentrated attention to the prohibition law in its campaign for law observance, Mrs. White called upon the delegates to again declare their unqualified support of the prohibition law and to use the power of the press to keep the public informed of its strict enforcement effective.

Thursday, Press Day, brought some inspiring messages.

"You women can get anything you want—if you really want it," W. F. Bigelow, editor of Good Housekeeping, assured the delegates in a forum discussion by magazine and newspaper representatives.

"You wanted the vote and you got it. You wanted prohibition and you got it—although you are letting yourselves be fooled into thinking that you made a mistake. You wanted the matrilineal act and you got it. You did not want the child labor amendment and you did not get it, and you won't get it now or ever, unless you decide that the protection of child life is more precious to you than anything else in the world."

"I am sure that you want a federal department of education, with a secretary in the President's Cabinet, I wish you did want it, because we need it and it waits on you."

Representatives of the Delineator, Scribner's Pictorial Review, the Philadelphia Public Ledger, and The Christian Science Monitor also spoke.

"Training for Citizenship," Mrs. William R. Alvord's subject, brought out this telling truth: "Men must come to realize that the machinery of government is as important as the mechanism of their automobiles."

Miss Josephine Junkin, director of Federation headquarters in Washington, described the effort to stimulate recognition of American authors by establishing a headquarters collection of books by native authors of each state, contributed by state clubs.

To impress upon delegates that not all the finest contributions to modern art, literature and music come from the old world, native Americans contributing to the development of the fine arts are featured on the daily programs. Booths piled high with suggestions for club programs in music and literary study stress the responsibility of local groups in bringing American talent before the public.

In this line of thought, and bringing honor to Newton, is the delightful announcement that one of the three women to win the Federation annual awards for playwriting was Miss Mary Richmond Davidson of Auburndale, who received the third prize of $50.

Friday must have been very exciting day for the Biennials, for various resolutions were resolved after spirited debates, the Board of the Federation did some resolving of their own, and heated discussion of having women with "bobs" on the Board was entered into—two candidates having bobbed their hair since accepting nomination, a breach of contract, since it is an unwritten law that no woman in office may be bobbed, and the Women's Clubs in all States have prided themselves upon the fact that they have no "bobs" among their membership—sure proof that the activities connected with the head are strictly internal! Quite aside from the question of the beauty or advisability of "bobs" there is the point that as the women knew the attitude of the General Federation Executive Board, and in fact of all Club women in the United States as a whole, they were most unethical to "bob" just after nomination. "Different times, different customs," one might add, different hair, and a fatter pocketbook to keep "trimmed" and "curled") and various other tolerant expressions of opinion were heard amidst the uproar of horror.

And then, just as if the Club hadn't troubles enough of its own, Major John Taylor, counsel for the American Legion, had to "start something," by an assault upon those of anti-preparedness ideas. So that the Board had to sit in conference, punish the naughty Louisville Reds, and agitate what could be done about this broadside delivered by Major Taylor. That he will be fittingly nad resolutionly rebuked will be evidenced before he is many days older! The Board also—although these are quite tame when compared with these other matters—voted to abolish the office of corresponding secretary, transferring those duties to the Washington headquarters and authorized appointment of an assistant treasurer, who shall be a salaried officer.

Two resolutions were authorized for introduction as emergency measures. Major John Taylor urged the women to give their earnest attention to the new measure of drafting for war, not only in men, but in money, and would have made more impression and gained more aid had he refrained from his other tactlessness. The universal draft bill, giving the President control of industries and all national resources in time of war, will mean "no slackers and no profiteers," and should have the support of every member interested in striking at the causes of war, he said.

Of equal force and impressiveness was the evening's speaker. Calling on the General Federation to abandon a defensive attitude and to carry the contest for prohibition into the strongholds of the wets, Gifford Pinchot, Governor of Pennsylvania, made one of the strongest pleas for war upon the lawbreaker and the modificationist which the eighteenth biennial convention has yet heard.

Introducing himself as "a defeated candidate in a very cheerful frame of mind," Mr. Pinchot declared that he regarded the wet and dry contest as "the greatest moral issue now before the people of the United States."

warned that the return of the saloon and hard liquor that the dale and forest seemed to suit, in miniature, played enthusiastically and prettily by girls from the Newton School for Girls, left nothing to be desired as to what is proper and essential to a well-conducted fete, as certainly was.

Miss Catherine S. Swett was in charge of the production.

Ice cream cones were hospitably dispensed by Newtonville with Mrs. Robert Chapman, Mrs. E. P. Crave, and Mrs. Fred L. Morgan in charge.

ALDERMANIC MEETING

Permit for Gas Filling Station in Auburndale Against Protest of Local Alderman Granted

The aldermanic meeting on Monday was scheduled to start at 5 P. M., instead of at 7:45 as usual; the earlier hour was set at the last regular meeting for the purpose of obtaining time to discuss the financing of the new junior high school at West Newton before the many hearings scheduled to come before the Board on June 7th would begin. Present in the aldermanic chamber at 5 P. M. were Aldermen Baker, Bliss, Hawkins, Hinckley, Heathcote, Noone and Norman Pratt. Alderman Weeks arrived at 5:16 and Alderman Gallagher at 5:23. These aldermen, who had made sacrifices to arrive on time at the early session, were somewhat impatient at the tardiness of their colleagues, who because of tardiness in making an appearance delayed the starting of the meeting. The failure of President Pratt and other members of the Board to reach City Hall at the appointed hour was not of serious consequence as the school matter had been taken care of at the special meeting called last week by Mayor Childs.

The evening session of the Board was called at 8 P. M. by President Pratt. There was but a small "gallery" at this hour, considering the many hearings on the docket. Shortly after the meeting was called, a considerable number of citizens appeared. The first petition to be heard was that of J. Edward Callanan who seeks a permit for a filling station at the northwest corner of Bridge and California streets. Mr. Callanan acted as his own advocate. He told of the dimensions of the lot where he proposes to erect the station, the distance the building will be from nearby residences and the aquies-

MR. GEORGE S. SMITH DEAD

The community was shocked to hear Tuesday afternoon of the death of Mr. George S. Smith, one of our leading citizens.

Mr. Smith was playing in the senior golfers' tournament at the Woodland Golf Club and had reached the sixth fairway.

Mr. Smith's ball lay on the fairway near the home of Charley Burgess, the club professional. He was about to address the ball for his second shot when he collapsed. Mrs. Burgess, who was watching the play, called Dr. Harry Godfrey on the telephone and the caddies cried out for Mr. Smith's companions, telling them he had fainted.

He was carried into the Burgess home, where Dr. Godfrey was brought by Superintendent Frank Clough of the club. Mr. Smith was dead when the doctor arrived a few minutes later. The doctor said that death was instantaneous.

Mr. Smith was born in Boston on Oct. 3, 1863, the son of John Oliver and Charlotte Catherine Smith. He attended the public schools of this city and early in life entered the clothing business, becoming associated with his father in the wholesale firm of John O. Smith & Co. Later he was for a number of years senior member of the firm of Smith, Sherman & Co. For six years he was president of the Clothiers' Association in Boston and for four years was vice president of the National Clothiers' Association of America. He was director of a number of banks and of several business houses in Boston and other sections of Massachusetts.

In 1909, Mr. Smith, while president of the Boston Clothiers' Association, was named to serve on the board of directors of the Boston-1915 movement, a plan started in 1909 for the improvement and future growth of Boston. He was active in this campaign during the six years it was in operation.

In 1909, when the Boston Merchants' Association was consolidated with the Chamber of Commerce, Mr. Smith was chosen director of the new Chamber and two years later he was made its president. He held this office for one year, refusing to be considered for re-election in 1912.

For several years he was a member of the executive committee of the Boston City Club and served as president of the organization in 1917, 1918, and 1919. He was trustee of Boston University and Northeastern University, a director of the Commonwealth-Atlantic National Bank and the John Hancock Mutual Life Insurance Company, president and director of the New England Company Power System and director and vice-president of the New England Power Company. He was a member of the Brae-Burn Country Club.

During the last years of his life, Mr. Smith's business interest was real estate development and he was instrumental in erecting the mammoth Park Square building and developing that section.

He was greatly interested in the welfare of boys and young men, which led him to originate and set in motion the Father and Son movement which has been followed out by associations and business houses during recent years. He was a member of the board of overseers of the Bunker Hill Boys' Club and was trustee of the Boys' Club of Boston.

Mr. Smith was active in the present drive for the Newton Hospital and during the past month, as chairman of the speakers' committee, he has spoken before many clubs, societies and other gatherings.

The only political office he held was that of presidential elector at the election of President Harding.

Mr. Smith has resided for many years on Grant avenue, Newton Centre. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Louise B. Smith; son, Malcolm H. Smith; two daughters, Mrs. Lawrence G. Tighe of Cambridge and Miss Charlotte R. Smith; and two brothers, Charles L. Smith of Brookline and Everett L. Smith of Westboro.

The funeral services held yesterday afternoon in the First Church, Newton Centre, were attended by a host of friends and business associates.

The Episcopal ritual was used and the service was divided by the pastor, Rev. Edward McArthur Noyes, and Rev. Edward T. Sullivan, D. D., rector of Trinity Church, Newton Centre, and one of Mr. Smith's close friends. At the organ was Francis W. Snow, organist of Trinity Church, Boston, who played Handel's "Largo"; Schubert's "Ave Maria"; "In Paradisum" by Dubois, and Mulet's composition of the same name.

Honorary pallbearers were: Walton L. Crocker, Fred P. Hayward, Godfrey Robinson, Elwyn G. Preston, George Bramwell Baker, Philip Young, Herbert R. Lane of Waban, and Arthur C. Badger of Newton Centre.

The ushers were William H. Rice,

LIEUT. MCNEIL ACQUITTED

Lieutenant Roderick McNeil of Hose 6, Lower Falls, was found not guilty by Judge Lloyd Allen on Tuesday morning on two charges preferred against him by Patrolman John Green. Green testified that on the morning of June 1, while he was directing traffic at the corner of Washington and Elm streets, West Newton, and while his hand was raised signalling westbound traffic to stop, Lieutenant drove by him at a speed of 25 to 30 miles an hour. He told the Lieutenant to stop and an argument followed with the result that the fireman was hailed into court. The principal witness for the prosecution was Henry Burnham of Needham and the defense presented as a witness Benjamin Thomas, Jr., of West Newton.

Lieutenant McNeil testified that he had stopped his car upon seeing Green's arm raised and had not started until the patrolman lowered his hand and started to walk away. He denied using insulting language to the policeman. Ben Thomas offered as evidence a map he had drawn which showed in detail the position of every auto moving and parked on Washington street between Watertown street and the railroad bridge at the time of the incident. Refuting Green's testimony that McNeil's auto was travelling at the rate of 30 miles an hour, Thomas stated that the car was going so slowly that he could have stopped it by grabbing hold of the mud-guard. Green asserted that he had not seen Thomas in the vicinity at the time of the occurrence but Thomas' testimony seemed to establish the fact that he had been near the scene. Decided discrepancies were evidenced in the testimony offered by Green and Thomas as to subsequent conversations between the two regarding the case.

Judge Allen gave little credence to Green's statement regarding the alleged speed of the automobile. The judge commented that it would be impossible for any automobile, much less the type driven by McNeil, to gather such momentum in the few yards intervening between the point where it had been stopped and the spot where it passed the officer. He found McNeil not guilty of ignoring the stop signal of the policeman, and stated that he thought the Lieutenant had manifested obedience to Green's command when he stopped his car and had acted in good faith when he started the machine again. In summing up the case Judge Allen gave the opinion that McNeil had become irritated when stopped by Green and that the latter was justified in cautioning him. The judge commented that the members of the police and fire departments should practice equity and comity with one another, and should not attempt to take undue advantages because of being affiliated with either organization.

William W. Brooks, W. J. McDonald, H. Frederick Lesh, Walter B. Phillips, Charles W. Bailey, E. Ray Speare, Thomas W. Proctor, George E. Leonard, Adams D. Clafin, Dwight S. Brigham and Charles E. Kelsey.

Burial was in Newton Cemetery, and the committal service was private.

Lieut. McNeil has been a member of the fire department for over 25 years and has an excellent record. He has driven motor vehicles for many years, never had any accidents, had never been reported or any violation of the automobile laws.

BOY SHOT BY OFFICER

Early Wednesday morning five young men drove an automobile up to the Chestnut Hill Garage on Commonwealth avenue near the Boston line and had 10 gallons of gasoline put in the tank of the car. Then they asked the garage attendant to obtain some water for the radiator. While he was getting the water the auto was started. The garage employee shouted and Patrolman Edward Chadwick who happened to be nearby jumped into the passing auto and went in pursuit of the quintet. The chase continued along the avenue until Cedar street was reached. There the fleeing machine ran into a tree and its occupants were thrown out. They ran behind the house at 750 Commonwealth avenue and the policeman took up the pursuit on foot. While he was running he drew his gun. As he followed the fugitives around the house he stumbled, and the revolver discharged. The bullet hit Frank Shiavone, 17, of 31 Tuckerman street, South Boston, lodging in his hip and causing a serious wound.

In the meantime police headquarters had been notified and the patrol auto arrived just after the shooting occurred. The police who came in placed under arrest Shiavone's companions, who had stopped their flight when their comrade was wounded. They gave their names and addresses as James Cassidy, 19, 46 Rogers street; Edward Sweeney, 18, 269 Silver street; Thomas Francis, 17, 501 Southampton street, and Harry Lincoln, all of South Boston. They were turned over to the Boston police who charged them with having stolen the automobile in South Boston. Shiavone was hurried to the Newton Hospital.

stated that he thought the Lieutenant had manifested obedience to Green's command when he stopped his car and had acted in good faith when he started the machine again. In summing up the case Judge Allen gave the opinion that McNeil had become irritated when stopped by Green and that the latter was justified in cautioning him. The judge commented that the members of the police and fire departments should practice equity and comity with one another, and should not attempt to take undue advantages because of being affiliated with either organization.

THE WEEK IN NEWTON SPORTS

Edited by WARREN K. BRIMBLECOM

TWELFTH INNING VICTORY

Newton high went into first place in the Suburban league Friday afternoon by scoring four runs in the twelfth inning to defeat Somerville high 7 to 3 on Dilby Field. Newton did not stay in the lead very long as Tuesday afternoon Cambridge trounced Brookline 8 to 2 and is now tied with Newton. Everett and Brookline meet tomorrow afternoon and should Brickett's nine win Everett will also be tied with Newton and Cambridge. There is talk of a play-off for the title but this does not seem likely.

Newton scored first in the second. Gilligan doubled to the fence in left centre. Went to third on Holbrook's neat sacrifice and tallied on McCullough's single.

Somerville knotted the count in the third on Sullivan's single and Aylesbury's two-bagger to right field.

Somerville counted again in the fifth. Aylesbury led off with a single and went to second on McHale's sacrifice. McGovern singled scoring his captain. In the sixth Somerville added another when with one down Corbett walked. He went to third when Proctor threw poorly to force him at second on Sullivan's rap and scored when Gilligan interfered with Aylesbury when the latter attempted to squeeze Corbett home.

Newton got a big break in the eighth. Spain led off with a single. Proctor drew a walk. Gilligan beat out an infield rap to Aylesbury who retired Spain at third on a close play. Holbrook hoisted a foul fly to Watson who made a spectacular catch off the screen near the stand. McCullough flied to right centre on which Tanner and Leveroni crashed causing Tanner to drop the ball and allowing Proctor and Gilligan to score, tying the count.

The score remained tied until the big twelfth. Proctor singled. Gilligan hit to McHale who tried to catch Proctor at second. The throw went to centrefield where Tanner dropped it and Proctor moved to third and Gilligan to second. Holbrook came through with a single scoring his two teammates. McCullough doubled scoring Holbrook. McCleary hit to the pitcher and was thrown out, McCleary taking third. Whitmore laid down a pretty bunt scoring his captain. Somerville got one man on in their half of the twelfth by a single with one down but Sullivan grounded to Holbrook and Aylesbury flied to Proctor.

McCleary started on the mound for Newton and was given a one-run lead in the very first inning after Spain singled, stole second and tallied on Gilligan's first two-bagger over third base. Big Sam got in trouble in the second frame. Dee led off with a single and was sacrificed to second. McCleary passed the next two batters and filled the bases. Pickard relieved the colored boy and was greeted with a ringing single to left field by Disalle. Holbrook twirler, scoring two runs. Disalle stole second and when Proctor threw wild on Matthews' grounder two more runs counted. That was all Brookline could get as Pickard settled down in the later innings and although touched up for five more hits kept them well scattered.

Newton kept hammering away at Disalle's slants scoring once in the first, second, third, sixth and seventh, and three in the fourth. That one inning was a big one. Andres led off with a hot shot to third which struck O'Connell's leg and careened off into the long grass putting Andres on second. He rode home on Pickard's triple to the left field canvas after Whitmore and flied to right. Pickard scored on Shaw's single. Shaw stole second and went to third on Spain's sacrifice to second. Proctor scored Shaw with a clean hit.

CLOSES SEASON WITH WIN

Newton closed its official season Saturday afternoon with an 8 to 4 victory over the Brockton high school nine. Unless there is a play-off for the Suburban league title many of Newton's stars have played in the orange and black colors for the last time. As Newton high has a rule prohibiting post-season games it is unlikely that a championship series will be played. However, as it is a Suburban league title and not a state or interstate affair the authorities may decide it is not a post-season game, and permit a play-off.

Tommy Gilligan, playing for Newton high for the last time, was the star of the Brockton game connecting for three doubles and a single in four trips to the plate. Proctor spearred a hot liner off O'Connell's bat with one hand in the first inning that saved a two-base hit.

McCleary started on the mound for Newton and was given a one-run lead in the very first inning after Spain singled, stole second and tallied on Gilligan's first two-bagger over third base. Big Sam got in trouble in the second frame. Dee led off with a single and was sacrificed to second. McCleary passed the next two batters and filled the bases. Pickard relieved the colored boy and was greeted with a ringing single to left field by Disalle. Holbrook twirler, scoring two runs. ### Tommy Gilligan produced a single in the sixth inning of the Yale-Princeton game last Saturday scoring Kline and increasing the Bulldog's lead over the Tiger to four runs.

Dick Vaughan produced a single in the sixth inning of the Yale-Princeton game last Saturday scoring Kline and increasing the Bulldog's lead over the Tiger to four runs.

John Proctor, Newton high shortstop, has clinched the Suburban league batting title with an average of .655 in nine of the ten league games. Proctor connected nineteen times out of twenty-nine attempts and is well ahead of the second place batter, Roger Potter of Brookline. If Proctor's arm was in keeping with the rest of his ability he would doubtless be named all-inter-scholastic shortstop but Eddie McGrath of Brookline has the call.

Tommy Gilligan and Alan Shaw were the outstanding baserunners on the Newton high school baseball team this spring. Both are versatile and heady players. Gilligan has played every position on the team this year except in left field and in the pitcher's box. Shaw has also played several positions having appeared in right and centre fields, second and first bases, and in one game donned the catcher's paraphernalia when Gilligan was out.

Gilligan has stretched more hits into extra bases than any other man on the team. The reason for this is because he worked out with the indoor track team for a month at the end of the season and learned how to run under Dickinson's eye. At Somerville he showed his ability when he scored from first base on a muffed fly in right centre.

Unless there should be a play-off for the Suburban title many of the Newton team played their last game for the orange and black against Brockton Tuesday. Alan Shaw, who enters Bowdoin in the fall connected for two hits out of five attempts for a final appearance. Tom Gilligan went to bat four times and slashed out three doubles and a single for a perfect day as his last. Bob Pickard, who relieved McCleary in the second tripled to the canvas in one of four tries. Captain McCullough, who has had a disappointing season, singled once in four trips Whitmore and Holbrook failed to hit safely in four times at bat for each although each sacrificed once.

The remainder of the team, namely, Spain, Proctor, Stubbs, and Andres, will be on deck next year to represent Newton on the diamond.

The Newton Y. M. C. A. baseball team defeated the Fleischman Y Company Team of Cambridge two to one last Saturday afternoon on the Newton "Y" field. This is the third "Y" game this season with two wins and one defeat by the Brookside. The game was a pitcher's battle primarily with George Hokanson on the mound for the Y. M. C. A. and "Peg" Wood pitching for the Yeast Cakes. Newton brought in the first run in the second inning when Hokanson scored and then the game was scoreless until the sixth when the Yeast Company scored its only run by McKinney. In the seventh Verley scored the winning run.

The Newton Pals won a Twi-league victory over the Newton Catholic Club after the shower Tuesday night on West Newton common 4 to 3. —

The West Newton A. C. won a free-hitting game from the Allston Town Team Wednesday evening at Allston 10 to 5. The colored boys scored two runs in the opening frame. Allston rallied when Whitaker poled a home run off McCleary with the bases filled. Cooper replaced McCleary and held them to one more run—another homer by Whitaker. West Newton came through in the fourth with eight runs three of which came on Lamox' triple with the bases loaded and two out.

Boston University Athletic Council has awarded letters to several Newton athletes enrolled in the school. Harold G. Thompson of West Newton was awarded his letter in track. John Lawless of West Newton won his in baseball. Minor sport letters in tennis were awarded to Donald Martin of Waban and George E. Hill, Jr., of Newton Centre. Donald T. Fairweather of Newtonville won his letter in golf, amateur minor sport. Lexington high school golfers interrupted Newton high's winning streak Monday afternoon by holding the orange and black to a tie with 3½ points each at the Lexington Golf Club.

Jake Stafford is slated to be the first starting quarterback at Harvard this fall. The peppery Newton athlete is at the Brooks hospital recovering from a recent operation on his knee. Last fall Stafford was troubled by a "trick" knee and so submitted to having a cartilage removed by Dr. Tommy Richards. The operation was successful and it is expected that Stafford will recover his old-time effectiveness as a signal-barker.

Miss Eugenia Foss of Concord, Mass., chairman of the Legion Auxiliary Legislative Committee, will speak in the negative.

BAD FALL

A stunt that has thrilled audiences at Norumbega for three weeks came to an end not scheduled Friday night when one of the men was hurled from a whirling wheel and tossed 50 feet to the ground.

Gus Stenos, 46, of 23 East 7th street, New York City, one of the team styled "The Attenos," is the injured man. At the Newton Hospital Friday night it was stated that he will recover. He sustained a broken arm and several broken ribs.

His partner, Joe, was so startled and shocked that he was helpless in his wheel, 50 feet high, and ladders were thrown up and he was taken to the ground and given first aid.

The stunt was performed on an aerial structure that had two huge wheels joined in a fashion suggesting spectacles. Pivoted in the center, the wheels whirled around with a man fastened to each wheel, his figure appearing from the ground to be in the shape of the letter "X," arms stretched upward and feet spread apart, ankles and feet being fastened.

"Love Me Less or Love Me More"

Certain it is that today we are out of favor with Europe—and no dislike is so difficult to cure as an unreasonable and unreasoning one. What can one say to a lady who merely reiterates, "I no longer love you"? Patience—and good will, and good sense are the only weapons that can serve us. And how skillfully President Coolidge and Secretary Kellogg are employing them is outlined in Richard Washburn Child's salient article, "Patience Our Policy," in The Saturday Evening Post, now on sale, five cents.

BANBURY CROSS By Frances Noyes Hart

Imagine if you can a great opera star who loathed her own singing, and a great music critic who hated music. Imagine a background of romantic mystery for the lady—hints of European intrigue, shadowy castles in the Pyrenees, Basque bravos muffled in their great cloaks, cheering crowds in every capital from Leningrad to Rome.

Then toss lady and critic into a tiny New England village—and watch the fireworks.

CRIPPLES ENTERTAINED

More than 50 boys from the Peabody Home for Crippled Children were guests of the Men's Club of the First Congregational Church, Newton, Saturday afternoon, at an outing and dinner at the New Ocean House, Swampscott. None of the afflicted was more than 15, several have just passed their 6th birthdays, and all are badly crippled. Many were carried in the arms of their hosts. Others hobble about on crutches. Still others had their bodies braced with steel waists.

The children were taken to Swampscott in a fleet of motor cars provided by A. E. Bloom, and were in charge of Herman J. Pettingill, Jr., both of whom are members of the Men's Club.

A varied program of sports was given on the golf green in the rear of the hotel, chief of which was a baseball game between the fathers and sons, won by the former by 12 to 7. Prizes were awarded the captains of both teams, and special favors given each member of the boys' nine.

The sport program was in charge of George W. Taylor of Newton Centre, the children from the home being guarded and assisted by a committee of which Paul Goddard was chairman. Others on committees were Ernest W. Deering of Newton Centre, who distributed the prizes; Dr. Harold G. Giddings, who was general chairman; William H. Raye, Chester Churchill, James H. Ritchie, A. Leslie Harwood and Ferguson Hayden.

BENEFIT SHOP

The Benefit Shop of the Hospital Aid Association, which was opened to the public on Friday, June 4, will be open daily during the summer, except on Thursday. The hours of business are from 1 to 5 o'clock on Tuesday, Wednesday, Friday, and Saturday, and from 1 to 7 o'clock on Monday. Ladies from different sections of the Newton will be in charge of the shop, which is located at 10 Bailey Place, Newtonville, on these days.

As an indication of the popularity of this shop, the entire proceeds of which go to the Newton Hospital, the committee in charge announced that the proceeds for the first day amounted to more than $100, and a $50 business was done on the second afternoon.

Household articles, clothing of all kinds, hats, shoes, books, pictures, antiques, and furniture will be received for sale. Clothing of all kinds is particularly in demand, and those in charge ask that any thing in that line be saved for the shop. Particularly is men's and children's clothing needed. A postal card to the Benefit Shop will bring a representative to call for any articles that are to be donated.

The shop is not collecting articles for salvaging, and anything that is given should be usable, the committee desires to make plain.

In addition to the above there will be candy, peanuts and red lemonade and best of all, a chance to win one or more of the many wonderful prizes that will be offered, so here is your chance, good folks, to enjoy an honest-to-goodness good time in your own town, in the interest of your own people, where the money obtained will be used for benevolent purposes.

The Odd Fellows' Building, which has been stated, is located at 15 Northgate Park, West Newton, is owned and controlled by the Odd Fellows of Newton, was purchased by them some two years ago, to be used for Lodge and social purposes, to date it has proved to be a success to the fullest extent.

DORFER-FAGANDER

An attractive home wedding took place on Saturday evening, June 5, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Rogers, 78 Page road, Newtonville, when Miss Hilma I. Fagander was united in marriage to Mr. Philip E. Dorfer of Everett, Mass., in the presence of relatives and a few intimate friends. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Arthur M. Ellis of the Central Congregational Church of Newtonville.

Miss Agnes Olson played the wedding march and the dance music.

The bride's gown was of white satin and lace, with a veil and orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of white roses and lilies of the valley.

Miss Agnes Soderlund acted as flower girl, carrying a basket of sweet peas.

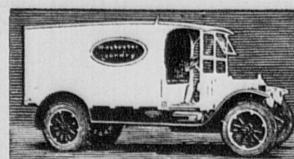

The Misses Alma Warner and Annie Anderson were ribbon bearers, each carrying a bouquet of sweet peas.

Mr. Richard Dorfer, a brother of the groom, was best man, and Miss Elsie V. Anderson, maid of honor, her bouquet being of butterfly roses.

After refreshments and dancing the newly wedded couple started on their honeymoon. They will reside in Newtonville.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE LECTURE

Again Fills Community Theatre

An unusually large audience listened to the lecture on Christian Science at Community Theatre last Sunday afternoon. The subject: "Christian Science: The Fulfillment of Scriptural Promises," is one that appeals to thoughtful people in every community, and this interest was reflected in the close attention given to the lecturer.

He was introduced by Wentworth P. Barker, the First Reader of First Church of Christ, Scientist, Newton, in these words:

"Some of you are possibly wondering why we did not invite you to come this afternoon to our new church edifice—the fact is, there were so many of you who wanted to hear this lecture that we just had to open our arms to you and ask you to come here."

"Our welcome here is none the less cordial and we extend to you all an invitation to visit our church and attend our services; and I am glad to announce that arrangements have been made to have our church open to visitors for one hour after the close of this lecture. The ushers will be glad to direct strangers to the church.

"The opening of our new church has been a joyous occasion for us and we want you to share our joy.

"It seems a happy working out of divine Mind that has brought to us today the lecturer of the afternoon, who has for us all a message of joy.

"He speaks with authority on the subject of Christian Science for he is a member of the Board of Lecture of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts.

"It gives me great pleasure to introduce to you Mr. Salem A. Hart, Jr., C. S. of Cleveland, Ohio."

Mr. Hart spoke as follows:

"When the seventy disciples, whom Jesus had sent forth on a mission of healing, returned with rejoicing, the Bible tells us that he said to them: "Behold, I give unto you power to tread on serpents and scorpions, and over all the power of the enemy; and nothing shall by any means hurt you."

(Luke 10:19). This promise, or assurance of spiritual power to heal is beautifully set forth in the following correlative passage on page 55 of the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy the Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science. "The promises will be fulfilled. The time for the reappearing of the divine healing is throughout all time; and whosoever layeth his earthly all on the altar of divine Science, drinketh of Christ's cup now, and is endowed with the spirit and power of Christian healing."

Webster defines the word "promise" as that which causes, or gives ground for, hope, expectation, or assurance. Now, I feel sure that we will all agree that the promises made in the Bible are true, and were made for all time; so have we not the right to expect the fulfillment of these promises? Christian Science answers this question in the affirmative, and is fulfilling the promise of health and long life to the afflicted: of deliverance and forgiveness to the sinning; of comfort and protection to the sorrowful; of peace and plenty to those in want and woe; of wisdom and strength to the humble and obedient. It fulfills God's promise found in Isaiah: "And I will bring the blind by a way that they knew not; I will lead them in paths that they have not known: I will make darkness light before them, and crooked things straight. These things will I do unto them, and not forsake them" (Isaiah 42:16). So, if there be any here to-night seeking solution for the problem of grief and separation; if there be any who are sick or in want; if there be any who are struggling with misfortune or sin; if, perchance, there be any who for the first time have crossed the threshold of Christian Science, we have for you a joyous message of love, of deliverance, of comfort, and happiness.

GOD

Jesus said, "If ye continue in my word, then are ye my disciples indeed: and ye shall show the truth, and the truth shall make you free" (John 8:31-32). The truth about what? Why, the truth of being as recorded in the first chapter of Genesis—the truth about God and man, the truth which Mrs. Eddy discovered and brought to light in her study of the Bible.

In order to know this truth, it is necessary to know God aright; for Christian Science teaches that God is Truth. It is a regrettable fact that in this enlightened age so many differing beliefs about God are entertained. Many have been taught from childhood to believe that God is a corporeal or superhuman being, old in appearance, with a long, white beard, seated on a throne somewhere afar off, clad in flowing robes, with a sceptre in His hand; that He listens to our petitions or prayers, and condemns or pardons according to His judgment, which judgment is accepted as His will. Many also believe that He sends pestilence, famine, disease, and disaster to mankind as a punishment for wrong doing. It seems almost incredible that anyone to-day could accept such a concept of God, and yet, many individuals are worshipping just such a concept. And it is because of these false or contrary beliefs about God that men and women are suffering, and paying the awful penalties accompanying such beliefs, the penalty of sin, sickness, and even death. Ignorantly believing that God causes all these afflictions, they even fear God; and this universal fear on the part of mankind is the cause of nearly all disease, all sin and poverty, in fact, suffering of every sort.

On page 19 of the Christian Science textbook, we find these words: "Jesus urged the commandment, 'Thou shalt have no other gods before me' which may be rendered: 'Thou shalt have no belief of Life as mortal: Thou shalt not know evil, for there is one Life,—even God, good.' Christ Jesus was the son of the God that is infinite good, who made all things good, and hath done no evil. Therefore, Christian Science teaches that God has ordained no law or sin or disease for you—no discomfort of any kind. It is sometimes asked, What is God's law? Christian Science answers: His law is the law of Life, Truth, and Love, the law of health, of perfection, of infinite good. This ever-present law is ever operative, and is an ever-present help that is the healer of disease. Therefore, all we need to do is to stop being afraid, to correct our thinking, to trust God, and know that when man has no law to govern him other than God's law, the law of health and Life, he is God-governed, hence perfect. The Bible tells us that God gave man dominion, and that means that we should be master of our surroundings, our environment, our business, our thinking. Christian Science declares that to know God aright, we must know Him as infinite good, as Life, Truth, and Love, Spirit, Soul, infinite Mind, Principle, intelligence, substance. We must understand Him to be the only power, the only presence, All-in-all. Therefore, if God is All-in-all, then He is all there is.

Here someone may ask, If God is All-in-all, what and where is evil? The Bible tells us that God made all, "and without Him was not anything made that was made," and that He pronounced all He made good. Hence, evil, or devil, being no part of His creation, has no abiding place, is not power, and at best its only existence could be in a false belief. When asked, "From whence comest thou?" the devil answered, "From going to and fro in the earth, and from walking up and down in it" (Job 2:2). Thus it is readily seen that there cannot possibly be two opposite powers occupying the same space at the same time, because God, good, Principle, fills all space, and consequently, there is no room for His unlikeness, for malice, envy, hatred, fear, jealousy, anger.

MAN

With this concept of God fixed in our consciousness, let us consider for a moment His image and likeness, man. In the first chapter of Genesis it is recorded that God created man in His image and likeness. The Bible also records that God is a Spirit, or Spirit. Therefore, man, created in the image and likeness of Spirit, must be spiritual, and not material. On page 468 of the Christian Science textbook, Mrs. Eddy has given us the scientific statement of being, which, when understood, makes this point very clear. It reads as follows: "There is no life, truth, intelligence, nor substance in matter. All is infinite Mind and its infinite manifestation, for God is All-in-all. Spirit is immortal Truth; matter is mortal error. Spirit is the real and eternal; matter is the unreal and temporal. Spirit is God, and man is His image and likeness. Therefore, man is not material; he is spiritual." Thus it is shown that man is the reflection, or image and likeness, of all that is good and perfect, that he reflects the peace, joy, and happiness of perfect health. He is thinking good, healthy, pure and loving thoughts as the direct result of reflecting divine intelligence. As Paul says, "But we all, with open face beholding as in a glass the glory of the Lord, are changed into the same image from glory to glory, even as by the Spirit of the Lord." (II Corinthians 3:18.)

If there is any one thing that we ought to be grateful for, it is our God-given ability to think. In Proverbs we read, as a man "thinketh in his heart, so is he." Can you not see the importance of thinking correctly about all things? As we come in contact with the problems of human experience incident to daily life, as we encounter difficulties in our business, and entertain thoughts of inactivity, dull seasons, lack and discouragement, we are shown by Christian Science that it is largely our own wrong thinking that causes our difficulty. So let us correct this error; let us be careful about our thinking, and, as St. Paul says, "put off the old man with his deeds; and . . . put on the new man" (Colossians 3:9-10).

SENSE TESTIMONY

One of the basic causes of so much discord and sickness to-day is the general acceptance by mankind of personal sense testimony as reliable and true. We are not trusting God when we accept and rely upon the testimony of the senses as real or true, for we are then believing that matter has life, intelligence, and sensation. The five physical senses cannot be depended upon for guidance and truthful information, and I feel sure many of us have experienced striking examples of the falsity of sense evidence. Let us consider for a moment two parallel lines, such as the tracks of a railroad. Sense testimony would have us believe that these two lines converge into one at a distant point. Can we accept such a statement as true? Certainly not. And why? Because we know the truth about this proposition, and no amount of argument can change it. We also know that the sun does not rise in the morning nor set in the evening. We also know that the earth is not stationary, but revolves on its axis once every twenty-four hours. We also know that any object in the distance is not as small as mortal vision would have us believe. And so I could go on and cite many instances of the unreliability of sense testimony. There is a marked difference between understanding and belief. Sense testimony subjects us to many conflicting beliefs, while Truth only is knowable, for there is only one Truth. Mrs. Eddy states on page 203 of the Christian Science textbook, "If God were understood instead of being merely believed, this understanding would establish health." Christian Science bids us awake from this material dream of sensation in matter, from this snare and delusion which has victimized mankind, to the full realization and understanding that God is All-in-all, the only power, and that everything unlike Him is unreal and untrue.

NEED OF SALVATION

Now how is this to be accomplished? Christian Science is demonstrating that the Christianity preached and practiced by Christ Jesus is as available to-day as it was centuries ago. Now, as then, does it lead the way out of the depths of sin and disease to the heights of purity and health. It matters not how long one has wandered amid the woods and mountains in profound darkness, gloom, and despair; it matters not how low one has fallen in the depths of sin; Christian Science teaches that Love is the liberator. As Mrs. Eddy has so beautifully stated on page 454 of the Christian Science textbook, "Love inspires, illuminates, designates, and leads the way."

The Bible tells us that now is the day of salvation, that "now are we the sons of God." What a blessing to know that salvation is not afar off, is not a future possibility, but is a present available and practical accomplishment, the realization of which is made possible by knowing, as Christian Science teaches, that God is the only Mind, intelligence, and that man in the image and likeness of God is reflecting this Mind, this intelligence. Paul said: "Let this mind be in you which was also in Christ Jesus" (Philippians 2:5). The mind which was in Christ Jesus is a mind entirely filled with goodness and godliness; it is a state of consciousness wherein God is ever acknowledged as the only presence, the only power, the only reality, and this is the mind the student of Christian Science must attain in order to be saved. Answering the inquiry of Nicodemus, Jesus said: "Except a man be born again, he cannot see the kingdom of God" (John 3:3), showing the necessity of regeneration, to put off mortality and put on immortality—to reflect that mind which heals the sick and reforms the sinner and demonstrates that "the Kingdom of God is within you."

SPIRITUAL HEALING

Many are under the impression to-day that Christian Scientists are cold, indifferent, and unsympathetic regarding the belief of sickness and suffering, and charge us with doing nothing to afford relief to those who are struggling with such beliefs. This is because it is difficult for a person thinking in terms of matter to comprehend how healing can be done without drugs, manipulation, or material means.

Christian Science does not approve or recognize the use of material remedies or materials means of any sort as an agency of healing; on the contrary, it adopts the purely spiritual teaching and practice of the blessed Master, and only by intelligent and absolute reliance on God. "Who," as the Psalmist declares, "forgiveth all thine iniquities; Who healeth all thy diseases," is true healing made possible, and is man rescued from the false beliefs of sin and disease. Christian Science treatment is not a system of denials; it is not the hypnotic influence of one human mind upon another; nor is it suggestion nor mesmerism, as is sometimes ignorantly stated. To the accusation that he cast out devils by Beelzebub, Jesus replied, "If I be Beelzebub cast out devils by whom do your children cast them out?" (Matthew 12:27). Error cannot correct error; no more can the human mind uninstructed in spiritual law grasp the import of spiritual healing, nor the means by which it is brought about.

The Christian Science practitioner never attempts to heal matter, never regards person as a patient. He knows instantly that a patient is an erring sense of mind, recognizes that causation is mental, and endeavors to reveal to the patient the Science or truth of being; and when this truth is revealed to the consciousness of the sufferer, he is healed.

Thousands of men and women have been healed of sickness and sin through reading the Christian Science textbook alone, as evidenced by testimonials which will be found in the last chapter, "Fruitage," and also by those given at our Wednesday evening testimonial services, proving that the revelation of Truth contained in those pages opens the door of human understanding, brings to human consciousness man's true relationship to God, and permanent healing, unlabored and joyous, follows as a natural consequence. This understanding of God impels man to learn His will and do it. Thus governed, man learns that it is God who "healeth all thy diseases" and is an ever-present help in trouble. Christian Scientists are learning to trust this God and rely on His promises. They are proving that He does answer the righteous prayer of the sick and sinning.

PRAYER

True Christianity includes prayer, and prayer is generally believed by Christian people to be the means by which man communicates with God. There are many different opinions among Christians as to what constitutes true prayer, and we sometimes hear the opinion voiced that Christian Scientists do not pray, that they are a prayerless people. It seems almost incredible that such a belief could exist to-day. Christian Scientists not only pray without ceasing, but they pray understandingly. It is true they do not petition God to grant material desires and pleasures. They do not ask Him to conform His will to theirs. On page 1 of the Christian Science textbook, Mrs. Eddy states, "The prayer that reforms the sinner and heals the sick is an absolute faith that all things are possible to God—a spiritual understanding of Him, an unselfed Love," and it is from this standpoint that the Christian Scientist prays the prayer of affirmation, and such prayer is answered by removing from consciousness everything unlike God, good.

Jesus attached so much importance to the right concept of prayer that he gave us the greatest of all prayers known as the Lord's Prayer. The first chapter in the Christian Science textbook is on prayer, and in this chapter Mrs. Eddy sets forth clearly and concisely what constitutes true prayer and what the purpose of prayer must

BOY SCOUTS

The Court of Honor and special parents meeting of Troop 4 of Newton Highlands Monday evening was one of the most inspiring meetings Scouting has ever seen in Newton. Over one hundred and fifty parents, friends and guests or scouts were present in addition to over fifty scouts and officers. The meeting opened with the usual scout meeting, roll call, flag ceremony, scribe's report, etc. This was followed by a short business session at which Scout Fred Black was elected Senior Patrol Leader, Richard Marcy appointed Patrol Leader and Edward Schirmer an assistant Patrol Leader, then came demonstrations of signaling, First Aid, and Stretcher Work and Friction Fire. The report of the Scoutmaster, Mr. Frank E. Lichtenhaeler, called attention to the fact that the troop now consists of 51 Scouts, 46 of whom are active, 4 non-resident and one non-active and was a well-balanced troop with 17 in each of the three grades, Tenderfoot, Second Class and First Class, including Merit Badge, Star, Life and Eagle. He reported favorably on the results of the work of the Drum and Bugle Corps and its combination with troop 5 of Newton Centre as a step toward the Council Corps which should be the aim. Mr. Lichtenhaeler paid a high tribute to the Scout who received the Eagle Badge, Fred Black, saying in part, "It is a credit to Fred and to his parents that his purpose to attain Eagle rank has survived so many troop changes, having been in three troops before transferring into troop 4 last fall. His fine spirit was apparent to us from the start. No sooner had he made his connection with troop 4 than he immediately set to work to complete his unfinished task and tonight sees the accomplishment of his object, Eagle Rank, and we are glad to be the awarding troop."

Scout Black is the son of Lieut. Col. F. F. Black, now in command of Ft. Andrews, Boston Harbor. The Eagle badge is the sign of a hard four years' work in the scout requirements, it being necessary to obtain 21 Merit Badges after reaching first Class rank, some of them very difficult to obtain. Mr. Lichtenhaeler also referred to Eagle Scout Cobleigh who is Junior Assistant Scoutmaster in the troop as being the "Foremost Scout" in the troop. He has served the troop from Tenderfoot in June, 1920, to Eagle Rank in May, 1925, and has been recently appointed Assistant Scoutmaster after having successfully carried along the positions of Scribe, Patrol Leader, Senior Patrol Leader. Due to his leaving in the fall to enter college Talmadge Fletcher was elected as assistant Scoutmaster. Mr. Grosvenor D. Marcy reported for the Troop Committee and gave a very excellent report of an active committee, paying their tribute to the Scoutmaster and other officers. The session of the Court of Honor then awarded the badges of rank as referred to following: Tenderfoot Badges to Candidates Cannon, Owen Collins, MacLellan, Gilmore, Evans, Tudbury and Haberstroh. Second Class badges to Scouts Burns, William Dillaway, and Edw. Cobleigh of troop 4 and Edwin H. Parkin, Jr., of troop 5. First Class to Robert Bonner and Robert Wartfield of troop 4. Star and Life Badge to Henry Colon of Troop 5. Life Scout badge to Robert Wilke of troop 4 and William Carleton of troop 5. Other Merit Badges to Julius Ober of troop 1, Fred R. Black, Emmons B. Brown, Evan Clooys, Richard Marcy, Edward Schirmer, Richard Schroeder, and Robert Wilke of troop 4. William T. Carleton, Henry Colony, Leslie Doton, John M. Hitchcock, Fred Purdy and Bartlett Thorogood of troop 5, Palmer Congdon and Ritchie Garrison of troop 10, Waban, a total of fifty-eight Merit Badges in all. The Eagle Scout Badge was presented to Scout Fred R. Black of troop 4 by Mr. Jerome M. Carley, Scout Executive, in the absence of Mayor Childs, who sent his regrets.

The dedication of the camp of Troop 7, West Newton, which was to have taken place Saturday the 12th, has been postponed until fall.

Another Court of Honor will be held probably at West Newton in the last week of the month of June.

A meeting of the Executive Committee will be held on the usual date, the third Wednesday, June 16th.

AUTO KILLS LABORER

Wednesday morning as Tommaso Determino, an employee of T. Stuart & Sons, was crossing Washington street in front of the Woodland Golf Club with a heavy plank on his shoulder, he was hit by an automobile driven by James Brackin of 1 Appian Way, Allston. Determino's neck was broken and he died while being carried to the Newton Hospital, just across the street. Brackin was arrested and in the Newton Court was charged with manslaughter and driving so as to endanger the lives and safety of the public. His case was continued to June 23rd. The police claim he was driving at a high rate of speed, and because of this circumstance preferred the manslaughter charge against him without waiting for the inquest as is customarily done.

THE NEWTON ARCHERS

Boy and Girl Scouts are to compete and delegates are already assured from Smith and Mt. Holyoke Colleges.

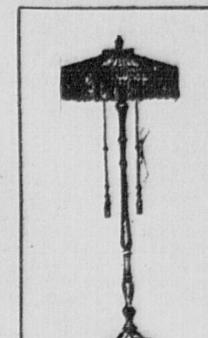

Dr. Paul W. Crouch of Newton Centre brought home the open championship medal of the Metropolitan Archery Association, also winning the honor of making the highest score at the tournament. Newton may well be proud of the record of this archery champion.

50TH ANNIVERSARY

One of the most enjoyable events of the season was the informal reception given on Sunday the sixth, by Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Fay Hatch of Waverley avenue in observance of the fiftieth wedding anniversary of Mrs. Hatch's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Loomis, now of Newton, but for more than forty years residents of Medford.

Mr. and Mrs. Loomis were married in Columbus, Ohio, June 6th, 1876. They came to Medford in 1879, and for many years were identified with the varied interests of the town and city.

Many prominent citizens from Newton and Medford were present at the reception.

The spacious house was a veritable bower of bloom, every available space being filled with the beautiful floral remembrances of friends.

One especially attractive piece was a cluster of magnificent roses, the gift of Governor and Mrs. Fuller. Another was the splendid bunch of lilies of the valley, carried by Mrs. Loomis, the thoughtful gift of a friend.

Mrs. Carrie W. Hoover of Medford, who was one of the guests, was the attending lady fifty years ago.

A shower of gold pieces was among the gifts; among them was a jewel case containing fifty dollars in gold, from the associate directors of Mr. Loomis in the Medford Co-operative Bank.

The hours of the reception were filled with good wishes, congratulations, and happy salutations.

Among the gifts to Mrs. Loomis was an original poem, printed in gold.

Mr. and Mrs. Hatch were a charming host and hostess, and their arrangement of details for the pleasure of their guests, elicited many congratulating expressions.

SCHOOL NOTES

Edited by DOROTHY E. BUSHNELL

There is much that is to be admired in our complicated social system; there is much that is to be criticized and there is much to make us open our eyes in surprise and wonder, but one peculiar characteristic of the race of men seems to remain unchanged and always a source of amazement. That one characteristic is merely the invincible tendency to think in the extreme. It has been said that perfect balance of one's life would contain four elements: work, play, love and worship. Many lives we know lack one or the other of those four elements and some lack as many as three at once. The well balanced life is exceedingly rare and the result is the characteristic above mentioned. As regards our thought just as regards our lives we most often lack a "happy mean." And the children follow our lead.

On Tuesday afternoon, June 8, the fifth and sixth grades combined played the Angier fifth and sixth grades baseball team. The final score was 4 to 7 in favor of the Angier team.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE LECTURE

be, all of which is in exact accord with the teachings of Jesus. Christian Science treatment is prayer which delivers men from the false beliefs of sin and sickness, and is the means of gaining the perfect understanding of God and His reflection, man. On page 16 of the Christian Science textbook, Mrs. Eddy writes: "Only as we rise above all material sensuousness and sin, can we reach the heaven-born aspiration and spiritual consciousness, which is indicated in the Lord's Prayer and which instantaneously heals the sick." And then follows the Lord's Prayer with its spiritual interpretation, the reading of which has healed thousands instantaneously. The fervency and tenderness of the Lord's Prayer as revealed in the spiritual interpretation quietens fear, removes malice, envy, hatred, and jealousy, stills the tempest of mad ambition.

In June, 1924, it was my privilege to attend the Republican National Convention held in Cleveland, where I witnessed a practical demonstration of the foregoing statement. Each session of the convention was opened with prayer, and the privilege of opening the fourth session was granted to the Christian Scientists. On Thursday afternoon, after a stormy and confused session, recess was taken for one hour after conferences, the convention being called to order again at 4:00 P. M. It was a seething mass of humanity numbering 12,000 people. The delegates were hot and tired from long and tedious labor trying to unite on a candidate for Vice-President. It seemed impossible for the chairman to restore order, and almost in despair, he asked the Christian Scientist present who was acting as chaplain to invoke the divine blessing. Stepping to the front of the rostrum, he raised his hands and requested all to arise and unite in a few moments of silent prayer, to be followed by the audible repetition of the Lord's Prayer, repeated in unison. In an instant you could hear a pin drop, the peace and quiet so marked during the silent prayer, was so marked during the reverent, audible repetition of the Lord's Prayer, all present responding in perfect unison. The inspiration and confidence that came to those leaders was beautiful to behold. Several expressed themselves as impressed with the thought of its being the most effectual prayer of the convention. A minister in the audience said it seemed as though the gates of heaven had opened to receive that vast audience into the presence of the Almighty. It is needless to say that the convention quietly and quickly resumed deliberation and soon nominated a candidate for Vice-President. The effects of this experience were far-reaching, as reports show that large assemblies in other cities, listening in on the radio, stood in silence during the silent prayer, and many participated in the audible repetition. It was an experience never to be forgotten for it again proved the power of true prayer, fulfilling the promise of Scripture so beautifully set forth in the 15th chapter of John, 7th verse: "If ye abide in me, and my words abide in you, ye shall know what ye will, and it shall be done unto you."

Christian Science teaches that it is this spiritual idea, this understanding of God and his reflection, man, that heals the sick to-day as it did in the time of Jesus. This spiritual idea is the Christ. On page 583 of the Christian Science textbook, Mrs. Eddy defines Christ: "The divine manifestation of God, which comes to the flesh to destroy incarnation error." This divine manifestation of God, or Christ, was reflected so perfectly by Jesus in all that he thought and did that he will always stand as the highest type of spiritual man that ever trod the earth. Therefore in Christian Science we know him as Jesus the Christ, or Christ Jesus.

Can you not see that as we establish on consciousness this Christ-Truth, this spiritual idea, that all beliefs of the flesh, that is, the false beliefs of life and sensation in matter, vanish, and man is found having no righteousness of his own, but in possession of the "mind of the Lord," as the Scripture says (Science and Health p. 291)?

Mrs. Eddy admonishes us so beautifully to follow the example of the Master in the following words, which will be found on page 210 of "The First Church of Christ, Scientist, and Mississiany": "Beloved Christian Scientists, keep your minds so filled with Truth and Love, that sin, disease, and death cannot enter them."

Jesus' perfect understanding and realization of the ever-presence of the Christ enabled him to see man as the image and likeness of God, and thus it was that he healed the sick and restored the sinner. As Mrs. Eddy so aptly states on page 476 of the Christian Science textbook, "Jesus held in Science the perfect man, who appeared to him where sinning mortal man appears to mortals. In this perfect man the Saviour saw God's own likeness, and this correct view of man healed the sick."

MARY BAKER EDDY

Having learned something about this Christ, Truth, which Christian Science reveals, it is only fitting and proper that we should know something about the discoverer as well as the discoverer.

Born of New England parents, Mary Baker Eddy was an unusual child in that she manifested at an early age a keen desire for learning and study. She was an apt pupil, and made rapid progress under the tutorage of her brother, who was a college student, and when but a child she studied Latin, Greek, and Hebrew. She read the Bible with deep interest, and soon developed an aptitude for composition and writing. Tender and loving in disposition, she made steady progress in her search and study of the Bible, and soon became conscious of the ability of God's word to heal the sick and reform the sinner.

Mrs. Eddy states on page 107 of the Christian Science textbook, "In the year 1866, I discovered the Christ-Science or divine laws of Life, Truth, and Love, and named my discovery Christian Science. God had been graciously preparing me during many years for the reception of this final revelation of the absolute divine Principle of scientific mental healing." This revelation came to Mrs. Eddy at a time when all seemed dark and hopeless. Lying upon a couch of pain as the result of an injury, she was placed in the hands of a physician, who despaired of her recovery and promised no hope. Left alone, she opened the Bible and turned to the ninth chapter of Matthew, second verse, and as she read about the man sick of the palsy who was healed by Jesus, the light of spiritual Truth or the Christ-spirit dawned in her consciousness, and she arose from her couch instantly and perfectly healed. Thoroughly convinced that her healing was the direct result of the operation of spiritual law, Mrs. Eddy continued to search the Scriptures until the Science of Christianity was the author. Describing the basis and method of her discovery, Mrs. Eddy has said: "The Scriptures were illuminated; reason and revelation were reconciled, and afterwards the truth of Christian Science was demonstrated" (Science and Health p. 110).

Jesus taught that good cannot produce evil, and he proved by his works that sin and sickness were errors of belief which he could and did destroy. He promised that his followers should do the work that he was able to do (see John 14:12), and thanks to Mrs. Eddy's patient, tireless efforts in giving Christian Science to the world, thousands of her followers all over the world are able to follow the commands of the Master.

CHURCH

The Christian Scientist daily studies the sacred teachings of the Bible and of the textbook (which is a commentary of the entire Scriptures for his inspiration and his spiritual instruction, and there he finds them. He has found that the method revealed by Mrs. Eddy in Christian Science is correct and scientific, for in no least way does she depart from the principle and rule laid down by the Master Christian. He has also found that by emulating the example of the beloved Master in preaching the gospel of good tidings and healing the sick, he shares in the blessings that come to those who look to God in every need. Christian Science and Christianity are one, and the Christian Scientist is taught so to live and act and think that his daily life will attest his sincerity and his Christianity.

THE WAY-SHOWER

Christ Jesus established the standard of Christianity. He was the Way-shower, leaving us only the perfect example that we should follow his steps. Jesus was as meek and humble as he was mighty, as evidenced so clearly in his reply to the Wednesday evening meetings held in all Christian Science churches to the one who has shown them the way out of sickness into perfect health and harmony, out of darkness and chaos into light and peace; who has brought to light Immanuel: God with us, a God who is good, ever-present, whose arm is protecting and supporting us? The discovery and the discoveries cannot be separated; therefore do all loyal Christian Scientists express to Mrs. Eddy, the Leader of the Christian Science movement, their heartfelt gratitude for all the benefits they have received and are receiving daily through their study and application of her teachings.

ITS APPEAL

It is generally conceded that the appeal of Christian Science to the world is mostly responded to by those who are suffering from despair, sickness, and sin, without hope or expectation in the world, and the question is sometimes asked, Why is this so? It is because they have searched for and tried every material healing agency known, have embraced different systems of religious beliefs, but without any lasting results or success. Turning to Christian Science, they have found that it is the fulfillment of Bible promises; that the truth preached and practiced by Jesus is as efficacious to-day as it was centuries ago. Christian Science stands to-day a practical demonstrable Science, proved to be so by thousands within its ranks who bear living testimony to what it has done and is doing for all mankind.

You frequently hear this remark: You would like to know about Christian Science, but it seems to be so hard to understand. I just cannot grasp it. Why, it is so simple that the little children in the Sunday School grasp the import of its teachings readily and make rapid strides in its application with many happy results. The Bible records that when the disciples asked Jesus, "Who is the greatest in the kingdom of heaven," that he set a little child in their midst and replied, "Verily I say unto you, Except ye be converted, and become as little children, ye shall not enter into the kingdom of heaven" (Matthew 18:3). In other words, as we relinquish all beliefs of self, and become humble and meek, do we become receptive (do we open the door of the human understanding) to the light that shineth upon a perfect day.

PERSONAL EXPERIENCE

I am glad to bear witness to-night to the fulfillment of the promise in the Bible, "Ask, and it shall be given you; seek, and ye shall find; knock, and it shall be opened unto you" (Luke 11:9). Christian Science was presented to me while on a week's outing. For many years I accompanied the male members of my family on these annual trips. One member of our party was a Christian Scientist, and it was my good fortune to pair with him one morning while on this trip, which means we were companions for the day. It was a beautiful morning, and as our little fleet of boats launched forth for the fishing ground, we were happy and full of expectation. Upon arrival, we cast off and anchored apart from the others and started our day of sport. The fishing was not very good, and after several hours of patient endeavor my thoughts seemed to turn to the glory of creation. Now I had always felt I could not grasp Christian Science; In fact, I may say I was somewhat antagonistic. But, turning to this loved one with me, I said: "Tell me something about Christian Science." He smiled, and being about his Father's business, that is, ever ready at the post of duty, he talked to me for more than an hour about God and man. He presented to me in such a simple, yet loving way, the Truth of being, the alness of God, the teachings of the Master, recounting some of his words and works, also some of the results of the consecrated and devoted life-work of Mrs. Eddy. It was a perfect setting for this illumination. Above was the clear blue sky, with the sun shining in all its glory and splendor; beneath, the quiet rippling waters of St. Clair Flats. The reeds, swaying gently in the summer breeze, were chanting their anthems of praise; the sea gulls, flying about, were singing their jubilant song of happiness; and as this new old story of Jesus and his love awakened me to a new state of consciousness, I became cognizant of a new generation, the scales dropped from my eyes and I saw the light. Like the fisherman of Thoroughly satisfied that her discovery was in accordance with God's law, Mrs. Eddy, undismayed, set out to prove her discovery. This pure and spiritually minded woman bore the heat and burden of the day patiently and lovingly, overcame obstacles, and gave to the world the result of her search and discovery, the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures."

WOMEN'S CLUBS

Edited by EMMA D. COOLIDGE

News from the Biennial

The Biennial is a thing of the past, but—the many problems and national, even world, affairs will continue in memory, in inspiration, and in deeds planned, extending into time that will be indefinite. As this great convention was held where there swept ceaselessly the mighty ocean, so will the train of thought, of aims, of achievements discussed, sweep ceaselessly over, ever flowing, ever increasing in might and power and widening circles, even as the widening circles of those mighty waters, and no hindrance, no opposition can stem the determined tide.

That the work of Women's Clubs is purposeful, is worthwhile, is recognized,—in spite of a few small minds that still refuse to let in the light—has daily evidence, but recognition from the highest source that this democratic country has to offer was given in a surprise announcement by Mrs. Sherman at the opening of this second week, and was received first by a hushed audience, in the first flush of rejoicing, then in tumultuous applause, the outburst of overburdened hearts in joy, in thankfulness, and in consecrated enthusiasm.

"It is with satisfaction I have learned the 'American home' is to be the keynote of the program at the biennial convention of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, to be held in Atlantic City, May 24-June 5.

"Character developed in the early and formative period of the child in a very great measure determines that child's spiritual, moral and social reactions in after years. The home, then, must be considered as the greatest single influence in our national life."

"Whatever may be done to broaden and to enrich our home life is vital contribution to the welfare of the country. It will be felt not alone in our private and social relations, but in our public service and our national institutions as well."

"Will you please extend my greetings and best wishes to the members of your organizations in convention assembled, and say to them that I am sure their deliberations will be productive of much good?"

Signed,

CALVIN COOLIDGE.

Could any message be more typical of the beliefs and character of our President of these United States? Can we wonder that this work of our Women's Clubs appeals to his heart, his soul, and his mind? Is there any better example in this mighty democratic country of one who from childhood was taught and accepted, and ADHERED TO, without question, dissent, disobedience, or revolt from parental authority, to those sound principles of honor, character, temperance, and respect for law, that he says determine spiritual, moral, and social reactions in after years? If all children in this land were taught by their parents these principles, instead of being indulged, winked at, laughed at, and their pranks excused as mere childhood's exuberance, our country today would need no agents to enforce amendments to the constitution, and no raids to enmesh the lawless element, accounts of whose activities disgrace the news sheets of our land.

Law and order! That has been the basis of Calvin Coolidge's life, from very childhood. Consequently it must be a source of satisfaction to him to read of the uncompromising, fearless, and above all, unanimous support of the prohibition amendment to the Constitution, and demand for its rigid enforcement, made by this mighty delegation of Women's Clubs. Not a voice was raised in protest of this amendment—no mind of faulty reasoning questioned its encroachment upon what some are pleased to call personal liberty—and not one delegate opposed the demand for its enforcement. If any such opinions were among the delegates they dared not speak before this throng of law-abiding citizens. But we do not believe there was such a mind. The records of that vote would not indicate it. Never in the history of a resolution offered for acceptance has such a loyal outburst of enthusiasm greeted one as did in this instance. The women of the United States may be proud of that moment. It must have been a highly dramatic event in the Biennial history!

And our good Old Bay State led in that moment as we women within its boundaries hope it may always lead in "law and order," the slogan of Massachusetts' foremost son (Vermont? No, Calvin Coolidge's ancestors had from Newton's adjoining township—Watertown!)

The Resolution, the most important one proffered by Mrs. Gilbert F. Davis, of Vermont, (appropriate, as the adopted State of our President's branch of the family, since the Revolution), called for "loyal and uncompromising support of the Eighteenth Amendment and the Volstead Act," defense against attacks upon it, and opposition to any weakening of its provisions.

The Federation also approved a resolution calling for a program to bring about "greater knowledge and appreciation" of American writers, enfolding national observance of children's book week and drama week, and efforts to secure daily reading of "selected portions of scripture, without comment," in the public schools.

Surely these are proof of the varied interests of our organization, and of our determination to be informed upon all fields, not merely upon those that centre within the four walls of what was once limited as "woman's sphere."

The outlook of our Clubs toward the moving picture question was frankly and helpfully discussed.

Co-operation with the motion picture industry rather than an attitude of hostility and destructive criticism was urged before state chairman of better films committees by Mrs. Alfred C. Tyler of Chicago, to improve motion picture standards, in so far as it can be done without conflicting with the belief of Mrs. John Dickinson Sherman, president, that the Federation must go slowly in this line.

The committee decided on a program to carry out her recommendation for a campaign to eliminate objectionable pictures, but emphasized its belief that this program must begin by educating the public to demand good pictures.

This program will aid toward developing the many uses of the motion pictures. A supply and information division will be established to draw up lists of selected films for the use of other departments. Members of this motion picture committee will also furnish classified lists of good pictures for the use of local Club charmen. Current films will be judged and recommended or condemned on beauty, intelligence of plot and moral value.

The policy of the Federation toward Indian Affairs brought the question as to reorganization of the Federation program, as carried forward by Mrs. H. A. Atwood, of Riverside, California, and the question of needed reform of the Indian Bureau. Shall these demands be abandoned for a more conciliatory attitude toward the Government's Indian Bureau and toward its Commissioner, Charles H. Burke, brought different opinions, some upholding Mrs. Atwood, and some requesting the conciliatory attitude.

Mrs. Atwood, who has consistently and vigorously attacked the Indian Bureau for its attitude on legislation, alleged to be inimical to Indian interests, in her report as sent to the convention, advocated placing Indian guardianship under the Federal courts. She believes that this program, if followed by appropriate legislation, would "entirely eliminate the Indian Bureau by a perfectly logical process, based on the fact that the Indian is a citizen and is entitled to the rights and advantages of other citizens."

Defenders of Mrs. Atwood's policy point to her success in persuading the Senate Indian Affairs Committee to report out a satisfactory substitute for the Bratton-Hayden oil-leasing bills, her victorious contest against the Pueblo land bills, in which she was opposed by officials of the Indian Bureau, and against the Leavitt bill, as a vindication of her conduct of the division.

Officers of the Federation agree that the Indian program must center on efforts guaranteeing full citizenship rights to all Indians, although there is a difference of opinion as to how far additional legislation is necessary to achieve this end. A resolution pledging Federation support to all such legislation was adopted by the convention.

Resolutions advocating uniform marriage and divorce laws, requesting the children's bureau of the Federal Department of Labor to prepare a practical program for dealing with juvenile delinquency were also adopted.

The measure supporting uniform marriage and divorce laws was the only one to encounter opposition.

South Carolina delegates announced they could not vote for it since their State had no divorce laws, enactment of Federal laws of this nature, they said, would result in a lowering of standards of their State.

Mrs. Edward Franklin White of Indianapolis, vice-president and legal adviser of the Federation, replied that marriage and divorce are not State questions and no State legislation could control it. The people of South Carolina, she asserted, went to other States to get their divorces.

Mrs. Lee Roy Spring of South Carolina asked how far the Federation could go in binding the several States to a policy directly opposed to that contemplated in the government of those States, but only three votes were recorded against the resolution.

Recommendations of the Revisions Committee were accepted by the delegates, the most important one being the election of department chairmen by the executive committee, a small group of nine officers, acting on the recommendations of State presidents, rather than by the board of directors which has 63 members. Charges of "autocracy" and "centralization of power" by some delegates, were answered by Mrs. Sherman wisely in this wise:

"The Federation problems which we are solving by centering certain of our activities and routine in general headquarters in Washington are those of unswiftness and of large areas.

"How can 15,000 clubs operate in unity in any other way than through central representation and central conduct of routine affairs?

"General headquarters is the spot at which Federation life will center. There women will come to stand and watch the rest of their club life go by—it will be the clearing house, not the throne room, of the Federation."

The resolution calling on each Club to include in its program of the current year a know-your-courts survey, means that all Federation members must actively co-operate in this important work for reform of court methods, warned Mrs. Edward Franklin White.

At its closing sessions, the Federation approved three "emergency" resolutions, calling for amendment of the present postal law to "admit books to the same privileges that are granted to periodicals and magazines in the mails," extension of the Shepard-Towner Act for two years, and congressional action on pending legislation for retirement of disabled emergency army officers who served in the World War.

Monday, May 31st, was Department of International Relations Day, with Mrs. Thomas G. Winter, former national president, its chairman.

Mrs. Percy V. Pennypacker of Texas, past president of the Federation, in an address on her visit to the League of Nations in Geneva in 1925, made a plea for the delegates to study its achievements.

"The only propaganda which I bring you in the cause of the League is the request that you go and see for yourselves what it is doing for world peace," she said. "The League has met difficulties and disappointments; it may have made mistakes, but don't forget that it is moving forward. The League may now be operating on only two cylinders, but if the United States becomes member, it might be speeded up to four or even six cylinders," she declared.

In their efforts to bring world peace, Mrs. Pennypacker urged club women to keep three things in mind:

First, a firm conviction that war is unnecessary, and is as out of date as dueling.

Second, the realization that international affairs are above all partisan politics, and that "international peace is of more importance than the Democratic and Republican parties rolled into one."

Third, the recognition that "lack of understanding is at the root of conflict between nations."

"If we really understand each other, it is impossible for us to hate each other," she concluded.

now on this locus which will be torn down if the petition is granted. According to Mr. Gallagher, no serious objection can be raised against the granting of the permit. Some owners of nearby residences don't want to see any business started adjacent to their homes, but as this locality is in a business zone, such objections are not reasonable. Mr. Gallagher remarked that persons living in business zones must expect such districts to experience "growing pains" through the period of transition.

Thomas Coleman of 1229 Washington street objected to the station because it will be too close to dwellings. His wife protested because she alleged it would depreciate the value of their property. R. B. Fishel, whose brother owned the Fuller Realty Garage and Joseph McSweeney, a Boston real estate dealer, who lately purchased this property from Fishel, objected because of business reasons. Fishel made the unusual request that the hearing be postponed until a later date as his brother is on a vacation trip. President Pratt informed him that his request could not be complied with but that he would have an opportunity to air his objections before the License Committee. The next person to take the floor in opposition was perhaps the youngest remonstrant yet to appear at a hearing in City Hall. Vito Scandale, 13, told the Board he represented his father, Thomas Scandale of Davis Court. Vito came from a paper in regular school boy style and offered as arguments the claims that the station would be a menace to the children of the neighborhood and would keep them awake nights.

The fourth filling station petition of the evening to be heard was that of the Newton Development Trust for a station at the northeast corner of Lowell avenue and Washington street Newtonville. This organization, a newcomer in the ranks of Newton's real estate and filling station developers, was represented by William V. Hayden as trustee. He stated that the locus is in the business zone, that the old house now on it will be removed if a permit is granted and that his clients will donate to the city enough land to change the present dangerous corner into a radius curve unobstructed by buildings, thus making the location much safer for traffic.

He stated that there is a distance of 9/10ths of a mile at present between the nearest drive-in filling stations on this side of Washington street and that public necessity demands the proposed station.

Mr. Hayden told the aldermen that the building which would be erected on the locus will be of semi-colonial type of architecture. This does not necessarily imply that it will be a Colonial station. He said "All the abutters to whom notices were required to be sent, favor the station." The only objection received was in the form of a letter from John Gahan of 114 Lowell avenue.

Alderman Hodgeson asked how much taxable property will be destroyed by the removal of the house to make room for the new station. Mr. Hayden replied that he thought the taxable property on the site will be increased because the assessors tax old houses low and the station will be regarded as of more value than either the house or stores.

Harry Hanson, Vice-President of the Middlesex and Boston Street Laundry, asked that his company be permitted to convert the present car barn at Auburndale between Commonwealth Avenue and Auburn street, into a 16-car garage. Alderman Heathcote asked Mr. Hanson when busses will be started on the Watertown-Needham line. Mr. Hanson answered that the company is endeavoring to obtain franchises from the towns of Needham and Watertown and as soon as these are obtained the busses, which have already been ordered, will be put into operation.

No opposition developed to the petition of F. W. Yelland for a 3-car garage at 309 Waltham street. A letter was read from Eleanor Burgess, objecting to the waiver of the setback line at 51 Thaxter road, asked for by Maggie Martin. No persons appeared to favor or oppose the taking of land for sewers on Wauwinet road, Burr road, Risley road, Ellison road and Sharon avenue; nor on the hearing announced regarding the laying out of Ellison, Burr and Halcyon roads. Thomas W. Proctor appeared for the residents of North street, Newton Centre. He said, "This street was settled many years ago and public convenience demands that it be laid out as a public highway." He related how prior to the construction of Commonwealth Avenue some thirty years past, North street ran across Homer street into Murray street at an easy grade. When the avenue was built, North street was left cocked-up in the air at the Commonwealth Avenue end, and its use by vehicles at that point practically ended. Since then residents on this street, to get to or from the avenue when traveling in vehicles, have been forced to make a long detour around Cummings road. When the avenue was built they were assessed betterments amounting to $1500 and subjected to less desirable conditions. Mr. Proctor intimated that the only auto which can make the rocky 16 per cent grade from the avenue up onto North street, is the "mountain climbing Ford." He did not state whether or not any residents of North street who drive the popular Detroit made cars have practiced Appalachian motor climbing. Alderman Norman Pratt asked for a showing of hands of those present who favored the improving of North street. Twenty-two hands were raised. John M. Fitzgerald, who for many years has led the fight for justice for North street residents, told the aldermen that the people on that street are 100 per cent for the improvement.

Edward Healey asked that Hibbard road be laid out and improved. Mary Young protested against the improving of Daniel street because of the expense she would be put to.

A communication was received from Mayor Childs asking that the aldermen approve the appointment of Chief of Police Burke for another year. The chief will soon reach the age of 65. Through a special act of the Legislature, the head of the police department of Newton, upon reaching this age, may be retired on a pension, or may at the discretion of the Mayor be continued in office from year to year subject to the approval of the aldermen. Alderman Heathcote asked that the rules be suspended to permit this matter to be acted on. Alderman Favinger inquired if the aldermen approved of the continuance in office of Chief Burke, would his term be extended indefinitely or just from year to year? City Solicitor Bartlett answered that the re-appointment would be made for yearly periods. On a yea and nay vote, Chief Burke's appointment for another year was unanimously confirmed.

The License Committee, with the exception of Alderman Noone, again favoredably on the petition of John McDonald for a gasoline filling station at 2016 Commonwealth Avenue. Mr. Noone stated that since the hearing held on this matter at the preceding meeting, a letter of protest had been received from the Auburndale Improvement Association. He asked that it be read and his request was seconded by Alderman Gordon.

The arguments against the station, set forth in the letter, called attention to the fact that five gas stations already are located on the avenue in Auburndale, and that the location sought is dangerous. Petitions favoring the granting of the permit were presented. These papers were signed by persons living in all parts of Ward 4, including the Lower Falls end of Grove street and Cornell street. Someone asked that these signatures be counted and City Messenger Davis assigned the task. He reported a total of 82.

Alderman Fitts inquired of Alderman Noone how many members of the Auburndale Improvement Association had been present and voted when action was taken against the granting of the permit? He was referred to Alderman Gordon, a member of the Association. That gentleman admitted the Improvement Society had no meeting but that its executive committee had taken action after receiving a great many protests.

The Recall provides machinery by which the office of an unsatisfactory incumbent may be vacated. Not often used, it has served as a "big stick," even the threat, as in a recent case in Toledo, serving to bring to terms a recalcitrant official.

Change in the form of government has been tried in some 300 small cities. Mayor and council have been replaced by a City Manager who like any other business manager has entire responsibility for conduct of the various municipal departments and for the city officials whom he appoints. Better administration and reduced taxes have resulted.

Plans for improving not the officials but the laws are two—the initiative and the referendum. The initiative provides that a proposal may be submitted to the voters and if approved by a majority must be enacted by the legislature. The referendum is a means of giving the voters a veto upon a measure which has been passed by the legislature.

Every one of these plans has advantages and defects. The League of Women Voters asks its members to study each one, remembering that "the realization of efficient government depends upon the acceptance by citizens of participation in government as a public trust."

Chairman Bliss of the License Committee favored the granting of the permit, arguing that the location is unfit for residences or stores, is not dangerous, that it would cause unsightly billboards to be removed and to refuse it would be working an injustice on the owner of the property.

Alderman Gordon said he is no opponent of Rockefeller but there are enough filling stations in Auburndale and that the aldermen should not yield to the importunities of their friends who seek permits for filling stations, which when received, are turned over to the big oil companies at large prices. Alderman Favinger told him having belonged to the Waban Improvement Society for several years and of the small attendance at the meetings of that and other improvement associations. The business of such bodies is conducted by a few persons, who do not necessarily represent the opinion of the whole community. He lauded the president of the Auburndale Improvement Association, but commented that from his knowledge of this gentleman, he would be apt to oppose the starting of any business enterprise in that village. The Waban alderman reminded his colleagues that this is an automobile era, gasoline is as necessary as food; persons don't object to grocery stores, but the traffic congestion is much worse in front of stores than in front of filling stations. He favors filling stations in any part of the city where business zones exist. Alderman Noone replied that after listening to Mr. Favinger he thought the petition might have come from Beacon street, Waban, rather than from Auburndale. Mr. Favinger answered that he would not want a filling station next to his own residence or in some locations in Waban; he cited the granting of the permit recently at the corner of Beacon and Walnut streets as tending to improve that spot. He contended that a few persons in Waban or Auburndale do not represent the entire communities and referred to the little interest displayed by Auburndale residents regarding the location of the new City Hall. Alderman Hodgeson asserted that there is no danger created by establishing a station at 2016 Commonwealth Avenue, as little foot traffic passes by this place. Alderman Gordon contradicted him and said a child had been killed directly opposite. A yea and nay vote was then taken and the permit was granted by a large majority.

Chairman O'Connell of the Traffic Committee was questioned regarding making of Lyman street and part of Centre street nearby, one-way streets.

He replied that this plan is favored by the School Committee to protect the pupils of the Rice School and that he had heard of no objections to it. Alderman Gordon stated that there are some who object to this change and asked for a public hearing on this matter on June 21st. Before adjourning at 10 o'clock, the aldermen received an invitation from Chairman Baker of the special committee on City Hall, to attend a meeting to be held by that committee on Tuesday evening.

THE POLITICAL PARTIES

Notes of an address to the Newton League of Women Voters by Dr. M. A. Wilcox.

Historically Republicans believe in a strong central government and a high tariff. Democrats, in strong state governments and a low tariff. Modern issues cut squarely across party lines so that platforms are now merely a series of straddling statements intended to attract as many voters as possible.

The numerous elections, Federal, State, and local, are run by a group of managers who give to the matter of success at the polls their undivided attention. They constitute the "machine."

The "spoils system" introduced by Jackson in 1829, debauched the public service by filling offices often with incompetent, even corrupt officials. Reform began in '83 with a law which placed 14,000 Federal employees under civil service regulations. Now some 95 percent are under these rules.

Civil service has not progressed far in the States; Massachusetts is one of the eleven which have such laws and even here they are sometimes tampered with by the Legislature as in the case of Veterans' Preference.

Civil Service deals with appointive offices. For improving the grade of elective officials several plans have been tried.

The Direct Primary takes the power of nomination from the convention, where it formerly lay, and places it—theoretically—in the hands of the people.

The Short Ballot limits the offices to be voted for to a few important ones and makes the minor ones appointive. In theory the appointing official is responsible for the efficiency of his appointees.

The Recall provides machinery by which the office of an unsatisfactory incumbent may be vacated. Not often used, it has served as a "big stick," even the threat, as in a recent case in Toledo, serving to bring to terms a recalcitrant official.

TO RUN AGAIN

To the Citizens of Newton:
By the redistricting act of 1926, the towns of Natick, Ashland, Holliston, Hopkinton and Sherborn were taken out of the First Middlesex Senatorial District and the city of Marlboro and the town of Wayland substituted, so that the First Middlesex District now consists of Newton, Framingham, Weston, Marlboro, and Wayland.

Prominent Republicans from the First Middlesex as now constituted have urged me to be a candidate for renomination at the State Primaries, September 14th.

After due consideration I have decided to announce my candidacy. In seeking another term I have no better reasons to offer than my record for the past eight years in the Legislature. I have been in active business for thirty-five years but am in a position now to give practically all my time to public service.

ABBOTT B. RICE.

WOODLAND PARK SCHOOL

In connection with closing exercises held at the Woodland Park School, Auburndale, the preparatory institution for Lasell, it was announced that when the school opens again in the fall a change will have been made in its organization.

Heretofore it has provided eight grades of grammar school work. Under the new order the first three grammar grades will be dropped, the work beginning with the fourth grade and continuing through the first two years of high school. Lasell will retain four years of junior college work or, in other words, the last two years of high school and the first two years of college work.

LODGES

The Masonic Lodges of the Fifth District will hold a field day and picnic at Norumbega Park on the afternoon of June 26th. There will be a program of field sports for men, boys and girls. Mr. George Owen, Jr., of Norumbega Lodge is chairman of the committee in charge.

Your Washday Problem?

If you have a washday problem we believe we can be of service to you. Do you prefer to have everything washed and ironed? Finshed Family Service—
Everything washed, and everything ironed.

Family Laundry Service—
Everything washed. The flat pieces, like tablecloths, bed linen, napkins, ironed. Other things starched, ready for you, to iron.

Curtains—Washed by our special method, and so dried as to bring back all the original design, size, and shape.

Washable Rugs—Laundered by a process that restores their freshness and brightness and natural color.

Blankets and Comforts—
Washed and dried out doors.

Pillows—Cleansed and sterilized,
so that the feathers again become downy and billowy.

Any or all these services are at your disposal. Call us up by telephone, give us your address, and our man will call.

ONE THING AND ANOTHER

Written by LEVERETT D. G. BENTLEY

Those who read of the incidents following the disastrous fire in Lowell must have caught the force of State Fire Marshal George C. Neal's public statements. Mr. Neal told how he had tried six years ago to have the owner equip the ancient buildings with sprinklers; how he had appealed in vain to the Mayor, the Fire Commissioner and the Chamber of Commerce of Lowell; how he had reported to the Legislature and that honorable body had noted "no legislation necessary." There are at least two lessons to be learned from this occurrence. The first is the pernicious effect of political influence—the "pull" possessed by a leading citizen through his wealth and standing as a business man. Here we find, if Mr. Neal's charges are true, a group of representative citizens—"the big men of the town"—evading the law and refusing to cooperate with the State Fire Marshal. In this case the Legislature is not so much to blame as it is doubtless reasoned (Legislators do sometimes reason) that Lowell as a city should take care of its own problems. But Lowell is much like many other cities and Lowell citizens much like other people. The city doesn't want to enforce regulations that may hurt the feelings and tap the pocket-book of a leading citizen. Officials everywhere "get from under" rather than have a rumpus with a man of power who may cost them from office. No doubt all concerned would applaud patriotic orations on ideals of citizenship and resent with high indignation any suggestion that they lacked civic pride. And yet the State Fire Marshal had exhausted every means known to him in an effort to save the city of Lowell from just such a conflagration as occurred.

We hope that Newton will, through its municipal officers and leading citizens, make every provision for a fitting recognition of the visit here Sunday, June 20, of the Crown Prince and Crown Princess of Sweden. As we are informed that Prince Gustavus Adolphus is to attend the festival at the Swedish Old People's Home in West Newton. Such an occasion would seem to us of far greater interest to the Prince and Princess than a society event on the North Shore. The institution in West Newton means much to people of Swedish blood in Massachusetts. They retain a loyalty and affection for their native land, hence they will be eager to see this Prince and Princess.

As far as the royal visitors are concerned they will probably find this home in West Newton especially attractive in view of the fact that it shelters people of their own blood.

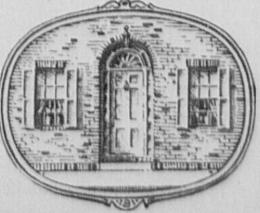

Unless we are very much mistaken the Prince and Princess will find in this little side trip to West Newton something of far greater appeal than a gigantic demonstration staged merely for the sake of doing something big. Newton will not be expected to stand itself on its head when the royal pair visit our beloved town. The fact that it is Sunday precludes a lot of "extras," even if Newton were given to that sort of thing which it is not. But Newton can do this. It can hang out United States and Swedish flags in great profusion and it can keep the streets through which the visitors ride free from traffic jams. Newton can make something of the occasion that will be dignified and fitting and this will probably find greater favor with the visitors than a lot of spectacular "apple sauce."

Until Newton becomes the scene of a "take the rap" case it cannot truthfully be called a thriving metropolis. Incidentally "taking the rap" probably results from the unfortunate habit of "knocking about." We must say that we are a trifle surprised at the calm view the public holds of violations of the law whereby one man seeks to palm himself off as another before a justice. There was a time when prompt punishment would have been administered, but prison reformers and others have succeeded in proving that a man is seldom intentionally criminal and that an ingrowing hair on his chin or a splinter in his right foot may have created an unbalanced condition. Of course when you come to look at it that way a man who seeks to "take the rap" by declaring himself to be somebody else may have a perverted sense of humor. In that case the joke is on the court and the police.

WANT PLAYGROUND AT AUBURNDALE

At the last meeting of the School Committee a communication was received from a number of mothers whose children attend the Williams School in Auburndale, asking that a playground be provided at the school. The little ones who go to this school now have to play on Lasell street, which though an unaccepted street, does not make a safe or satisfactory playground. The School Committee approves of the request and the matter has been referred to the Mayor by the parents. The interest in this project has been rapidly increasing and on Wednesday night a largely attended meeting was held at the home of Frank V. Burton, 62 Vista avenue, at which the Auburndale aldermen, John Gordon and William Noone were present. Mr. William A. Leighton, Master of the Burr School and a number of teachers from the Williams School had been invited to attend and spoke on the need of a playground at the latter school.

The need of a Parents' Association in Auburndale was discussed and it was agreed to form such an organization. Mrs. Frank V. Burton was chosen as Chairman of the temporary organization which will arrange the details for the formation of the permanent association. It was voted to have Alderman Gordon present to the aldermen at their next meeting a petition containing over 300 signatures of Auburndale residents for playground. The petition asks that the city take the land between the school and Grove street for a community playground which will be used not only as a school playground, but as a recreation centre for the girls of the Auburndale district and for the smaller boys.

NEWTON ROTARY CLUB

There was a good attendance at the usual weekly luncheon on Monday of the Newton Rotary Club at the Woodland Golf Club.

The speaker was Mr. Leroy D. Peavey of the Babson Statistical Organizations who talked on "The Business and Financial Outlook." Mr. Peavey's talk was illustrated with charts showing the fluctuations of commodities, bonds and stocks. Mr. Peavey called attention to the law of action and reaction especially as illustrated by his charts, nearly every period of expansion being followed with a period of "rest." Mr. Peavey said he could not predict how long the present period of expansion would last but he was certain that a reaction would come and his charts showed a tendency on the part of stocks to drop. He called attention to the unsettled world wide conditions, which should prohibit further extension of expansion and predicted a rest period probably in about a year.

He believed that there had been excessive speculation in real estate (as in Florida) in stock market and in the growth of the installment plan. The farmer he believed was doing rather well, except there was an unequal balance due to the decline in prices. On the favorable side he said that money was not high and tax reduction has been a great help. He rather thought general business might decline during the summer and would up again in the fall and stocks he believed could decline somewhat before going up again and he advised the club members not to load up on stocks and wait for a more favorable opportunity.

Mr. Peavey answered a number of questions which were asked by the members.

A feature of the meeting was the report of the Boys' Work Committee stating that the scholarship for 1926 had been divided between Harold Carver of Lake avenue, Newton Highlands and Herbert Holmstrand of Cypress street, Newton Centre, and Maynard Moody of Park street, Newton.

COMMUNICATION

To the Editor:

As a citizen and taxpayer of this city I desire to make a few remarks upon the subject of city hall. It is a subject of long standing and much discussed with little or no apparent results. We have now reached the age of a city of over half a century and a population of over fifty thousand. Since the charter was granted the municipal business has made its headquarters in the old town house. The population has increased many fold and yet our splendid city government is forced to transact our business still in the same old cramped quarters, which are unsafe for the valuable records it contains. I have no doubt but ninety per cent of the taxpayers would say, if they were asked, that the time has come for this, our beautiful city of Newton, to put off its swaddling clothes and build a city hall that our children, fifty years hence, will be proud of and a city hall that will be a monument to this generation.

If the city hall is built on the old site where will the different departments of the city function? The present building cannot be moved to get in a foundation for the new for which the ground must be cleared. Every nook and corner, every vault, every drawer, safe and shelf is full to overflowing. The books and papers are valuable and could not be replaced if lost. It means not only a move but extensive preparations of new quarters so that each department can function properly for a year or two. The writer has had fifty years experience in municipal government and I would call good business and an young, besides doing his little bit to save the Union from 1862 to 1865. Many years ago Newton decided to build, from east to west, a splendid avenue. A good thing. That is what I would call good business and an honor to those who put through. It cost the city well towards a half a million dollars. It is paid for. Now my advice is let the city help to improve that property that has cost so much by building a city hall on the diamond on the corner of Walnut street, and this splendid new avenue. The Commonwealth. The advertisement will be worth one hundred thousand dollars per year.

YOUR UNCLE SAM.

The Editor:—

Nelson has been much interested in itself lately, driving on toward a new hospital and such local buildings as the Newton Centre Library. These are splendid objects and we rejoice in their prosperity. But there is another drive that we should all be interested in. And it will cost us nothing but a mite of care and forethought. It is a Flower Drive, flowers for the summer for those to whom a flower means a visitation of peace and delight, and for those who cannot have them unless we take them. Has not Nelson been called the Flower City; and may we not live up to that name in the way here outlined?

From June 1 to October 1 flowers may be left in small or large quantities every day from 9 to 12 noon at Horticultural Hall, and this will be the best way for those who go by auto to Boston. For those who go by train the flowers may be left at the baggage window, in South Station not later than 9 A. M. on Tuesdays, Wednesdays, Thursdays, and Fridays; and at the North Station at Tracks 1, 2 and 3. Mark them for "The Fruit and Flower Mission." They will be distributed by willing and kindly hands to the sick, the shut-ins, and to hospitals. Each summer in recent years the value of this work has increased and we little realize all that it means. There are Newton people on this Committee and we should help them to the last degree. Flowers in the hands of our business men these summer mornings will make a splendid message from Newton to many a sick child or grown person. It is so little to ask that I make bold to suggest the full cooperation.

GEORGE LAWRENCE PARKER,

Minister the Unitarian Church,

Newton Centre.

NEWTON CHILD PLAYERS

The Review and Recital of 1926, presented by the Newton Child Players, was given in the Newton Opera House on Friday evening, May 28th, under the personal direction of Ralph W. Crossen. This is the first time in the history of New England that a dancing school has ever attempted to put on a real Revue, all of the children of the class having had less than a half season of instruction.

The big feature attraction of the evening was the offering "The Personality Kids," in their act entitled "Variety Tidbits" given by Muriel Sullivan of Somerville and Lucy Bernier of Newton. The two little girls make a decided hit wherever they perform. They are both extremely clever in their dancing and singing and their numbers were done to perfection. The first number was "Let's Talk About My Sweetie," the two young stars participating in this sketch together. Next, Miss Sullivan sang "Sitting on Top of the World," ending her number with some clever bit of acrobatic dancing.

Miss Bernier then entertained with "Yes, Sir! That's My Baby," the words of which were well brought out by her clever interpretation of the piece.

Turning away from the rather humorous side, the two children gave a fine exhibition of the waltz song, "The Midnight Waltz," which showed off how graceful the young stars are. Then came "Georgia Brown" with the two singing together and concluding with all the steps of the popular Charleston done to perfection. The little girls have the distinction of being the only children of their age to have been on Keith's Circuit, where they played all during last summer.

All numbers of the Revue were extremely well done. One number which deserves great praise was the song and dance number to "Doodler-De-Doo," given by six-year-old Milled King. Little Kashforn Morrison certainly sang and danced well to "Give Us A Little Kiss, Will Yuh, Huh."

A comic number given by Bud Bernier, Daisy Bernier and Muriel Sullivan entitled "Horses" was enjoyed by all.

FLAG DAY

The most elaborate observance of Flag Day ever held in Newton, took place Sunday afternoon under the auspices of Newton Lodge of Elks. At 3:15 a parade started from the corner of Church and Centre streets under the lead of Chief Marshal Frank Wilcox, assisted by Thomas Franey as Adjutant General and Captain Thomas Hickey as Chief of Staff. The line of march was headed by a detail of police under Serg. Thomas Leehan. Next in order came the Newton Constabulary Band, Company C, 101st Infantry, Newton Lodge of Elks, Newton Post American Legion, Thomas Burnett Camp, Spanish War Veterans, St. Bernard's Fife and Drum Corps. The line marched over Centre, Washington and Walnut streets to Clafin Field, Newtonville, where the Flag Day ritual of the Elks was conducted by the officers of Newton Lodge. George Brophy read the history of the flag and Miss Sophie Barnett of Dorchester led the singing of patriotic songs.

Ex Mayor James M. Curley delivered an address which was in part as follows—

Today we meet to honor the American Flag, as the sign and symbol of the American Republic, to tell something of its stainless glory, of its storied history during the crowded years it has floated above this land, to interpret its meaning to us as a nation and its significance to the world outside our frontiers and to restate the message it carries to humanity all round the earth.

It is the American flag, the flag of humanity, our flag, the flag of the Common People, whose sweat and sacrifices have made our civilization sweet, secure and permanent, who have carried the world on their backs through all the ages, and who, in this America and under that flag, have come into

The recent disclosures of the enormous expenditures in the Pennsylvania primary ought to make every good citizen, "Stop, Look and Listen." As a device for nominating and electing the most mediocre class of officials at the greatest possible cost, the present primary methods are without a peer. Having been a former ardent advocate of the direct primary, we can speak with some knowledge of political conditions before and after its adoption. We commend the lessons of the Pennsylvania primary to the particular attention of the women voters, who seem to be obsessed at the present time with the virtues of that method.

We understand that the city has at last abandoned a policy which has proved successful for over fifty years and has placed fire insurance on a number of its public buildings. Far be it from us to criticize the present administration at City Hall in matters of this sort, but we rather wonder just what influences were brought to bear to achieve this result. Incidentally, it should be remembered that in its policy of over fifty years, Newton is merely following the precedent set by the Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

We note with sincere regret the resignation of Rev. Dr. J. Edgar Park as minister of the Second Church in West Newton. During his ministry here, Dr. Park has won the hearts, not only of his own congregation, but of a wide circle of friends in other denominations for his broad outlook on life and religion, his eloquence in and out of the pulpit and his rare personal charm. We feel certain that in his new field Dr. Park will make a new and high record of accomplishment. We wish him God's speed.

The fine record made by District Attorney Arthur K. Reading should command his candidacy for the Republican nomination for the office of attorney general. Mr. Reading would carry into that office the same standards of efficiency and ability which he has shown in Middlesex county.

A former resident of Newton and a visitor here on Flag Day commented on the general display of the flag in the business sections and asked why only two of the five churches in that section of the city displayed the national colors.

The aldermen of 1926 evidently take little stock in the conclusions reached by their predecessors, to the effect that gas filling stations should not be located on Commonwealth avenue, and should not be granted within a half mile of existing stations.

We are glad to note the stand taken by the Boston school committee on the matter of military training. Newton made a grave mistake when it abolished that item in its curriculum.

Mr. Frelan O. Stanley has made a noble gift to Hebron Academy.

ST. BERNARD'S SCHOOL RECITAL

The pupils of the School of Music and Public Speaking connected with St. Bernard's church, West Newton, gave their first annual recital Sunday evening in the hall of the Newton Catholic Club. Under the direction of Rev. William Dwyer, 91 pupils participated. The teachers in charge were M. J. Flanagan, Esther Costello, Grace Kerrigan, Theresa McCarthy, Mary Pucciarelli, Gertrude Welch.

Have you ever noticed the imprint of a leaf on a piece of coal? You'll find one sometimes—a silent reminder of the prehistoric forests from which coal came.

Think of the centuries of sunshine and fresh air that must have been absorbed by these forests before they were finally buried!

That is the coal we offer you: wood mixed with concentrated sunshine and oxygen, and pressed for thousands of years!

No wonder it burns so well.

WELFARE CONFERENCE

The Welfare Problems Conference, under the auspices of the Newton Central Council, held the last meeting of the season at the "Rest" of the Mothers' Rest Association of the City of Newton, near the corner of Brookline and Oak Hill streets, in Newton Centre, on Wednesday, June 16.

Cars collected a little after noon under the trees which shade the driveway to the Rest, which is nestled in a clearing of the wooded land of which the Rest owns 16 acres. Children and mothers were both using the big swing which stood a little way from the house, and on the porch and in the broad hallway were other mothers and children, looking happy, and for the most part healthy and red-cheeked. Sand piles were scattered here and there and the shrill calls of children made a significant chorus to the more formal proceedings within the house.

A most delicious luncheon was served on the enclosed porch to over forty guests, by the Board members of the Mother's Rest Association. Mrs. Louis H. Marshall, Chairman of the Welfare Division, introduced Mrs. Henry J. Ide, President of the Association, who told how the work had grown through the efforts and prayers of a small church group to its present proportions. Women of greater Boston who need a vacation and have children under five years of age, are welcomed as guests of the Association. Two places in each vacation party are always reserved for Newton women. The Rest houses twenty mothers and an indefinite number of children for successive periods of two weeks each.

Mrs. Palmer, President of the Council, made some announcements and then Miss Elizabeth Ross, who was in charge of the program introduced the speaker of the day, Mr. Frank Kiernan, the new Executive Secretary of the Massachusetts Tuberculosis League.

Mr. Kiernan has recently become a resident of Newton, but is obliged to spend a great part of his time in Boston or travelling over the State. He gave a graphic account of the progress of tuberculosis preventive work, illustrated by a chart which showed that the enemy, though subdued, is not conquered.

To initiate reforms and then lose interest in them is a weakness of the American mind, Mr. Kiernan said, in making an appeal for continued efforts toward prevention of tuberculosis, especially through methods of education.

Mr. J. D. Stone of the Junior staff of the National League, spoke a few words about the research work being done by that organization.

The formal meeting was then adjourned and the company broke up to wander over the grounds or to talk with the mothers and children who were guests at the Rest.

MAY—JONES

The marriage of Miss Hilda Dewey Jones, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Valentine Jones of Brookline, Mass., to Mr. Arthur James May of Philadelphia, Pa., took place Thursday evening, June 17th, in the Central Congregational Church in Newtonville, Mass., the former residence of the bride's parents.

The Oldest Bank in Newton

This picture shows the Savings Bank as it looked in 1863. It was located in the center of Richardson Park, Newton Corner. The present building is in exactly the same location, but covers the entire area of what was then the Park.

Founded by the Newton Temperance Society and Lyceum in 1829 when Newton was a village of about 2,000 inhabitants, the Newton Savings Bank has always been an important factor in the growth of our city. Carefully managed by well-known Newton business men, the Bank has made a consistent and healthy growth through the nearly 100 years of its existence. Never in better condition than today, with deposits of $10,601,000 and a surplus for the protection of depositors of nearly $1,000,000, it amply justifies the use of its well-known slogan

James H. Vahey, Jr., of 96 Russell avenue, Watertown, who was arrested a week ago by Patrolman James Jenkins, charged with driving while under the influence of liquor, was in court Wednesday morning. He asked that his case be continued until June 30, as his attorney, John P. Feeney, is engaged at present in another case in the Superior Court. His request was granted.

David B. Alter, Jr., a student residing at Cambridge, was fined $100 by Judge Bacon on Wednesday for driving "wutiol." David was also fined $10 for being drunk. Michael Bontempo of River Ridge road, Wellesley, arrested for driving "wutiol," denied the charge before Judge Bacon on Wednesday and asserted that he never drank intoxicating liquor. Apparently Michael's veracity was doubted. He was given a sentence of 30 days in the House of Correction; also a fine of $25 for refusing to show his license to a policeman when asked to do so. He appealed both sentence and fine.

Another batch of speeders were fined for their undue haste by Judge Bacon on Wednesday. NEWTON HOSPITAL FUND GROWING*Clean Up Campaign Inaugurated With Prominent Citizens on the Follow Up Committees. Subscribers to Fund to Date.

Evidence that the balance of the funds for the new buildings at Newton Hospital will be assured by the end of June was given at a dinner-meeting of the hospital campaign committee at Brae Burn Country Club on Monday night when plans for a thorough clean-up campaign of the city were announced, and it was disclosed that the people of Wellesley had decided to join the fund-raising movement.

At Monday night's dinner detailed plans for a follow-up solicitation program in every ward of the city were outlined, and it was announced that before the campaign was ended everyone in Newton would have been given an opportunity to subscribe, or if one has already subscribed, a chance to increase that subscription. A clean-up campaign for each ward of the city was announced, comprised of the leaders of the recent intensive campaign.

Furthermore, it was announced that the subscriptions to date total $1,046.

The follow-up canvass will be conducted by the ward committees acting independently, it was announced. No additional quotas have been set, and no general report meetings will be held. Each ward leader will meet with his workers at least twice a week during the next two weeks, and a final rally-dinner will be held at the Brae Burn club on Monday night, June 28, when it is expected that the million and a half dollar mark, if not actually reached, will at least be in sight.

While Monday night's dinner was not slated as a report meeting $17,022 was turned in by team workers and the special gifts committee, which reported an additional $11,325, making the grand total of the special gifts workers $666,325. The goal of that committee is one million dollars, and E. J. Frost, the chairman, announced that his goal is to be sighted before the first of July, although there has been no time limit placed on its activities.

To date there have been 6,175 subscriptions or contributions made to the hospital building fund, Leon B. Rogers, general campaign chairman, announced. No names of donors to the fund have, or will be announced, it was stated, but by way of summary, Mr. Rogers stated that the following gifts had up to June 11 been made: nine subscriptions of $25,000, four of $15,000, one of $12,000, one of $11,000, six of $10,000, one of $6,000, two of $5,500, nineteen of $5,000, three of $3,000, seven of $2,500, eleven of $2,000, thirteen of $1,500, two of $1,250, five of $1,200, ninety-two of $1,000, one of $900, one of $800, six of $750, one of $700, seventeen of $600, and ninety-six of $500.

It was announced that a preliminary gift of $1,500 from the Masonic bodies of Newton has been made, and that a more liberal subscription from these organizations was contemplated. A subscription of $100 from the Charles Ward Post No. 62, G. A. R. was announced.

The announcement that Wellesley had given up the plan of building a local hospital and would throw in her lot with Newton and assist with the building of the new units was received with applause.

The follow-up committees for the follow-up campaign, in which the rest of the money needed for the buildings will be sought, were announced by Henry J. Nichols, chairman of the committee on organization.

Wards 1 and 7 (Newton) Philip S. Jamieson, chairman, William F. Gardner, and Mrs. Frank P. Scofield.

Stearns School

The routine of school work at the Stearns School has lately been enlivened by interesting and profitable events. Cinderella, the child's favorite story was given in pantomime by girls from the sixth grades of the school. The children of the lower grades were delighted to see acted the story they knew so well. The girls gave modern touches to the story which greatly pleased the little folks.

Many children in the sixth grade in Miss Eden's room had the privilege of visiting with their teacher the Agassiz Museum at Harvard. The two chief objectives of the trip were the glass flowers and the specimens of animals from Asia, Africa and Australia.

A group of children from Miss Walker's room visited the Children's Museum in Jamaica Plain. Such trips help to form most friendly relations between teachers and pupils, aside from their decided educational value.

Flag Day was celebrated at the Stearns School by a special assembly. Flag drills and patriotic dialogues helped to mark the day and to convey to the children what the American flag symbolizes and how we should respect it.

As closing time draws near there is the usual mingling of joy with a touch of sadness; joy for the coming freedom from school cares and the sadness which always hovers around the milestones of life. The wonderland of the out-of-doors calls loudly to all now. We feel sure that the relaxation of summer will give both teachers and pupils a new zest for their work next school year.

NEWTON ROTARY CLUB

The weekly meeting of the Newton Rotary Club, held at the Woodland Golf Club Monday noon was addressed by one of its own members, H. Wilson Ross, superintendent of the Newton Cemetery. Mr. Ross gave some interesting facts regarding the growth of cemeteries towards what is now called the "Lawn" plan and which was first started at Mt. Auburn nearly a hundred years ago as the "Garden" plan. Mr. Ross explained the perpetual care plan in vogue in the Newton Cemetery, no lots having been sold since 1872 without perpetual care. This fund now amounts to $375,000. It costs $18 for interment in the Newton Cemetery in lots ranging from $10 to $17,000. $10 is charged for the use of the Chapel.

FLAG DAY EXERCISES

their inheritance on this continent and have passed it along to the Race everywhere.

It is fitting that on this day in doing honor to the glorious banner above us that we remember the forces that have made our flag a possibility, our democracy a reality, our Republic a vital actuality—the Common People of America,—the man with the hoe, the man that guides the ploughshare, the man who sells the forest and delves in the mine, the shepherd on a thousand hills, the man behind the lathe and loom, the man who faces the furnace and beats the anvil—the worker and the woman who keeps the home and rocks the cradle. These are the Common People, the rock and foundation upon which this Republic and its civilization stand; the Common People who eat their bread in the sweat of their face, and whose labor and productivity make the home and its happiness possible and human life and intercourse palatable and purposeful.

In the final reckoning all others are merely leather and prunella, the elders, the drones, the parasites upon the body politic who pass and are forgotten when the workers—the Common People—cease to function. Arts, music, sculpture, the glory of letters, the beauty of architecture, the expression of genius, the triumph of talent and training, the esthetic things that adorn life and spiritualize living, are made possible by the Common People, since they are the bloom and blossom of our civilization, whose roots are fertilized and fed by the toil and thrift of the workers; and when the Common People cease to labor and produce, the tree of civilization will dry up at its roots and wither at its tops.

This is the great principle, the profound philosophy, that is at the base of our democracy, that constitutes the reason of our Republic and the Flag that floats above it.

The principles of the Revolution are still worth fighting for; the Constitution is still worth guarding and preserving; the Flag is still worth defending and dying for; and the Greeks bearing gifts will still bear watching.

Yonder flies the flag of our country, the symbol of our faith and fatherland, made sacred by the sweat, the suffering and the sacrifice of the Fathers. Guard it and serve it and reverence it, for all it is significant of.

Keep it sweet and clean and free from its silken folds the vermin hiding there, who have made it refuge from which they may plot treachery and plan treason.

Let us watch and wait in wakefulness, remembering that "Eternal vigilance is the price of freedom."

The century of peace enjoyed by Switzerland is no accident. It has been due to a system of military training through which each citizen understood his duty and performed it for the good of country.

Citizens' Military Training Camps and military training in public high schools creates an enduring foundation for respect for lawfully constituted authority.

The same forces that advocated treason during the war and birth control after the war are now leading the forces of pacifism in an endeavor to end military instruction either in public schools or government instruction camps.

Our heritage "American Liberty" is too sacred to trifle with or leave unguarded or undefended and preparedness is vital. Abandon preparedness as we risk the loss of Liberty and America.

COLLEGE STUDENTS CONDUCTING CAMPAIGN IN NEWTON

No sooner have the final examinations been passed than the average American college student begins the summer job on which his next year's tuition largely depends. Today, more than ever before, the college man is self-supporting and regards his vacation period, not as a means of acquiring a coat of tan or perfecting his golf game, but as a necessary course in his college curriculum—a course in self-independence.

A group of such students arrived in Newton Sunday night to begin their campaign through a well-known publication. This is one of the most difficult and trying of college men's summer jobs, but the incentive is great—if he makes good his next year's tuition in the form of a check is made payable to the bursar of the college. This unusual feature of the contract is splendid because it makes it impossible for them to spend their summer earnings for anything other than tuition and college expenses.

The students taking part in the campaign are Melvin Chevalier, Ray Hackett, Richard Farrell, Kenneth Salley, Allan Eldredge, Marvin Brown and Leon Morrise.

The supervisor of the Metropolitan

Broad Street, Mr. M. N. Coen of Belmont street, Newton and the New England manager, Mr. H. F. Delaney of Washington street, Newton are in charge of the campaign, which has received the approval of the city authorities.

MODEL YACHT REGATTA

On Saturday, June 19th, there will be held on the Charles River Basin, at a point opposite the Perkins Institute, a Model yacht regatta. It has been arranged by the Frank Ashley Day Junior High School Model Yacht Club, which has chosen a regatta committee of four, who will be in charge. There will be two races, consisting exclusively of the boats built by the boys of the club this year—a sail boat race and a motor boat race.

Both pupils and friends look forward to these recitals, appreciating that the careful, thoughtful training given by these young teachers awakens a responsive interest in their pupils which ensures an enjoyable program and creates an atmosphere of ease and confidence which adds much to the pleasure of the audience.

From the very little children, who come to the piano eagerly and happily, to the older ones, whose musical grasp and expression impress the hearers as rather remarkable—all alike show how good a foundation has been laid towards musical understanding and expression.

It is interesting to follow, step by step, the progress to more and more finished work—the deeper grasp of theme and rhythm and phrasing, the more assured strength and precision, together with delicacy of touch—these give a charm to these recitals in seeing how from the very beginning, the pupils are learning to work towards definite expression of musical thought;

are realizing that notes do not make music unless there be understanding behind them.

Teachers and pupils alike are to be congratulated on a successful and enjoyable recital.

GEORGE S. SMITH

The following editorial was written by Mr. Chas. J. MacPhee of the Framingham News:

It is with genuine sorrow that we refer to the death, this week, of George S. Smith, of Newton and Boston and Massachusetts. In fact there was so little of the provincial in his great soul that he was a national figure, although focusing his efforts chiefly in and about his beloved Boston. Strange, it seemed, that he should be stricken down while at play, for he dropped dead upon the Woodland golf links at Newton, of heart failure. For George Smith was one of the notable captains of industry of New England. A former president of the Boston Chamber of Commerce and one of the Boston City Club, he was also a leading figure in a number of large banks and business corporations yet he always found time to be the philanthropist whenever the opportunity presented itself. If death loves a shining mark surely it found it in George S. Smith, and his taking leaves a void which it will be hard to fill. His Framingham friends will mourn with those nearer his immediate home.

PUPILS GIVE RECITAL

On Tuesday evening, June 15, the Annual Recital given by the piano pupils of the Misses Cotton took place at the Central Congregational Church, Newtonville. Although the night was cold and rainy a good audience gathered to show their interest in the excellent work the classes are doing. Both pupils and friends look forward to these recitals, appreciating that the careful, thoughtful training given by these young teachers awakens a responsive interest in their pupils which ensures an enjoyable program and creates an atmosphere of ease and confidence which adds much to the pleasure of the audience.

It is interesting to follow, step by step, the progress to more and more finished work—the deeper grasp of theme and rhythm and phrasing, the more assured strength and precision, together with delicacy of touch—these give a charm to these recitals in seeing how from the very beginning, the pupils are learning to work towards definite expression of musical thought;

Teachers and pupils alike are to be congratulated on a successful and enjoyable recital.

ABOUT TOWN

The other day, as we drove easterly along Washington street, we espied on the sidewalk alongside the little park off Washington street, just north of the Centre Place bridge, a large, ornate post surmounted by a sign. The sign is of the type which is illuminated at night and it bore the name of a well-known gasoline. We were amazed! For, at the distance from which we first observed this sign, the natural inference one would draw, would be that a filling station was about to be established at this locus. It, perhaps, is proper at this time, for us to acknowledge that we learned to say "locus," rather than "site," when referring to the location of a gasoline station, by listening one night, at a meeting of the Board of Aldermen, to an illuminating dissertation on gasoline filling (or selling) stations by Hon. Herbert Parker of Lancaster. Mr. Parker was pleading for a corporation which a few may have heard of, the Standard Oil Company. This concern desired to erect a gasoline selling station on the now well known triangle which is advocated by so many as the ideal site (or locus) for the new City Hall, which Newton may build sometime in the future.

"Sometime in the future" is a conservative estimate as to the date when this much discussed building may become a reality. Also present on the evening when the Hon. Herbert Parker diffused legal knowledge and excellent English in the Newton aldermanic chamber, were several Newton lawyers. They have, on occasions, since that memorable night, formed the habit of designating the proposed site of a gasoline selling station as the "locus."

We were amazed when this sign loomed into our view, because we knew that no petition had been presented or permit granted for a gasoline selling station at this locus. Also, we wondered if the city officials had surreptitiously sold the parcel of land on which the little park is located. This land was formerly the site of the old armory and for many years it has been held by the city for the purpose of eventually being used as the location of new quarters for Engine 1 of the Fire Department. It would be a superlocus for a gasoline selling station. Some of the rival companies which are competing for advantageous locations at which to retail their product, would readily give the city $35,000 or $40,000 for this land.

But, as we drew nearer to the sign, in addition to the name of the gasoline, we saw upon it, an arrow. The arrow pointed across the bridge to a station operated on Centre place by the company, the name of whose product is on this sign. "Here," thought we, "is not only an innovation, but a solution to one phase of the problem concerning gasoline selling stations which is taking so much of the time of our aldermen, and perturbing so many of our citizens." Some of the aldermen contend and have contended, that gasoline selling stations should not be permitted on our main streets. These gentlemen argue that the proper place for such a station is on a side street. When the hearing was held on the petition for the granting of the permit for the station on Centre Place, the aldermen were told that one reason why the permit should be given, was, "because the locus was on a side street, and thus conformed to the contention that such by-ways are where such stations should be."

Since, it appears, the city is willing to assist business enterprises occupying more or less obscure locations off the main highways, by allowing guiding signs to be erected on said main highways to direct customers to such locations, future aspirants and applicants for gasoline selling stations could establish these adjuncts of the automobile era on inexpensive sites on side streets, rather than on high-priced lots on principal thoroughfares. And, by so doing they would not alone save considerable money, but also much opposition. Similar signs would be of great assistance to persons engaged in other lines of business situated off the principal traffic arteries.

"Bill" Hunnfeld, who for several years played with the Saxony Worsted baseball team of Nonantum, is making a hit with the Chicago White Sox. Hunnfeld has been playing a snappy infield game for the Chicago team, hitting out many extra base clouts, and is developing into one of the best base stealers in the big leagues.

Advocates of the Homer-Walnut St. triangular site for the new City Hall give as one reason for favoring that location the fact that it contains 8 acres of land. They contend that an area of this size is needed around a real city hall. Some folks are wondering why such a sizeable lot should surround such a municipal building. Perhaps a quarter mile running track can be constructed around the hall where candidates running for office can train.

MIDNIGHT SESSION

Aldermen Transact Routine Business. Start Discussion of Two-Platoon System for Firemen at Midnight

There was plenty of variety at the meeting of the aldermen Monday night. While gasoline was much in evidence, as has been usual at most meetings held during the past two years, a subject that occupied much of the time of Newton's solons in days of yore cropped out, when an additional junk license was recommended by the Franchise Committee. Other topics debated were—the insurance of buildings owned by the city, and the two-platoon system for the fire department. As an added attraction, residents of White avenue, Newton Centre, enlightened the aldermen concerning the sanitary conditions prevailing on and near that thoroughfare.

WELLESLEY TO AID

The task of raising the balance of the million and a half dollars for the Newton Hospital building fund will be carried on during the summer months and renewed vigorously in the fall, when an intensive campaign will be conducted in Wellesley, the campaign executive committee has announced following a meeting at the campaign headquarters at Newtonville on Monday.

The grand total of funds subscribed to date is $1,052,296.66. This represents the subscriptions or cash contributions of 6,310 persons or organizations.

The follow-up campaign by wards is now being conducted with favorable results, it is reported at campaign headquarters, but no detailed reports on this activity will be made until the final meeting of the spring campaign, which is scheduled for Mon-

NEWTON CENTRAL COUNCIL

Because of the Newton Hospital drive, in which so many of the members of the Newton Central Council were actively engaged, it was deemed wise by the Executive Committee to omit the May meeting of the Council. In its place, the following statement concerning the activities of the Council during the spring months is being sent to every member organization.

It will be recalled that the Council has been operating upon a new half-time basis this year and for the first time has been supported entirely through the generosity of its constituent members.

Although without a trained Executive Secretary, the Council has been exceptionally fortunate in its Office Secretary, Miss Louise Peloubet, who had two years of previous experience in the work of the Council with Mr. Dunham and whose services have

ROYALTY AT WEST NEWTON

Huge Crowd Greets Crown Prince Gustav Adolf and Princess Louise of Sweden at Swedish Home Last Sunday

Centuries before Columbus discovered America, intrepid Norsemen, under the lead of Lief Ericson, journeyed up the Charles River through what is now Newton. So contended Prof. Horford and other historians.

Sunday, another leader of the Scandinavian race visited this city to be acclaimed by 10,000 or more persons of Swedish birth or ancestry. Crown Prince Gustaf Adolf, and his consort, Princess Louise, motored from the fashionable North Shore colony, where they had been entertained, to visit the aged Swedish people who are spending their last days in the attractive home at the corner of Waltham and Crafts streets, West Newton. Nature seemed to approve of this gracious act

THE WEEK IN NEWTON SPORTS

Edited by WARREN K. BRIMBLECOM

REGAINS TITLE

Lawrence B. Rice of Newton Centre who first annexed the Massachusetts singles championship in 1924 regained his title last Saturday afternoon by defeating Josiah Wheelwright in three straight sets in the final round. Rice gained the final round by eliminating B. S. Niles, Karl Pfaffman, George Abbott and Malcolm Hill without the loss of a single set. The most games that any of these players could get from the Newton Centre man in a single set was four which was accomplished by Abbott.

Saturday afternoon Rice played better than ever before in regaining his title, which he relinquished last year when he spent the summer months FIVE—GRAPHIC ..... . The match in which Rice won the championship was the last in which he will play this season as he left this week for Maine where he will spend the next two months as a councillor in a boys' camp on the coast.

WINS CITY CHAMPIONSHIP

The Mason School baseball squad finished its season with the same remarkable success promised earlier in the season. So often grammar school teams are erratic and do well sometimes, and slump at others. The Mason team played the game fine brand of ball throughout its entire schedule, winning every game.

Mason took the city championship in two straight games from the Burr School of Auburndale, 7-6 and 17-11. Burr had a fine little team, but lacked the hitting ability of the South side boys.

ONE THING AND ANOTHER

Written by LEVERETT D. G. BENTLEY

If our readers will permit us a brief personal reference we should like to wish them a happy summer. Our own vacation begins next week and during our absence from Newton this column will be suspended. Those who have shared with us "One Thing and Another" may be assured that wherever we may journey we shall always be grateful to them for their interest.

Scarcely a week has passed since we heard a farmer in Harvard, Massachusetts, lamenting the disastrous results of a frost. Prior to that time we had listened to many home-gardeners complaining at the lateness of the season, but we never expected to see a destructive frost in June. Then we read that the weather experts found nothing amazing in the situation and that although there might be a frost any month of the year except July no records would be broken.

It has always seemed one of the strangest things that the men who are supposed to know most about the weather never express surprise at conditions. We can speak from personal experience and offer our testimony for what it is worth. Not so many years ago, part of our duties as a staff reporter was the preparation of the weather story. We can distinctly recall climbing several flights of the stairs in the Boston Post office building to reach the office of the U. S. weather forecaster. The elevator ran only to the last floor in the main structure and to get to the rooms in the tower (if that's what they call it) one had to climb a spiral staircase.

Extreme weather makes good copy. People everywhere are interested in the highest or the lowest point reached by the mercury. Still, as we started out to say, we never saw the weatherman excited in the smallest degree. Take it on a terrifically hot night, when clad in the very lightest we could manage, we would struggle through the heat and drop panting at the side of the weatherman's desk. Upon recovering our power of speech we would say, "Bet you this is the hottest day on record." The weatherman would invariably shake his head and reply, "No, indeed." Then he would produce a book of figures and show us that the corresponding date in the year 1888 or 1908 or some other year showed a much higher temperature.

Now the best line we have heard regarding the tardiness of Summer (there's a dainty poetical phrase by the way) was that of a prominent Newton woman. A friend was calling upon her and naturally the conversation drifted to domestic matters. Said the caller, "Have you ordered all your coal?" To this the other replied, "The bins are full and we think we have enough to last through the Summer." Not so bad!

We met a man who said, "I thought I'd be awful smart this year and plant corn for early July. If I have corn for October I shan't have any complaint."

Another man said, "You know I have a budget because I believe in system. The mistake I've made this year as far as I can see is that I put money into seeds, tomato plants and garden tools that I should have invested in oil for my new heater."

We haven't a doubt but many of our readers have heard similar comments; that they themselves may have made them. It has been one of the gravest Summers we have known thus far, for everywhere where there is talk about gardens people begin to look very grave and solemn and shake their heads.

All of this calls vividly to our mind a visit we once made to Apple Valley, Ashfield, Massachusetts. We were one of a party who took the trip to view the display of apple blossoms. But there was no "show" that year—the season was backward, decidedly so.

At the general store the farmers and city boarders were holding an informal investigation of the reasons for the protracted spell of cold weather.

"Well," spoke up an old-timer from Bear Hill, "You can find fault with Nature if you're a mind to, but remember there'll always be a planting time and a harvesting time." The discussion ceased at that point for the venerable sage had clinched it.

Beginning next Fall a new organization is to strive to contribute its share to the general welfare of that part of the city that is still best described as Newton Corner. We refer to the Newton Churchmen's Union which is composed of the men's clubs of the Methodist, Baptist, Congregational, Unitarian and Episcopal churches and the Y. M. C. A.

The idea is not a new one, although the form of this organization is somewhat different from that which exists in other villages. Each church has two representatives on the board of directors while the Y. M. C. A. is represented by its general secretary. Last Winter when a dinner was held at Elliot Church of the men's clubs of these five churches the idea was advanced of a union of the clubs. That should be understood that no one club is to cease its activities nor lose its identity. There will still be the clubs which at present are doing a good work. Their regular programs of the year will be in no way interrupted. The Churchmen's Union, will, however, arrange for at least two annual gatherings which will bring together all these clubs. Furthermore, there will be at least one meeting at which both men and women will attend and that will probably be the first one held. One of the ablest clergymen in the country will be the principal speaker and will discuss church problems.

If, as is expected, the Newton Churchmen's Union accomplishes at least in part what it has planned to do, it will come to be one of the strongest forces of its kind in the entire city. Public interest will help immeasurably and the officers of the new organization will value all the support that may be extended them.

We shall be forced to miss some of the gatherings of political aspirants this Summer but we have no doubt the events will be quite as successful as we were numbered among the participants. We have often wondered just how far their affairs "registered" in favor of the candidate and whether they "made votes" to the extent hoped for by the managers. To us it has always seemed a costly way of creating enthusiasm, but that is only one voter's view.

There doesn't seem to be any wide variety of the programs. The affair is usually conducted by a "club," which really is a group of the candidate's friends masquerading as a committee or social organization. (Perhaps that is a bit rough, so we will withdraw the assertion in part.) Sometimes the "eats" come first and sometimes the "speaking" and sometimes they are mixed.

Of all these "outings" that we have attended those nearer the seashore have been more pleasing to our fancy and our palate. To tell the truth we have been impressed more by the food than by the oratory. Take an "outing" near the coast where they are likely to set up a clam bake. Now an ideal clam bake is an institution as worthy of mention as the rocky shore on which it is built. It takes a master "clambaker," if that is what he is called, to arranged the details. He must know how to choose the site to place in position the lower tier of rocks, to put first seaweed, then corn, then seaweed again, then lobster, then more seaweed, then mackerel, then still more seaweed, then the clams and then a top layer of seaweed. He watches it until it is baked to his satisfaction. The guests do the rest. Well, that's all there is to it and yet it will prove quite enough if one has only a normal appetite.

If every "outing" conducted by political candidates was a clam bake the candidate in whose behalf the meeting was planned might do well to claim that he had cooked the meal himself. In that case, it seems to us, he might be sure of getting all the votes present. Again, some candidates might do better if instead of talking they did only cooking. The results would probably, at least in some instances, be more desirable from their point of view. A third suggestion is that the primaries be served and digested. Larger majorities would undoubtedly result.

If you are spending this Summer or part of it in some one of the many delightful villages of Massachusetts and you find here a most attractive and well conducted town library, just remember that the State Board of Free Library Commissioners is entitled to part of the credit.

This splendid organization is part of the State Department of Education, which is under the supervision of Dr. Payson Smith. What it has done can only be thoroughly appreciated by a study of its report and a reading of its "Notes on Massachusetts Libraries." The board declares that its problem is not to create new libraries but to increase the efficiency of those already in existence. It holds that if the public library is to take its rightful place among the educational factors of the community, it must convince the tax-payer that it is not a luxury; that it is as indispensable and worthy of support as the public schools." How well we in Newton know this to be true.

The State Board of Free Library Commissioners devotes much of its energies to field work and it is from the achievements thus attained that we as "Summer visitors" get so many advantages when spending our vacation "down on the Cape," or "way up in the hills."

The field workers give their assistance to all places and what they do is of immense value in such communities as are able only to employ untrained librarians. Here the State, without interference, suggests how best the library may be conducted, what is wisest in the choice of books and periodicals, how the cataloging should be done, and so forth.

We hear complaint now and then about the tendency to centralize power, "to run things from the State House." We are not going to argue for either side but are going to maintain that in this matter it is well for the smaller communities to have the State help out with the valuable assistance it is prepared to provide.

Well, we're off now for a few weeks. So long, friends.

NEWTON POST NO. 48, A. L.

Newton Post No. 48, American Legion, has voted to arrange for and to present a scroll and plaque to Mrs. George H. Smith in commemoration of the diversified civic service her late husband has performed for the city of Newton, both before and since the war. This is practically the first time any Legion Post in Massachusetts has conferred any such honor on anybody outside its own immediate ranks. The matter was memorialized by a resolution adopted at the regular meeting of the Post which was held Wednesday, June 16, 1926, at Dennis Hall, Newtonville.

The committee to have charge of the details of the memorial consists of Henry J. ("Sailor") Ryan, A. Leo Taffe, and R. John Henderson.

The regular monthly meeting of the Post was held Wednesday, June 16, at Dennis Hall, Newtonville. A very large number of members and invited guests listened to a spirited debate on the question, "Veterans Preference should be reduced in the Civil Service Examination in Massachusetts." The affirmative side was represented by Miss Florence Luscomb, of the Massachusetts Civic League, and the negative was taken by Miss Eugenie Foss of Concord, Mass. City Solicitor Joseph Bartlett, a member of Newton Post, acted as chairman.

On the meeting night, Wednesday, June 16, Manager Will White of Norumbega Park was presented with a silk umbrella by Newton Post No. 48, in recognition of the services which Mr. White rendered to the Post in staging the Welfare Concert at Norumbega Park on May 16. Commander Stopford made the presentation, and Manager White thanked the members of Newton Post for the gift.

Newton Post had several members in the parade and initiation exercises which were held in Lynn, on the night of June 10, 1926. Lynn Post No. 6, American Legion, staged an outdoor initiation on the General Electric Plant, one thousand men and women were welcomed into the Legion. The Newton delegation was headed by the Adjutant, F. J. Barry.

The ninetieth birthday of Mr. Edmund E. Stiles, for many years a citizen of Newtonville, was pleasantly observed Saturday afternoon, June 12, by the members of Charles Ward Post No. 62, and the Daughters of Union Veterans, at the Post headquarters, Walnut street, Newtonville.

After the usual business meeting of the Post, Mr. Stiles and his Grand Army comrades were escorted by the ladies to the flower-decorated table in the centre of which was a large, handsome birthday cake surrounded by candles, provided by Mrs. Josie of Needham, step-daughter of Mr. Stiles, with whom he resides at present. Ice cream and cake were served. Commander William M. Mick presided. Mr. Stiles, called upon for remarks, gave an account of his experiences in the South in the months preceding the outbreak of the Civil War when he had an inside view of events and rising sentiment in the South that finally culminated in war. Urged to enlist in the Southern Army, he refused to lift his hand against the flag of his country, returned to the North and joined the Union Army in which he did service in the 46th Massachusetts Regiment of Infantry.

As a member of Charles Ward Post, Mr. Stiles was long active in its affairs being quartermaster for over twenty years.

Felicitations were extended to Mr. Stiles by Commander Mick, Messrs. Weatherbee and Boyd and by several of the ladies. Many interesting and amusing incidents were related of early days in Charles Ward Post history.

Among the guests present were Mr. Stiles' son, Dr. Percy Stiles of Harvard Medical School, and Mr. and Mrs. Arnold, a long-time neighbor and friend, who celebrated his own ninetieth birthday a few weeks earlier.

Mr. Stiles, in his long residence in Newtonville, has been interested in its civic affairs. He was for many years a deacon in Central Church, and was a member of the building committee of the present church edifice.

50TH ANNIVERSARY

Mr. and Mrs. Mark Mayer of Nonantum street, Newton, celebrated the centennial of America's independence by attending the celebration and World's Fair at Philadelphia and by being present in the Quaker City just 50 years ago Saturday.

In celebration of their golden anniversary, a reception was tendered the couple by their son and many friends. Mark Mayer, who was born in New York City, admits passing his 71st milestone. He will be 72 in July, but Mrs. Mayer assumed woman's inalienable prerogative when asked her age and said she was past 21. She was born in Ohio.

Mark Mayer and Miss Bessa Hanauer were married by Dr. Hirsh of Temple Keneseth Israel in Philadelphia on June 19, 1876. They lived in the greater part of their married life in New York city, where Mr. Mayer was engaged in the plumbing supplies business. Twelve years ago they came to Newton, where they have made their home since with their son. They have three children and one grandchild, Marvin J. Mayer of Newton.

Among those present at the reception to Mr. and Mrs. Mayer were two who attended their wedding 50 years ago, although one of them remained but very little of the ceremony. Mrs. Emma Harris of New York city, sister of Mr. Mayer, was one guest, and Miss Ida Meyerson, niece of Mrs. Mayer, who was only 2 years of age when she attended her aunt's wedding, was the other.

DEATH OF MR. CRAM

Following an illness of several months, Benjamin C. Cram died Friday at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Eugene W. Leighton, 12 Proctor street, Newtonville. Mr. Cram had been for 23 years in the employ of the Boston Safe Deposit & Trust Company, but had been retired for several years. He was a native of Salem, the son of Benjamin H. Cram and Elizabeth Leighton Cram, and had lived in Newtonville for twenty-five years. He was seventy-four years of age, and besides his daughter is survived by a son Benjamin H. Cram of Detroit, Mich., and two brothers, Edwin H. Cram and John W. L. Cram.

LEAVES LARGE ESTATE

Mrs. Mary Lesh of Newton leaves an estate of $945,000, according to her will, filed for probate in Middlesex County this week.

There is one public bequest of $15,000, an endowment fund, the income and part of the principal to be used to maintain the Lesh Infirmary of Thornwell Orphanage, at Clinton, S. C. The remainder of the estate is left in trust to a daughter, Mary Olga Lesh.

MORE GASOLINE STATIONS

At the June 7th meeting of the aldermen, during the debate over the granting of a permit for a gasoline selling station at 2016 Commonwealth avenue, to John McDonald, Alderman Favinger argued that such permits should be granted whenever applied for in business districts, unless some good reason was presented against them. The Waban alderman stated that these stations are very necessary in this automotive age, and are far less dangerous to traffic than are stores with numerous automobiles parked in front of them. Mr. Favinger was not present in person at the meeting of the aldermen last Monday evening, but his spirit seemed to prevail. For the first time in three years, since the agitation for and against gasoline stations started to occur so much of the aldermen's time, permits for three filling stations were granted without any opposition on the part of any alderman. If the aldermen continue to display this attitude, it will mean that permits for gasoline selling stations will rapidly decrease in value. An appreciable increase in the number of stations will cause existing "pumps" to produce smaller profits. While such a policy will enable the aldermen to have more time to consider other things than petitions for "gas" stations, it would not meet with the unqualified approval of those who have been gathering the shekels, because they have been among the fortunate few obtaining permits for such stations.

The permits granted Monday night were to J. Edward Callanan for a station at the corner of Bridge and California streets; J. P. Davis for a station at the corner of River and Lexington streets; Newton Development Trust for a station at the northeast corner of Washington street and Lowell avenue.

Hearings on petitions for these three permits were held before the aldermen on June 7th. A fourth petition was also given a hearing—that of Fried & Litchman for a drive-in filling station at 1233 Washington street, West Newton. As this locus is in a district even more devoted to business than those districts where the permits were granted, and as this station would replace a sidewalk pump, it seemed inconsistent for the aldermen to grant the other three permits and hold up this petition.

At the next meeting of the aldermen, to be held on July 21st, hearings will be held on more petitions for gasoline stations. Newton T. Turner is asking for a permit for a station at 314 Washington street, Newton Corner. Albert T. Stuart applies for a permit for a 75-car garage and service station at 1637 Centre street, Newton Highlands. Mr. Stuart, representing the Highland Oil Company, also petitions for a permit to store 20,000 gallons of gasoline off Needham street, near the Highland Mills.

REAL ESTATE

The office of Sullivan & McCarthy are following sales on the Ritchie estate, West Newton Hill, which they are developing: On Westview terrace, lot of land containing 13,900 square feet has been sold to Stewart P. Dunham, who is to build a residence for his own occupancy. Helen C. Farrell of Newton was the grantor; Nancy Adams Heald acquires title to the new English Colonial house at 100 Prospect street, there being a choice lot of 8,730 sq. ft. In connection with this transaction, an additional lot of land on Westview terrace, containing 7,760 sq. ft. has been acquired by the same grantee. Messrs. Robert Sullivan and Jeremiah J. McCarthy were the grantors in the above transactions.

ALDERMANIC MEETING

talked quite briefly in favor of this station, stating that there is no danger occasioned by its establishment. Louis DeRusso whose property adjoins the proposed station site, objected.

Following the Barnicle petition hearing, came the hearing on the petition of David Wolk, a non-resident, who wants to obtain a filling station at the corner of Woodward and Boylston streets. Again Harry Ross took the floor to plead for Mr. Wolk. He stated that to the best of his knowledge there are no drive-in filling stations in Newton Highlands. Mr. Ross, apparently, has not driven along Winchester and Needham streets. He promised the aldermen that if they grant a permit, the corner will be made a beauty spot, will be "wide open," and a benefit to the community. President Pratt asked Mr. Ross, "How the land on this corner is zoned?" Mr. Ross thought the question to be—"How is the land owned?" He explained that Mr. Wolk had really purchased the property from Mr. Cozens, despite rumors to the contrary. Henry Wry of 1006 Boylston street said that within a week a member of Mr. Cozens' family had told him that this land was to be sold for other purposes than a filling station. He asserted that the corner is too dangerous to allow the station and that an existing station just across the street more than cares for any demand for gasoline in that neighborhood.

Margaret Belger stated that she has lived in the neighborhood for 50 years and that the station would not be a benefit to the district. She suggested that the waiting shanty of the Boston and Worcester be removed to improve the appearance of that section. John M. Gallagher of 1002 Boylston spoke at length concerning the slope of the land on the proposed station site, and the dangerous conditions existing around this corner. Others who objected were Frank Morrison of 22 Woodward street, Robert Jennings, 1018 Boylston street, and David Morey, who asked that the safety of his four children be assured from further auto traffic. Mr. Ross announced that he had just received a telegram telling him the details of sale of the property from Cozens to Wolk, were in the mail. Mr. Wry reported that a member of the Cozens family had informed him "that the whole thing is a joke."

More Stores on Avenue

Attorney Thomas Weston identified himself to the Board, because it had been several months since he had appeared before it. He asked that the Vitalait Laboratory Inc., be permitted to take down its laboratory and erect a block of 7 or 8 stores at 549 Commonwealth avenue, near Irving street. He explained that within a half-stone throw of the property are business, general residence, private residence and single residence zones. He asserted his client does not seek a change of zone but a modification of an existing non-conforming use of a building in a residential zone. The product of the Vitalait Company, according to Mr. Weston, is a medicine which is good for you, if you have the trouble which it cures. It seems that not enough persons have ailments relieved by "bacillus Bulgariensis" to necessitate the use of the entire small building owned by the Vitalait Company. "The building," said Mr. Weston, "is too large to be made over for the needs of its owners." So they wish to tear it down and erect on the property a one story block containing 7 or 8 small stores. Mr. Weston admitted of knowledge of opposition to the petition from two persons; one of whom, a Mr. Kaplan of Chelsea, owns a business block across Irving street from the Vitalait property. Mr. Weston remarked that Kaplan is a real estate operator whose objection is based on business reasons, and therefore not sound. The other objector, Mrs. Bagnall, owns property on Irving street, but to compromise with her, Mr. Weston said his clients would use face-brick on the rear wall of the proposed business block, which would afford a superior architectural aspect to the gaze of Mrs. Bagnall.

In answer to a query by President Pratt Mr. Weston read Section 562 of the Zoning Ordinance to show how the Vitalait Building can be torn down and a block of stores erected to conform with the provisions relating to the modifications of a building used for non-conforming purposes. He said the Vitalait Company will occupy one of the stores. A. E. Whittemore, attorney for Mrs. Bagnall, and F. J. Hunt, said that a change from the little stucco building of the Spanish bungalow type to a one story business block containing 7 stores, would greatly depreciate the value of surrounding property. He told the aldermen "It would not require much imagination to visualize the unsightly and unpleasant alley which would be created behind such a block of small stores." He took exception to Mr. Weston's interpretation of Section 562 of the Zoning Ordinances. He read this section to prove that a building can be altered to permit the extension of a non-conforming use, which he said is quite different from tearing down a building because of the need of less room, and the replacing of said building by a much larger structure of an entirely different type, and for quite different use.

White Avenue Soil Soiled

James B. Welch of 21 White avenue, asked that a sewer be built in that street. He stated that the cesspools in that neighborhood overflow and that sanitary conditions are so bad that health is menaced. Fulgenzio Savini of 124 Jackson street, owner of property at 53 White avenue, stated that in this house are nine children and that the sewer installation is necessary to protect their health. Frank Arduino also spoke in favor of the petition. James Mc-

Inerney representing Mrs. Mary McCarthy, spoke in opposition. He said the petitioners own but five per cent of the frontage on White avenue, which is a narrow way, only 10 feet wide and expect others to pay for nearly all the cost of the improvement. Dennis Flanagan, owner of property on White avenue, asserted that the "avenue" runs for 278 feet through his property, although in 1880 the assessors books showed no such street. He asked who, and by what authority had changed his property into a right of way without his consent? City Engineer Morse stated that the plans of the City Engineer's Department showed a right of way along White avenue in 1876. Garfield Appleyard testified that he owns a frontage of 175 feet along White avenue and objects to being assessed for others' benefit. He suggested that the city construct sewers in accepted streets before it builds them in small private ways such as White avenue.

John J. Sheehan of White avenue refuted the statements of the proponents of the sewer, that surface water is responsible for much of the trouble in and around White avenue. Mr. Sheehan described in detail the topographical and drainage conditions prevailing in his neighborhood and averred that if the persons responsible for the petition co-operated to a reasonable degree, little trouble would have occurred.

Residents of Randal Park pleaded for the grading and acceptance of that street. One of them was of the opinion that the Albemarle Golf Club is opposed to the improvement because of expense. William V. Hayden, who appeared informally for the club, dispelled this idea when he announced that this organization favored the improvement.

A petition was received from Thomas F. Murray and others, parents of children in the Bigelow School district, asking that the city proceed to convert the Bigelow School into a junior high. Leonard Jackson, acting in behalf of a committee of the City Hall employees, extended an invitation to the aldermen to attend the annual summer frolic of these employees, which will be held next Tuesday at Brant Rock. The hall will close at noon on this day.

Alderman Heathcote asked that the petition of the Middlesex and Boston street railway for permission to alter its carbarn opposite Norumbega Park into a garage, be held up. He thought measures should be taken to compel the company to start busses on the Walnut street lines. He quoted the remark of Manager Hanson of the M. & B. "that his company will start busses on the South Side lines when it receives bus permits from Needham and Watertown." He expressed a desire to treat the company fairly, but thought the time had come to do something to speed up the installation of busses. In his opinion the officials of the city of Waltham had "put something over on Newton" when they forced the M. & B. to give prior recognition to that city in the establishment of bus lines. Alderman Ball said that he realizes Newton people are anxious to have the tracks removed and the old cars replaced by busses, but we must not lose track of the fact that the M. & B. had until December 31st to start the bus lines. Alderman Weeks referred to the statement of Manager Hanson "that the M. & B. had already ordered busses for the Walnut street lines." He felt confident that the company will keep faith with Newton and advocated the granting of the petition so that provision can be made for the housing of the busses when they will arrive. Alderman Fitts, Noone, Earle, Grebenstein and Hodsdon added their appeals for fair play towards the M. & B. and for confidence in the intent of that company to keep its promise to Newton. A vote was taken and the permit granted.

The License Committee recommended the granting of a junk license to Fred Lackey at 2289 Washington street, Lower Falls. Alderman Heathcote asked if such a license would be detrimental to the neighborhood where it will be granted? Alderman Gordon inquired if any existing junk dealers have their business quarters on main streets. Alderman Noone explained that Mr. Lackey is handicapped physically and that the Chief of Police is strongly in favor of the permit being granted. The license was given. Considerable controversy arose over the report of the License Committee favoring the granting of an express license to David Kligman at 456 Watertown street. Kligman formerly had a junk business, but lost it some years ago as a result of numerous protests because his yard was an eyesore to the neighborhood. Subsequently he made scores of requests to the aldermen for the renewal of this license, garage permits, and other petitions, and was invariably turned down. Aldermen Bliss and Grebenstein favored the granting of the license, the latter explaining that it was for David Kligman, Jr.; these Aldermen thought Kligman should receive some chance. Alderman Weeks and O'Connell were of the opinion that if the license were granted, it would make the petitioner's property even less inviting than it now is. The license was granted, but not to David Kligman, Jr., at least, according to the docket it was given to plain David Kligman.

School Buildings Insured

At this time, 9:50, a short recess was taken to allow the special committee on the new City Hall and other committees to confer. This short recess ended at 11:18. After passing various motions and orders the aldermen started to debate on the matter of insuring some of the school buildings. The Finance Committee recommended that $17,124 be appropriated to insure for 3 years the Emerson, Hyde, Pierce, Stearns and Mason Schools at 80 per cent of their values, and the Bigelow and Clafin Schools at 100 per cent. After considerable talk as to why some schools are to be insured and others not, as to whether the foundations of the new classical high is combustible or indestructable, and other phases of the question, after Chairman Weeks of the Finance Committee had told of the plans formulated by the special committee on Insurance, calling for an insurance fund of $300,000, which will eventually provide for an emergency and furnish an income to pay premiums, the $17,124 was appropriated.

Alderman Baker, Chairman of the special committee on the new city hall, referred to the hearings held in different parts of the city and to the several meetings held by his committee. He commented that the advisory committee of citizens had taken literally the motion by which the committee had been appointed and accordingly had not been inclined to deal with the larger questions which arose. The committee was appointed to select a site for a new city hall and develop plans. As this did not include the problem of financing, or the determining the time when work shall be started on the proposed new structure, the committee considered that its duties shall be more clearly defined. Accordingly, Mr. Baker introduced this motion:

"The joint committee on City Hall is hereby requested to consider and report:

1. Whether it is expedient to build a new City Hall.
2. Whether the City Government should petition the Legislature for permission to borrow outside the debt limit for the purpose of building a new City Hall.
3. On a site for a new City Hall.
4. Whether, in any event, it is advisable to take the triangle on the corner of Commonwealth avenue, Walnut street and Homer street for some purpose.
5. On any other matters arising out of the foregoing."

This motion was passed and the committee will meet for further deliberations.

Although it had reached the witching hour of midnight, Alderman Heathcote started a speech in favor of action on the petition, presented some months ago by the firemen, for the two platoon system. The Lower Falls alderman asserted that Mayor Childs had intimated that this petition has not been acted on because the aldermen would not accept a favorable suggestion from him. Mr. Heathcote said, "Just what the Mayor's reason for not recommending or refusing to recommend the two platoon system, I do not know. Perhaps he is 'passing the buck.'" The Ward 5 alderman went on to tell that four cities in this state have declined so far to change to the two-platoon system. He stated that in Newton this change will require 30 more firemen and 7 additional officers. He said it is time for a showdown as to who is holding this matter up—the Mayor or the aldermen. He made a motion that the present Board of Aldermen go on record as deeming it necessary to put the fire department on a two-platoon system, starting December 1st, and that $5000 be appropriated to enable this change to be made.

Alderman Weeks said the firemen are entitled to some answer and should have received it before. He stated that some of the firemen had spoken to him about their petition and he had informed them that he consulted with the Mayor as to what action the latter proposed to take regarding this matter.

To date, the Board had received no recommendation from Mayor Childs. Mr. Weeks said that he had conferred with Chief Randal about the petition, and that he knows what it means to the firemen, and to the city, financially. He believes that the firemen are entitled to have the question settled, but as the aldermen have not considered the matter thoroughly, it would be wise to pass Alderman Heathcote's motion which would place the Board on record as favoring the two-platoon system. Personally his mind is open on the matter. President Pratt suggested that Alderman Heathcote introduce a similar resolution at the July 21st meeting; such a postponement will allow the aldermen to become acquainted with the different aspects of the situation. Mr. Heathcote accepted Mr. Pratt's suggestion.

Alderman Madden moved that a waiver of the setback line be granted Maggie Martin, to permit the erection of a house on a small corner lot on Thaxter road. His motion was carried. Alderman O'Connell, for the Traffic Committee, moved that Centre street, east of Centre Green and Lyman street be made one-way streets. The motion prevailed. He also moved that on July 21st a public hearing be held on the proposal to make St. James street a one-way street, going north from Washington street, and Charlesbank road one-way going west from St. James street. The meeting adjourned at 12:30 A. M. Tuesday morning.

HOLLIS-BRADFORD

The marriage of Miss Augusta Bradford, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Bradford of Lake avenue, Newton Centre and Mr. J. Hern Hollis of Brookline took place last Monday afternoon at the home of the bride. The ceremony was performed by Rev. George L. Parker of the Unitarian Church of Newton Centre at 5 o'clock.

Miss Eleanor Bradford, sister of the bride, was the maid of honor, and Mr. J. B. Hollis, father of the groom, was the best man.

The bride was attractively gowned in white satin embroidered with pearls, a train of satin and a veil of tulle. The maid of honor was dressed in a blue panne velvet gown and a leghorn hat trimmed with blue chiffon. She carried a bouquet of red roses.

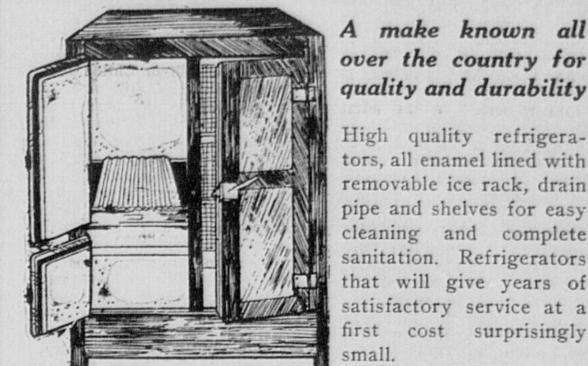

A reception followed the ceremony at the bride's home.

The young couple will reside at Withersbee Court, Pelham Manor, New York.

RAY-URBAN

Among the many June weddings of interest was that on Sunday of Miss Anna Augusta Urban, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Urban of Adams, Mass., to Mr. Carlton Weston Ray of Brockton. The Rev. Charles Oliver Rundell performed the ceremony at four o'clock at the St. Mark's Episcopal Church of Adams.

The bride was attended by her sister, Mrs. Nelson L. Browne of Boylston street, Newton Highlands, with whom she has recently made her home, as matron of honor, and by the Misses Margery K. Sands of Adams, Mildred A. Tower of Cheshire, Hazel C. Richmond of Adams and Helen M. Gersh of Hartford, Conn., as bridesmaids.

Mr. Chester T. Ray of Brockton was the best man and the Messrs. Nelson L. Browne, of Newton Highlands; Ellis Thayer of Rockland, Me.; William McConnell of North Adams, and William Wattie of Providence, R. I., were the ushers.

Miss Elizabeth Margaret Urban of Pittsfield, Mass., was the flower girl.

The bride's dress was of white satin trimmed with lace. The matron of honor wore a dress of pink satin and a picture-hat to match. The bridesmaid's dresses were of orchid taffeta with hats also to match.

A reception followed the ceremony in the church reception parlors at which the bride and groom were assisted in receiving by their parents. The church was tastefully decorated with pine rambler as was the home.

Mrs. Benjamin K. Knapp played the organ at the church and her orchestra furnished the music at the reception.

After a wedding trip to Maine the young couple will make their home in Dedham, where they will be at home after September 1st.

Both young people were graduated last week from Boston University with the degree of Master of Arts. The bride has been teaching in the English department at the State Normal School in Salem and the groom is the principal of the Oakdale School in Dedham.

We are sorry to see the camel's nose of fire insurance for city buildings poked into the tent of municipal expenses. It will certainly be followed by appropriations which will make the present $17,000 premium look like thirty cents. A policy which has stood the test of fifty years in municipal experience and for an even longer period in the administration of state affairs ought to be good enough for a few more years in a city like Newton. Fire insurance premiums for public buildings in Newton is money thrown away.

We have considerable sympathy for the proposition to establish the two platoon system in the Newton Fire Department. Just why we should run the Police Department on one time schedule and the Fire department on another is merely carrying into the present, a method which was outgrown many years ago. Why not treat the firemen as well as we treat the policemen?

—o—

Now that operations have commenced on the new junior high school building on Washington street, near Greenough street, the folly of such a location is much in evidence. Low land at the foot of a hill is hardly an ideal site for a building to cost well over a half million dollars.

ROYALTY AT WEST NEWTON

Burke came with more patrolmen to assist in handling the immense number of people and automobiles. Members of the Aleppo Band in their Oriental uniforms provided music during the early part of the afternoon and more color was added to the gatherings by the costumes worn by those who participated in the folk dances and gymnastic exhibitions.

At 3:45 the roar of motorcycles announced the coming of the royal couple and their escort. They were driven onto the home grounds as the assemblage cheered and waved Swedish flags. Gustaf Adolf and Louise were escorted into the home and introduced to the twenty aged persons who reside there. Both the prince and princess shook hands and conversed with each of the old folks, and then partook of a light lunch which had been prepared for them.

The distinguished guests then came out onto the stand which had been erected for the reception and greeted Gov. Fuller, Mayor Childs, Mayor Nichols of Boston, Maj. General Brown and leaders of the Swedish-American element of Massachusetts.

The crowd surged forward to obtain a better view of the future king of Sweden and his wife and a number of women fainted in the crush. They were treated in the "first-aid-tent" on the grounds. Prince Gustaf Adolf possesses the physique and intelligence to properly fulfill the requirements desirable for the exalted position to which he will succeed.

Tall, dignified, affable, democratic, he immediately won his way into the hearts of the multitude, when, as he took the chair provided for him, he picked up, and held in his lap for a half hour or longer, little, flaxen-haired Evelyn Anderson of Natick who happened near him on the platform. Evelyn will have something to talk about during the remainder of her days. It is not every young lady who is thus honored by royalty. Princess Louise, a rather frail appearing woman, seemed quite fatigued from the trying program of activities she has experienced since her arrival in this country. Her unassuming, friendly manner, caused much favorable comment.

A male chorus sang a Swedish anthem and Gustaf Sundelin of New York was introduced as the first speaker by Carl Johansen, Swedish vice-consul in Boston, who was master of ceremonies. Gov. Fuller paid tribute to the sterling qualities of the Swedish people living in Massachusetts and Mayor Nichols spoke in the same vein. Mayor Childs shared with Prince Gustaf Adolf the honor of making one of the best speeches of the afternoon. He lauded the compatriots of the Prince who live in the United States and asserted that although yielding in their affection for the old country and its rulers, they are loyal American citizens, unhampered by any hyphen. Mayor Childs commended the Prince and Princess for their kindness in traveling to this city to brighten the declining days of the old folks at the home. He said, "It is not power that makes a man great. Neither is it wealth, education or ancestry. It is the attitude he shows towards little children and aged people."

Edgar Achorn, senior counselor to the Swedish consulate, also spoke.

Gymnastic exhibitions by members of the Svea and Posse clubs, a baritone solo by Nils Bonde, a violin selection by Miss Roudobond and another chorus by the glee club followed.

The prince was then introduced and spoke, first in English and then in Swedish. He proved himself a fluent orator in either language.

He congratulated those of the Swedish race in this country for the high reputation they have won as industrious, law-abiding citizens. He praised the Swedish Charitable Society for the beautiful home it provides for the aged. Referring to the friendly relations which have always existed between Sweden and the United States, Gustaf Adolf stated that both countries were akin in their desire to establish lasting peace in the world. He characterized Boston as a great cultural factor in the moulding of this new land and eulogized the custom prevalent in this country—the founding of charitable and benevolent institutions by persons of wealth and by communities. He referred to the increasing commercial relations between Sweden and New England and he assured the assemblage that the visit to Newton will ever remain in the memories of his wife and himself as one of the most enjoyable events of their lives. He concluded by conveying to his auditors greetings from his father, King Gustaf. He then presented Princess Louise to the gathering.

The royal couple then re-entered the home building and remained for about a half hour. They were then conveyed to the Hotel Somerset in Boston for lunch, after which they boarded a train to travel to Niagara Falls.

The officers of the Swedish Charitable Society who arranged the reception are—Henry W. Erickson, President; Dr. Carl Lindquist, Vice-president; Miss Alice T. Rantz, Corresponding Secretary; Carl Stenstrom, Recording Secretary; Henry Paulson, Financial Secretary; Robert Adamson, Treasurer.

The following ladies assisted on the refreshment committee and contributed largely to the success of the event:

been invaluable in making the present plan of organization a practical one.

Through the office the necessary clerical work for the various divisional meetings as well as publicity has been done; and much general information and assistance have been given to member organizations and to the community at large. The office has been conducted upon a minimum basis of expenditure, the work being greatly facilitated by the generous aid of volunteers.

The active, constructive work of the Council has been done largely through its three divisions: Community, Health and Welfare,—this work following, in general, along the line of recommendations contained in the Surveys made two years ago. The Council is most fortunate in its Division Chairmen who are giving generously of their time and ability, and to whom much of the present value of the Council is due.

The Community Division, Mrs. R. C. Henry, Chairman, has carried on an educational campaign for the wider community use of school buildings, especially those soon to be erected in our city. It has worked for a scientific study of our water supply, and for other municipal interests. Under the auspices of this Division the March meeting on "First Things First in Our City's Program" was arranged.

The Chairman of the Health Division, Dr. M. P. Horwood, an expert in Public Health, has given much valuable time and study to the work of this Division. At the beginning of the year, the Chairman formulated an outline of some important health needs in Newton. After this had received the approval of the Executive Committee a conference was held by the Chairman with the Chairman of the Board of Health at which the proposed plan was considered. The Board of Health later sent a reply to the suggestions submitted which in general, was sympathetic and favorable.

Upon the initiative of the Board of Health a meeting of representatives of various health and welfare agencies was called, for the purpose of organizing an "Advisory Committee of the Newton Board of Health." The Central Council sent the Chairman of the Health Division as its representative. This Chairman, together with the Chairman of the Board of Health, served as a Committee for the purpose of outlining a plan of organization and functions for the Advisory Committee.

Recently an important meeting of the Health Division of the Central Council was held, which was attended by representatives from the School Department, the Board of Health, the Newton Hospital, the Newton District Nursing Association, the Newton Welfare Bureau, the Newton Centre Parent-Teachers Association, the Newton Federation of Women's Clubs, and the Newton Central Council. A suggested program of health activities for the coming year was presented and discussed, and the interest aroused was so keen, that definite plans have already been made for a series of meetings early in the fall. As a result of these meetings, a definite program will be evolved, which will then be submitted to the Board of Health through its Advisory Committee.

The Welfare Division, Mrs. L. H. Marshall, Chairman, has held monthly luncheon-conferences for the Executive and Board members of 17 welfare and health agencies. These have been held with the various organizations in turn, with an attendance ranging from 30 to 50. These conferences have resulted in reduction of duplication, in greater efficiency in meeting common problems and in better acquaintance and understanding among the members themselves.

The value of the data collected by the Council, the past two years, in the form of Survey reports, Maps of Social Resources, etc., has recently been demonstrated. The Senior girls of the Household Arts Department of the Newton High School have made frequent visits to the office and have made use of this material which has been collected here for the first time.

Illustrative of the assistance which the Council, as a neutral and centralized body can render its constituent members, it is of interest to mention a Fact-finding Study of the Child Placing Problem in Newton which the Council has been carrying on at the request of the Welfare Bureau, the District Nursing Association, the Protection Department and individual social workers. The Council welcomes such opportunity to be of distinct service to any of its individual organizations.

In addition to its former function as a Clearing House for Thanksgiving and Christmas giving, the Council will also act, the coming year, as a Clearing House for Volunteer Service, co-operating with the Newton Federation of Women's Clubs. This will make it possible for those organizations in need of volunteer service to be directed through the Council office, to the Committee in their respective localities, providing such service.

The Council also will keep a list of dates of any special activities reported to it as planned by any of its member organizations, and the character of such events. By consulting this list conflicting dates and duplication of events may be avoided.

The greatest step in the progress of the Council since its inception, perhaps, was taken at the annual meeting in March when the Executive Committee was enlarged and strengthened by the addition of several of Newton's foremost citizens, this Committee now containing able representatives from every section of the city.

The Executive Committee has been requested to continue next year, the study of the Community Chest plan which was so well begun a year ago.

Whether a Financial Federation is formed in Newton in the near future or not, it has been clearly demonstrated to those actively connected with the Central Council that a Welfare Federation of this nature is absolutely essential for the efficient functioning of the forty agencies of our scattered city.

The Council's greatest need is Publicity. Relatively few in the city yet know what it is, what it is doing and what it can do for Newton. For this reason, officers or committee members will gladly go in the fall to any organization that wishes to know more of the work of the Council and is willing to give an opportunity for it to be presented.

The Council office closes June 30 and will open about the middle of September.

VAUGHAN-COLTON

A very pretty wedding took place on Thursday evening at eight o'clock at the Newton Highlands Congregational Church when Miss Clara Frances Colton, daughter of Mrs. Edward Swift Colton, Jr., of Newton Highlands and the late Mr. Colton, was married to Mr. Wayland Farris Vaughan of Newton Centre. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Richard M. Vaughan, father of the groom, who was assisted by Rev. S. H. Woodrow, pastor of the church. The bride was given away by her brother, James Byers Colton, 2nd.

The bride was attended by Miss Anne Burgess of Holyoke, Mass., as maid of honor and the bridesmaids were the Misses Doris Hassell, of Houlton, Maine; Katherine Hasson of New Haven, Conn.; Marion Thompson, Marion Barker, Ruth Hills, and Marion Allen, of Newton Highlands. The flower girl was Miss Barbara Morse of Lowell, a niece of the bride.

Richard Vaughan, brother of the groom, acted as best man, and the ushers were George Scott and Allen Davidson, of Auburndale; Bryant Franklin Tolles of Hartford, Conn.; Hudson Hoagland, Cambridge; Robert Fiske, West Newton, and Charles Gale of Medford.

The bride's gown was of crepe-back satin trimmed with rose point lace, with regulation court train. Her veil was of embroidered net. She carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses and valley lilies.

The maid of honor wore a gown of pastel green silk crepe trimmed with gold lace and carried a bouquet of butterfly roses. Three of the bridesmaids were gowned in pastel blue, with bouquets of pink sweet peas and larkspur, and three in yellow trimmed with cream lace, carrying bouquets of lavender sweet peas and marguerites. The flower girl wore pink crepe de chine trimmed with cream lace and carried a basket of rose petals.

The bride's mother wore a gown of blue beaded crepe de chine with corsage of Purne roses, and the mother of the groom wore black lace over green silk, with corsage of red roses.

The decorations at the church were of greens and cut flowers in blue and yellow. The wedding party was preceded by twenty little girls dressed in white, carrying a daisy chain, members of the Junior department of the Church School of which the bride was superintendent.

A formal reception at the parish house from 8:30 to 9:30 followed the ceremony, at which the bride and groom were assisted in receiving by the mother and brother of the bride and the groom's parents and members of the wedding party. Following this a reception was held at the bride's home for members of the families and the wedding party.

After a wedding trip to the White Mountains, Mr. and Mrs. Vaughan will reside in Cambridge, Mass., where they will be at home after October 1st.

The bride is a graduate of Smith, 1924 and Harvard Graduate School of Education, 1925, and the groom of Yale 1923 and Harvard A. M. '25, Ph. D. '26. Next fall Mr. Vaughan will take a position as instructor in psychology at Boston University, College of Liberal Arts.

ABOUT TOWN

Newton, following the lead of cities and towns throughout the country, is developing flagways. The streets surrounding Nonantum Square have been liberally flanked by United States flags. Some enterprising gentleman from New York canvassed the business men at Newton Corner and most of the merchants co-operated in the movement to provide avenues of flags along our streets on patriotic occasions. The project has the support of the American Legion; Newton Post receives $1 on each flag sold by the firm which furnishes them. The flag, together with the staff and the installation of a socket and screw-cap for the sidewalk, costs $9.75. It is expected that other sections of the city will emulate Newton Corner in becoming equipped with these flags and that private residences will join with business establishments in joining this new method to give evidence of patriotism.

Traffic officers at most of the posts in this city have been provided with platforms—through the generosity of private individuals. The traffic post in Newton where a platform is needed more than at any other place, still is without one. With the constant streams of electric cars and autos passing through Nonantum Square, Officer Taffe, though a tall, erect man, is quite inconspicuous as he stands on the ground. If he stood on an elevated platform he would be seen much more readily by out-of-town motorists who are not conversant with the traffic tangles of Newton Corner. A stand with a canopy would also afford him some measure of relief during the hot weather of this summer.

Dr. William T. Hornaday, for 30 years director of the New York zoo, deprecates the enormous killing of birds and animals. He says, "Wild life in this country is rapidly becoming extinct." The other day, driving along the river boulevard near Soldier's Field, we observed a cock-pheasant and his mate feeding by the roadside, unafraid of the hundreds of autos passing close by. Yet, next fall, these two birds and the rest of their species in this state will be hunted down by an army of intrepid Nimrods, who derive thrills from killing these almost tame creatures. In some states, where squirrel hunting is a popular pastime, we have seen men who have succeeded in shooting some of these small rodents, drive into town with a couple of dead squirrels attached to the side of an auto. They took such pride in their "kill," that one would almost imagine these sportsmen thought they had "bagged" Bengal tigers.

WE CALL FOR AND DELIVER

The Boy Scouts made a good showing in the parade Memorial Day. They brought back memories of those Memorial Days in the past when the boys of the Newton High School Battalion furnished the largest number of marchers in the parades in this city. The high school cadets were under the supervision of Major George Benyon, who passed on a couple of weeks ago.

Military drill was discontinued in the Newton High School many years ago, after a long dispute as to its merits and demerits. Its opponents argued that it was of little or no value to the boys, afforded scant opportunities for physical culture, and as wars were a thing of the past, military training was obsolete. Physical training and athletics were substituted for the primary course in "soldiering." Undoubtedly the high school boys who have been pupils during the years since the abolition of military training in this city, have enjoyed better opportunities for physical training than did "we boys" who shouldered the imitation guns or old Springfields under Major Benyon. But military training served one good purpose. It taught the boys who received it discipline. Possibly some of the youths of the present day might benefit from a little more discipline. We were one of the advocates of the abolition of military training at Newton High. We were included in the list of those who asserted that wars were a thing of the past. We also ridiculed the building of the state armory at Allston for this same "reason." But, after 1914, we did not talk so much about wars being impossible.

Before the present drill shed at the rear of the Classical High School was erected, the high school boys had to perambulate from the old high school at Newtonville down to the armory of Company C at Newton Corner in conjunction with their drilling. This was done after the regular school hours. And there was no cafeteria in the high school in those days. Most of the boys did not "chow" until late afternoon, when they finally reached

The editors were the guests for one day of the Cape Cod Real Estate Board and toured that part of the Cape in three large motor busses of the New Haven railroad, which are destined to supplement the railroad service of the company.

The realtors did the thing up brown, having the Quincy High School band of 40 pieces to lead a parade through the villages of Falmouth and Hyannis.

The beautiful estates at Woods Hole and Falmouth were visited and the numerous developments of different real estate interests were pointed out.

A more extended visit made to the Oyster Shores development near Cotuit and Wellfleet, where over 400 men were at work building roads, removing underbrush and otherwise improving the country.

A fine clam bake was then served on the grounds of the Seapoint Country Club, and some of the editors tried a round of golf, over one of the hardest courses in the state.

There was some speaking at the clam bake, and later in the afternoon General Clarence R. Edwards, who was visiting in the vicinity, was induced to talk to the boys of the band, which was also enjoyed by the older members of the party.

The busses then took the crowd to Bradford Arms at Sagamore for dinner, followed by a quick trip to the canal to see the New York boat pass by.

Sunday there was a special service for the editors in one of the Falmouth churches, and in the afternoon, Joe Mitchell Chappelle dropped into the hotel, and gave a brief but interesting talk on "Just folks."

That some of the real estate development is on a substantial basis is evidenced by some of the figures compiled by disinterested parties.

Falmouth, which has only had a building permit system for nine months, shows 236 new houses valued at a million and a half, while Barnstable shows 163 new buildings also valued at about a million and a half.

The village of Hyannis shows every evidence of prosperity, with a greatly enlarged main business street and several hotels making large additions to present quarters.

Another fact which was quite noticeable was the amount of land planted to strawberries. Hundreds of acres have within the past two years been reclaimed from the prevalent scrub pine and underbrush and devoted not only to strawberries but to the cultivation of turnips. Agriculture will be by no means the least product of Cape Cod in the near fu-

their homes, many of them in distant parts of the city. There were no electric cars operating to afford quick transportation; automobiles were not even dreamed of. Those were the happy days.

The old high school battalion boasted a fife and drum corps. One of the most proficient members who ever belonged to the high school drum corps was "Joe" Holmes. "Joe" not only tapped a mean drumstick, but he could also twirl a drum major's baton skillfully. He joined the militia after graduating from high school and served during the Spanish War. He was a commissioned officer of Company L of the 6th Massachusetts Infantry at the Mexican border squabbles and went overseas with this company during the World War.

The Newton High School cadets wore a distinctive uniform cap. It was modelled after the McLellan type cap used by the Union soldiers during the Civil War. It had a peaked visor. The Newton boys were alone in the use of this old model cap. All the other school cadets in this vicinity wore military caps with straight visors.

The Garden City boys felt quite exclusive because their part of their uniform was unusual. Sometimes they were razed by boys from the other schools when they appeared wearing the McLellan caps. But this joshing did not ruffle the Newton boys. They attributed it to envy.

NEWTON ROTARY CLUB

Mr. Kenneth B. Bachman, manager of the Boston Better Business Bureau was the speaker at the weekly luncheon last Monday of the Newton Rotary Club, held as usual at the Woodland Golf Club.

Mr. Bachman gave an interesting and instructive talk on the work being done by his Bureau to eliminate fraudulent advertising and improper business methods in Boston.

The Bureau was the result of a campaign some years ago to correct the evils of fraudulent advertising, and which led gradually into the work of protecting the public from imposition on the part of unscrupulous merchants. Mr. Bachman stated that 95 per cent of business men were honest and it was only the 5 per cent which caused trouble.

Besides preventing fraudulent advertising, the Bureau checks exaggerated statements in advertising, sees that goods sold are as advertised, supervises the auction sale of cheap jewelry, and keeps an eye on stock promoting schemes.

THE CAPE

The summer outing this year of members of the Massachusetts Press Association and their ladies was held on Cape Cod, in order that the newspaper men of the state might see for themselves how much of the real estate movement in that locality was justified by the facts.

Headquarters were made at Terrace Gables, in Falmouth Heights, and every one enjoyed the attractive hospitality, with its good beds, fine table and wonderful view of Vineyard Sound.

The editors were the guests for one day of the Cape Cod Real Estate Board and toured that part of the Cape in three large motor busses of the New Haven railroad, which are destined to supplement the railroad service of the company.

The realtors did the thing up brown, having the Quincy High School band of 40 pieces to lead a parade through the villages of Falmouth and Hyannis.

The bride was gowned in white satin with a veil of tulle. The bridesmaids' dresses were of orchid georgette and pale green georgette.

A reception following the ceremony was held at the bride's home. The house was beautifully decorated with iris, rhododendron, and azalea. Mrs. Nelson Freeman at the piano played the Wedding March from Lohengrin.

After a wedding trip to Glacier Park the young couple will reside in Fairhaven, where they will be at home after September 7th.

The bride was the general secretary of the Y. W. C. A. at Newburyport and the groom is the librarian of the Fairhaven Public Library.

The busses then took the crowd to Bradford Arms at Sagamore for dinner, followed by a quick trip to the canal to see the New York boat pass by.
